PANIC STRIKES RACKETEERS

Today

George Harvey, Good Friend
To California $50.
Carefree Wall Street.
Pray Here, Also.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928)

GEORGE HARVEY is dead. He was a good newspaper man, a good friend, a mild enemy.

His life satisfied him from the early days at Peacham, Vt., where he wore his little velvet suit, trimmed with heavy braid, to the day when President Harding sent him as Ambassador to London.

Joseph Pulitzer first discovered his ability and made him managing editor of his newspaper. Harvey had power to persuade and lead other men.

BREAKING the record from the Pacific to the Atlantic in 18 hours and 58 minutes, Goebel used 360 gallons of gasoline and 20 gallons of oil. The trip for himself and Harry Tucker, his passenger and backer, cost about $100, or $50 a passenger. The trip was made well inside of one day, instead of taking four nights, as by train.

THAT should make railroad owners think, as many as DO THINK.

British railroads are bothered by motor bus competition, compelling the roads to cut rates. They have no 3,000-mile stretches there.

What do you think flying machines will do to transcontinental passenger traffic?

WALL STREET evidently isn't expecting trouble, no matter who wins the election.

The banks called $30,000,000 of loans yesterday and money was lent at 7½ per cent, which is usury in self-respecting states.

NEVERTHELESS, PRICES WENT UP, AND THEY SHOW SIGNS OF CONTINUING TO GO UP.

Don't let this encourage you to gamble, but let it save you from the supreme folly, which is selling this country short.

WHEN the Kellogg "anti-war treaty" is signed peace prayers will be offered in the British churches, with general thanksgiving.

A few prayers might be said here also. Europe likes the Kellogg treaty, because it believes that treaty will tie up the United States with the League of Nations.

If you do any praying about the treaty, pray that it may not drag us into Europe's affairs or make us once more act as Europe's paymaster.

ONE concern wants to install radio stock tickers on ocean steamships. Reuters, a great European news agency, says, "No, you mustn't."

Reuters is mistaken. In the middle of the ocean, especially, a man with a load of stocks wants to know what is happening to them.

THE brother of Jerome, partner of William Travers, once left New York in the old slow days. When he reached Rome he was ruined, thanks to the market.

While the stock market was ruining him on his way across the ocean, it was making his brother rich. That brother, long dead, is the grandfather of Churchill, who now runs Britain's finances.

Daughters inherit the genius of their fathers. Lady Randolph Churchill inherited the genius of old Jerome, and she handed it on to her son, nephew of the Duke of Marlborough.

WHERE "The mountains look on Marathon, and Marathon looks on the sea," Byron musing there an hour alone, dreamed that Greece might still be free. Greece is free, at least free of kings, and the Hohenzollern brood, and apparently will remain free for a while. Venizelos, who represents the Greek desire for freedom, won 228 out of 250 seats in the parliamentary election. Royalists who think they need a king are wiped out.

WILLIAM F. DONOVAN, known to five generations of Harvard men as "Pooch" Donovan, is dead of heart disease only 63 years old. Donovan liked to show fast young sprinters that he could beat them, and to show football players how they should do their work.

He is dead too early, and overdoing athletics is responsible. Don't strain your heart, you can't buy new parts.

IN SHOOTING at clay pigeons, President Coolidge brought down 24 out of 25. That went on all front pages. A Presidential statement of international importance might have gone on an inside page. The country likes ACTION.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Canadian government at Windsor, Ont., say the bootleg business between Windsor and Detroit amounts to $1,000,000 a month. That is the rum running bill based on rum values, in Canada. And it doesn't include the various American home-made poisons.

REWARD UP FOR DOCTOR KILLER

To encourage the running down of every possible clue in the search for the slayer of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, Carrick physician, fatally wounded in his automobile Monday night, the Pittsburgh Motor Club today announced a contribution of $250 toward a suitable reward for the capture and conviction of the murderer.

Dr. Thomas M. Heard, president of the Motor Club, in announcing the reward through Secretary J. R. Roth, declared the organization was acting to safeguard motorists and hoped means would be found to check death-ride crime by the county authorities, and that physicians and others in adding to the fund would make it sufficiently large to act as a stimulus in the nation-wide hunt for Dr. Dapper's murderer and to solve the baffling mystery that provoked the deed.

Belief is growing that the physician was the victim of a hired assassin.

Acting Chief of County Detectives Harry Cochran, who has his entire force engaged on the investigation, declared the crime bears all evidences of a professional gunman's work. To find the motive for this is now the problem that baffles the authorities.

If You See This Man Call for The Police

An official description of the slayer of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, Carrick physician, was broadcast today by Acting Chief of County Detectives Harry Cochran, as follows:

Thirty to 35 years old.
Six feet tall.
Weight between 180 and 190 pounds.
Reddish hair.
Long nose.
Very neatly dressed.
Suit—Light brown.
Hat—Brown leghorn.

CLUE TO AUTO

A description of Dr. Dapper's automobile in which the murderer escaped, published in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph yesterday, may lead to the first clue toward the solution of the crime. A car of the same description and believed to have carried the same license plates was seen near Monaca by C. M. Armstrong, of 7618 Mulford street, who telephoned the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last night of the incident. He said a sedan similar to the one stolen from Dr. Dapper was being driven in a reckless manner on the Broadhead road and Armstrong was forced off the highway.

Armstrong said he took note of the license number and when he

Lead of 74 For Smith Here

With the rural voters having an inning, the straw vote canvass being conducted by The Sun-Telegraph shows an increase for Hoover. The total figures for Pennsylvania today stand: Hoover, 1,870; Smith, 1,944.

Large numbers of return postal card ballots mailed within the last few days to registered voters in the country districts, are bringing prompt returns, and since it is in this territory that the Republican candidate has shown his greatest strength, the growing Hoover vote is accounted for.

Yesterday several thousand ballots went out to Pennsylvania cities and the return from these is expected to bring a corresponding increase in the ratio of Smith votes, if previous records of the city voters is duplicated.

The rural vote tabulated today is Hoover 55, against Smith's 33. The total rural vote thus far is Hoover 200, and Smith 128. These voters in 1924 were strong Republican supporters, voting as follows: Coolidge 219, Davis 31, and LaFollette 51.

The returns from the cities tell a different story. In these urban districts Smith is still leading with

LOS ANGELES MAY FLY OVER HERE TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—The airship Los Angeles will leave her Lakehurst (N. J.) hangar tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for a flight to Uniontown, Pa., to participate in the dedication of an airport named in honor of Floyd Bennett, former naval aviator, who died during an attempt to rescue the crew of the trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen.

The craft will extend her flight to East Liverpool, O., 52 miles northwest of Uniontown if the weather is good. Her itinerary will take her over Philadelphia, Lancaster, York, Chambersburg, Bedford and Somerset.

Two naval airplanes from the naval air station at Anacostia, D. C., also will participate in the ceremonies at Uniontown.

Residents of Canonsburg, on a direct line between Uniontown and East Liverpool, may have an opportunity to see the Los Angeles flying from Uniontown to East Liverpool, unless the pilot decides to follow the Ohio River into Ohio. Should the river trail be decided as the course, Pittsburghers will have a chance to see the air giant.

DOROTHY DWAN SEMON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.

LARRY SEMON, veteran film comedian, has suffered a nervous and physical breakdown, and has been taken to a private sanitarium near San Bernardino, Cal., members of his family announced last night.

The actor collapsed a week ago after his return from a national vaudeville tour. Members of the family said physicians believed it would be at least three months, and perhaps a year, before he recovered.

Mrs. Semon, the former Dorothy Dwan, has closed the family home and gone to live with her mother.

HASSELL FEARED DEAD IN ARCTIC SEA

CHICAGO, Aug. 22—(AP.)—Storms were sweeping the waters of Davis Straits early today, balking the efforts of those seeking trace of the missing Rockford-to-Stockholm fliers, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer.

The reports that came from the North were uniformly discouraging. The United States Coast Guard cutter Marion radioed that it had failed to find any trace of the plane, the Greater Rockford, after a day spent in searching the waters off Cape Chidley, where the monoplane last reported its position.

Members of the Rawson-Field Museum expedition, under the direction of Commander Donald Macmillan, which is now at Nain, Labrador, said it, too, had been unsuccessful in efforts to learn the fate of the plane.

"It is raining hard, and the barometer is falling," Macmillan wirelessed last night.

The Hudson Bay Company advised the Rockford (Ill.) Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the flight, that it would broadcast an appeal

Mail Down In Storm

An airplane carrying mail between Pittsburgh and Cleveland was forced down and three places were struck by lightning during the heavy rainstorm last night. The airplane was able to land upon an emergency field undamaged and only slight loss resulted where the lightning struck.

Pilot Horace Stark, flying from Cleveland to Pittsburgh in a monoplane with the afternoon mail, made a forced landing on the emergency field at Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls. The mail bags were forwarded to Pittsburgh by rail.

The roof of the home of R. S. Carson, 418 Lincoln avenue, was damaged $25 by lightning. An arc light at Sixth avenue and Ross street was destroyed, as were several electric wires on a pole in Northumberland street, near the Squirrel Hill Police Station, by lightning bolts.

Bad Boy Mayor Given 330 Days In Jail

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Andrew J. (Bossy) Gillis, the "bad boy" Mayor of this city, who defied the authorities by opening a gasoline station in an exclusive section of the city, was found guilty on four charges at proceedings before Judge Nathaniel N. Jones today. He was sentenced to pay fines totaling $1,140 and to serve 330 days in jail. He appealed and was released without bail.

Fall Ends Party

"An accident," was the way police today described the plunge which William Kennedy, Rodgers Field aviator, took from a window of a second-floor apartment at 4029 Bayard street last night, climaxing a party in which he and two other airmen had entertained two girls.

Kennedy, 23, of Virginia avenue, Oakmont, is in the Homeopathic Hospital, suffering from a skull fracture. M. E. Grevemberg and Paul Malone, a student flier; Phyllis Tuck, 20, of 315 Craig street, and Mrs. Helen Edelman, 22, of 222 Hazel drive, Mt. Lebanon, the other members of the party, were released after questioning.

FALLS OUT WINDOW

According to the story told by Miss Tuck, Kennedy became ill while she was alone with him in the apartment, waiting for Malone and Grevemberg to return with a car to take her home. Kennedy, she told police, opened a window, leaned too far out, and fell.

Kennedy's skull was fractured when he landed on a cement walk in the courtyard. At the hospital it was said his condition was critical.

Mrs. Edith Tuck, mother of Phyllis, was near nervous prostration at her home this afternoon with anxiety over her daughter, who had not returned home, although she was released by police at 7 a. m.

Mrs. Tuck said Phyllis had left home at noon yesterday to fly with Malone. She later called at the house to reassure her parents, then left again.

TREMBLE AT FORNEY EXPOSE THREAT

The guilty among the 166 indicted politicians, police officials, "racketeers," concessionaires and alleged gamblers, accused in the Federal investigation of the Allegheny county "rum ring," are quaking in their shoes today.

Albert W. Forney, "king" of slot machine concessionnaires, is going to "tell all he knows." Forney, fined $3,000 and sentenced to six months in the county jail by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, after pleading guilty Tuesday, is going to open up and "squawk" on his former pals.

He promised United States District Attorney John D. Meyer and Judge Schoonmaker that he would assist them in convicting 166 other men indicted.

Forney began his sentence last night. He had been indicted thrice for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws. Accompanied by his attorney, Hyman D. Hirsh, and in custody of United States Deputy Marshal Jack Austen, the one-time slot machine "king" was taken to the county jail. After being booked in the jail docket, Forney was searched and assigned to a cell.

Politicians today were asking each other the probable outcome of Forney turning state's evidence. It was freely predicted that if Forney "comes clean" and tells all he knows, scores of well known individuals are going to take a ride to Atlanta.

"My conscience is troubling me," Forney said in court yesterday. "I want to have this over with and free my mind. I will tell everything I know."

It has been held by Federal authorities that leniency was shown Forney because of his pleading guilty and his promise to help the government prosecution in the liquor ring inquiry. Observers are debating the possible sentence of any who refuse to plead but eventually are convicted.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS CAR?

The Carrick home of the slain Dr. Harry R. Dapper was a place of sadness today for the young widow and daughter and sister of the murdered physician. While a policeman stood guard outside the home at 1211 Brownsville road (above), inside the survivors of the Pitt graduate, grief-stricken, wondered what motive there could be for such a killing. Detectives, too, sought vainly for a clue and an authentic description of the murder car was obtained from the North Side Nash agency, which sold the car: Two-door Nash sedan, 1928 model, olive green with red stripe between windows and body; built-in steel trunk in rear; six cylinders capable of making 65 or 70 miles an hour. A tire on the rear was encased in a black tire cover bearing in gold paint the words, "Northside Nash Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa." One of the windows was broken in the fight between the elder Dapper and the killer. If you see this automobile call the City Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Grant 6500, or the Bureau of County Detectives, Atlantic 4900.

"THAT'S WRONG"

THE WRONG WAY

State police have declared war on "necking drivers." "Girls," they warn, "must not try to guide an auto with the arms of the 'boy friend' about them." Here Motorcycle Patrolman Lawrence Cook corrects such a case.

CARELESS DRIVING

Neither is it correct for a young man to try to turn corners with the left hand and protect his companion with the right, the authorities announce following the death of a North Side workman, killed by a girl driver.

A MODEL CASE

Here, take example, is the correct method of driving. The young driver keeps his eyes to the front and both hands on the steering wheel. His attention is not distracted by his companion.

HOOVER SEEKS LOWDEN AID IN FARM RELIEF

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 22.—Assuming the role of a crusader for the development of American family life, Herbert Hoover today dedicated his services as President, if elected, to the improvement of American homes.

The Republican nominee took this pledge at his birthplace in West Branch, Ia. The subject seemed so close to his heart that he diverted from his first farm speech to discuss it.

"The solution of these problems (confronting our country) has but one purpose," he said. "That is, the comfort and welfare of the American family and the American home. The family is the unit of American life, and the home is the sanctuary of moral inspiration and of the American spirit. The true conception of America is not a country of 110,000,000 people, but a nation of 23,000,000 families living in 23,000,000 homes. I pledge my service to these homes."

In his visit to Iowa and especially at his birthplace, Hoover revealed an emotional side almost unknown to the public. In talking of his early days here, and his departure for the West as a penniless orphan, tears came to the nominee's eyes. To his friends, he praised the opportunities of the mid-west.

CHILD OF WEST

Hoover, a child born in the agricultural West, may rise to the greatest heights of eminence. He looks upon his own career as an example and he is deeply grateful to the mid-West. He likes to contrast this "unlimited field of opportunity" with conditions in Europe, where children are born merely to "renew their father's occupation." For this reason the nominee pledged himself to protect the field of opportunity for children in America, to safeguard home life and to promote the welfare of American families.

In his farm speech, Hoover created a small sensation by tendering the olive branch to former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, who denounced the Republican farm plank after the Kansas City convention rejected the equalization fee. Hoover publicly asked Lowden to participate in the farm conference he will call, if elected, to find a solution for agricultural depression. After saying he recognized the value of the farm aid efforts of various leaders, Hoover added:

"Outstanding farmers, such as Gov. Lowden, will be asked to join in the search for common ground upon which we can act."

Hoover devoted most of his speech to stressing the necessity for inland waterway development. He declared waterways would reduce transportation costs of farm products while building up the mid-West to such a degree that industry generally and the railroads, too, would benefit. Under present conditions, he said, "a row of toll gates" have been placed around the mid-West. Construction of the St. Lawrence waterway and waterways from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, he said, would bring a "seven to ten cent saving per bushel." Such a saving, he declared, would "force upward the price of the whole crop."

SMITH'S LEAD HERE CUT

1,531, against 1,268 marked up for Hoover. These voters also leaned toward the Republican party in 1924, when Coolidge received 1,730, Davis 156 and LaFollette 490.

While a large share of the Hoover vote has been cast by women, who have expressed their choice in The Sun-Telegraph canvass, the women four years ago showed a greater preference for Coolidge.

Today the vote of the women stands: Hoover 919, Smith 879; while they have indicated that in 1924 they cast 1,178 for Coolidge, 93 for Davis and 239 for LaFollette. This would indicate that the swing of the women's vote to Hoover, while strong in certain districts, is not to be counted on throughout the state, insofar as the canvass has progressed.

Thousands of ballots are being mailed daily to registered voters throughout the state in The Sun-Telegraph's canvass, and an accurate expression of the sentiment of the voters in all the 67 counties will be tabulated in connection with the national poll being conducted by the Hearst papers.

GARAGE AND CAR BLOWN UP

An explosion followed by a fire caused $2,500 damage to a one-story brick garage at 7327 Fletcher way and the automobile of R. W. McNichols, of 7231 Hermitage street, last night. The cause of the blast, which was heard for blocks, was undetermined.

OFFER REWARD FOR SLAYER

reached home and read of the murder in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, he was positive that the numerals on the plate were 22-0-7, but was not certain whether the fourth figure was a "3" or not.

Donora police reported to Acting Chief Cochran this afternoon that a car bearing the license plates issued to the murdered man, was seen on the Charleroi-Monongahela road, three miles back of Donora, at 6:30 o'clock last night.

CAN IDENTIFY SLAYER

Detectives declare they have witnesses who will be able to identify Dr. Dapper's slayer positively. Among the patients waiting in the physician's office Monday night were several who obtained a good view of the man who called for the physician on the death ride. These persons, detectives say, sat within a few feet of the man for nearly half an hour and took particular note of his actions and accent. His height, weight and clothes have been carefully checked up between the descriptions given by the various witnesses.

County Detectives David Carlin, Frank Ritz and Robert McMillan waited at the home of Henry A. Dapper to question him today regarding every movement made from the time his son, Dr. Dapper, called him Monday evening to accompany him on the trip that led to the doctor's death.

WIDOW COLLAPSES

Dr. Dapper's mother is in a state of collapse and was forbidden by physicians to talk to anyone. The widow sat beside the casket, supported by friends. She refuses to leave, even for a moment. The body of the young doctor lay in the home of his father at 18 Clifton road, Carrick. The house is a large brick mansion, with wide porches shaded by huge trees.

The casket lay inside open, beneath a canopy of floral wreaths.

All day and far into the night a stream of friends wended their way in and out of the elder Dapper's home in Clifton boulevard, where the body of the young physician lies.

The father of Dr. Dapper today corrected an earlier story that he had been knocked unconscious by his son's slayer.

"I was not senseless a moment," he said. "I was conscious all the time, and my recollection of everything is clear. How could I have been unconscious when all the time I was grappling with that fellow?"

A squad of city patrolmen was required to keep the curious crowds away from the home last night and the guard was continued through the night.

Herman Berust, a pedestrian, reported by telephone to Night Lieut. John P. Joyce, at North Side Police Station, early today he had seen what he believed the Dapper murder car at Penn avenue and Twenty-eighth street. Five men were in the machine, Berust reported, and he said the license number was 22,037, the same as that in which the slayer of the physician fled. The homicide squad of city detectives began a hunt for the car.

Five squads of county detectives have been assigned to the case, additional sleuths having been detailed last night by Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk, who was in communication with Detective Chief George Murren, vacationing in Atlantic City.

All day yesterday County Detectives James Reddington and Patrick Trainor scoured the South Hills and parts of Washington county in hope of picking up trace of the machine, which was stolen from Dr. Dapper after the murder and attack in a lonely section of Mifflin township late Monday night. The detectives' search took them into Donora and Monessen and back into Allegheny county again along the route through Castle Shannon where the slayer was reported to have headed.

The finding of a hat said to resemble the one worn by the slayer yesterday turned out to be a false lead. The elder Dapper, upon arriving home after his release from the Homestead Hospital, discovered the hat he had worn home was not his own. The initials W. E. B., it was believed, might possibly be a clue to the slayer, but investigation revealed that Mr. Dapper had picked up Dr. W. E. Brown's hat at the hospital.

FATHER NEARLY RECOVERED

With the mother were her two youngest daughters, Miss Cyrilla Dapper and Miss Rosalia Dapper. They were met at the Baltimore and Ohio Station by the father, who has almost recovered from the effects of the beating administered by the slayer, despite that several stitches were required to close a wound in his head and that he gave a quart of blood yesterday morning in a transfusion operation undergone in a last-minute attempt to save his son's life.

The young physician's wife, it was reported at the Dapper home, is bearing up well under the shock. She will remain at her father-in-law's home until after the funeral Friday morning. Dr. Dapper will be buried from St. Basil's Church with solemn high mass Friday at 9 a. m., the Rev. Father C. J. Steppling to be in charge of the services. Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

DRIVER WHO ORPHANED 10 MUST SERVE TERM

Ordered released from jail on his own recognizance, due to his inability to furnish $1,000 capias bail in a $50,000 damage suit, the jail doors refused to open for Raymond Rahn, whose wild auto dash made 10 children orphans last August.

Rahn is under a sentence of from two to four years on an involuntary manslaughter charge, and the action of Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in signing the release had no effect on getting Rahn out of jail.

Rahn was the driver of the auto used in the celebration of the reconciliation between Walter Gorman, Buffalo, N. Y., and his estranged wife, Mrs. Margaret Gorman. In the celebration the auto crashed through a barrier at Penn and Center avenues, Wilkinsburg, on August 9, last year, and crushed to death Martin Lydon, 48, of 1405 Nixon street, track welder. Lydon was the father of 10 children.

Last November Rahn pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and was sentenced to serve from two to four years in jail. Later he was sued for damages by Mrs. Lydon.

Today Rahn's attorney, W. H. Colvin, asked for and obtained an order of release. Judge Carnahan remarked that Rahn had been in jail a long time without an effort being made to obtain his release. No mention was made during the hearing that the prisoner was serving out a sentence.

Attorney Colvin later stated that he did not know Rahn was serving a sentence and said the action of the court in ordering his release would apply only after the sentence had been served. Attorneys for Mrs. Lydon joined in the request.

SQUIRES CLAMOR FOR CASH, COUNTY PROVIDES $50,000

Aldermen and justices of the peace are demanding money owed them by the county. So strenuous have the "squires" complained that a conference between County Commissioners and a committee of aldermen and justices of the peace was held today. The money is for cases discharged by aldermen and justices of the peace in the city and county in which the costs were charged to the county.

Alderman Harvey A. Lowry, Eleventh Ward; Justices of the Peace A. W. McMillan, Carnegie, and C. B. Burns, Findley township, told Commissioners an injustice is being done them by their not being paid for discharge cases filed.

The reason, the Commissioners said, was that the fund is exhausted. An appropriation of $50,000 for this purposes was made this year. Only a few pennies remain. To pay off the aldermen and justices of the peace, another $50,000 was authorized transferred to the fund today.

HASSELL IS GIVEN UP to its thousands of trappers, scattered through the North, to aid in the search.

Wireless operators of the Burgess Battery Company station at Madison, who have been listening for word from the plane since it left Cochrane, Ont., Saturday noon on the hop to Mt. Evans, Greenland, abandoned their vigil last night. It was felt that the possibility of direct communication from the plane's radio set now is most remote, even if the two fliers are alive.

Dr. Charles Sceleth, a Chicago radio amateur, provided the only ray of hope. He said that on Monday night he had received over and over again the letter "R," broadcast for nearly an hour. "R" was the code letter by which Hassell and Cramer had arranged to advise their backers that the plane was 75 miles off Cape Chidley.

The signal did not come on the plane set's wave length of 32.84. Instead, Dr. Sceleth said, he picked it up on a wave length of 24 meters. The "R," he said, came very feebly, indicating it was from considerable distance, and was followed by a signature of which he was able to pick up only an "H." The official signature of the Rockford plane was KHAH.

SUGGESTS SITE FOR AIRPORT

Another site for the proposed municipal airport was suggested today to County Commissioners. R. M. McAnulty, a real estate broker, proposed that the airport be located on William Penn Highway, 13 miles from Pittsburgh. More than 600 acres are in the parcel. The ground is valued at between $500 and $600 an acre.

McAnulty was referred to the county planning commission. The commission at present is making surveys and investigations of proposed sites. Five sites, including the one proposed by the Chamber of Commerce committee in Mifflin township, are being considered.

GUEST IN AUTOMOBILE SUES FOLLOWING CRASH

Rose Stein and her husband, Harry Stein, have brought a joint action for $20,000 damages in Common Pleas Court against Emil Bund for personal injuries to Mrs. Stein. The latter was hurt while riding in an automobile operated by the defendant. It was driven off the roadway on the William Penn Highway near Wilkinsburg, July 4, striking an obstruction and injuring Mrs. Stein.

FIGHT AT EVERY STEP! MOSES ANALYZES POLL

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—"Damn the torpedoes!" roared Farragut at Mobile Bay. "Full speed ahead!"

This mandate was repeated yesterday to all seaboard state committeemen by United States Senator George H. Moses, vice chairman of the Eastern Republican National Advisory Committee, from his headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria.

It was primarily evoked when the Senator had carefully analzyed the Hearst newspapers' straw vote.

Moses exclaimed:

"I long ago predicted that we would soon be at Flanders. We are there.

"The Hearst newspaper poll warns us that we shall be compelled to fight every step of the way to make certain of the defeat of Smith and the election of Hoover.

"Of course, we are making that fight, and I confidently believe that ultimately Hoover will carry as many states as did Coolidge in 1924.

"I am pleased to say that the method in which the poll by the Hearst newspapers is being conducted is so exact that it is all but certain to give us an accurate perspective of the popular verdict in November. Up-to-date, the details of this poll are too close for Republican comfort.

"Some of the states show results which cannot be other than disconcerting. For example, Smith leads in Colorado, and his managers claim they will carry that state.

"So they do Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

"These states, with the exception of Colorado, are those which Smith managers assert are either sure for their candidate or at least debatable. Unfortunately, we have to recur to Republican opinion, frankly expressed in conferences, which Hubert Work, our national chairman, has held throughout the country.

"It is a fight at every step of the way!

"Of course, we are making such a fight. And it will be made more vigorously because of the indications the Hearst newspapers have disclosed in states like Colorado, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

"The Hearst newspaper poll has convinced me more than ever that Smith needs all the so-called debatable states to win and Hoover does not.

"Republican campaign managers should recognize their indebtedness to the Hearst newspapers for this searching and accruate forecast. Personally, I am grateful. These figures give me data from which I shall seek to profit in my plans, to assure the election of Mr. Hoover from this day until November 6."

Asked what answer he would make to the claim of John Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that Smith will carry New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Connecticut, Senator Moses replied:

"This is August. The East has just passed through another unprecedented spell of intense heat."

The Senator said this with a chuckle.

Moses conferred yesterday with Edmund Machold, slated for the chairmanship of the New York state committee. They are old friends and agreed to work like brothers for Hoover and Curtis.

Senator Moses today inspects western New York. He will appeal for support of the national ticket to 20,000 farmers at Buffalo.

After attending the funeral services for Col. George Harvey at Dublin, N. H., the Senator will return to New York for the induction of Mr. Machold into the state chairmanship.

Sewickley Girl Killed In Crash

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 22.—Marie Massi, 10, of Sewickley, Pa., was killed almost instantly and 11 other persons were injured today when an automobile overturned on the Lincoln highway near here.

The accident occurred when a touring car carrying 13 vacationists skidded on the wet pavement and overturned. All of the occupants were pinned under the wreck.

Eleven of the injured were taken to a hospital, where three were discharged after minor injuries had been treated.

The party was en route from Coney Island, N. Y., to their homes in the Pittsburgh district when the accident occurred.

The most seriously injured were: Mrs. Marie Massi, 45, mother of the dead child; Mrs. Vincent Masden, 38; George Masden, 2; Mrs. Sara Marcuo, 44; Thomas Marcuo, 6 months; Joseph Marcuo, 6; Mrs. Congetta Pugliano, 45, and Salvandore Tulino, driver of the car.

ALBANY JAMMED FOR SMITH ACCEPTANCE

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The legions of Democracy assembled here today in gala spirit from the four corners of the land to confer the laurels of party leadership upon "the happy warrior" brow of Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

By twos and by sixes they came in automobiles; by dozens and by scores in a seemingly endless line of motor buses; by hundreds and by thousands in special cars and special trains over every rail artery to the capital of the Empire State.

Party patriarchs came in high hats and frock coats to honor a new leader. Democrats from the precincts of every state came in holiday spirit and workday apparel to voice their enthusiasm for the triumph of the man who rose to national leadership from the selling stalls of Fulton Fish Market. Voters and citizens came by thousands to see a colorful spectacle and to cheer the man they know as "Al."

The formal ceremonies of notification were scheduled for the historic steps of the State Capitol at 6 o'clock Pittsburgh daylight time.

CITY CROWDED

Hotels had long since given up the struggle and army cots were pressed into service at midnight to solve the housing problem of the visitors.

Restaurants, by keeping chefs over their broths and puddings for 18 hours, managed to accommodate everyone in the end, but the finer distinctions between breakfast and luncheon were ungrudgingly forsaken early in the day in the name of democracy's big whoopee.

There were official police estimates that the visiting throng numbered about 100,000.

The program arranged for the capitol steps will require about three hours. Bands will begin playing for the assembling throngs at 6 o'clock and half an hour later, the Smith Glee Club of Newark, N. J., will begin to sing.

Promptly at 7 o'clock, Gov. Smith is scheduled to walk down the broad granite steps to the speakers' platform, to the bugle salute of "assembly" and the band's strident "hail to the chief."

When the Governor is received at the platform by Chairman Raskob there is to be a pause for the rendition of the combined musical forces of the "Sidewalks of New York." Chairman Raskob, who is to preside, then will present the Rev. John N. Roney, canon of All Saint's Protestant Episcopal Church, who will pronounce the invocation.

Mayor John Boyd Thacher will next welcome the multitudes in behalf of the city of Albany.

United States Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the notification committee appointed by the Houston convention, will then deliver his brief address formally apprising Gov. Smith of his selection as party standard bearer. At 7:30 p. m., Pittsburgh daylight time, Gov. Smith is to begin his speech of acceptance over a nation-wide radio hookup of more than 100 stations. The speech is expected to require about an hour and a half.

MOB BESIEGES TUNNEY ON ARRIVAL IN LONDON

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, arrived in London at 4:45 this afternoon from Plymouth, where he landed this morning on the Cunard liner Mauretania.

A large crowd of admirers greeted the champion at Paddington station. Tunney, smiling broadly, refused to answer the many questions fired at him regarding the time of his marriage.

"Don't be silly," was Gene's reply. "I don't mind talking about public matters, but I don't want to discuss my personal affairs."

Upon arrival at the station, Gene found that his portable typewriter was missing. He was much perturbed by the loss, but a hasty search by station attendants located the elusive machine and the champion's smile returned.

Tunney immediately jumped into a taxicab and started for his hotel, escaping a veritable army of autograph hunters.

Predicts Strike of 70,000

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Basing his statement upon telegrams received from union officials in various Western states, A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, today predicted that a strike affecting 70,000 railroad workers west of Chicago will be called early in September unless the roads meet the union wage demands.

Members of the trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors have been balloting for a week upon a proposal to strike, following the failure of attempts to settle their wage demands by mediation.

Reports from the West are to the effect that a walkout is virtually certain in the event no settlement is reached, Whitney said. Although he declared the enthusiasm of the men indicates a unanimous decision in favor of striking, Whitney gave no specific instances except a telegram from the members at Salem, Ore., which he offered as a sample of the prevailing sentiment.

"Members approve action of committee and are with you 100 per cent," the telegram said.

Strike ballots were mailed out from Chicago about two weeks ago, when conferences between executives of the trainmen and conductors, the railroads and a representative of the Federal Board of Mediation ended in disagreement.

WOMAN WILLED $6,000 IF SHE SHUNS FUNERAL

A bequest of $6,000 to his sister, Mrs. William Sigmund, of 1919 Howard street, would be invalidated should she or any member of her family attend the funeral of J. C. Platz, whose will was probated today.

The estate is valued at $13,000. The money is to be used in the purchase of a home by Mrs. Sigmund.

The executors, John Martin, of 233 Marshall avenue, and Louis N. Shuman, of 53 Watsonia boulevard, were to notify Mrs. Sigmund of the provisions of the will. The executors were bequeathed $500 each.

Ninety shares of stock in a local manufacturing concerned was willed to the Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., of Pennsylvania for Masonic homes, and Washington Lodge No. 253 was left $1,000 for charitable purposes. Two nephews in California are to receive the balance of the estate after Mrs. Jane McKee is paid $600.

DRIVER HELD IN DEATH

Exonerated by a coroner's jury in connection with a fatal automobile accident last month, John McMillen, 16, of 306 Warner street, was held for court without bail on a charge of manslaughter by Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, last night. On July 25, Leona Shepherd, 11, of 25 Federal street extension, was injured fatally by McMillen's machine. After having been cleared by the coroner's jury he was arrested on a charge brought by the girl's father.

FIRE GAS TANKS TO BE BURIED

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith yesterday recommended to Safety Director James M. Clark that the storage tanks of the Peoples Service Company station, West Liberty avenue, be buried underground before the company is permitted to open the station again for business. The recommendations were the result of his investigation into the cause of the explosion which early Sunday started a serious fire at the station.

There is a city ordinance which directs that all service station tanks should be under ground. The Peoples Service Company were given permission to erect overhead tanks, as they erected their station before the ordinance was passed.

DRY RAIDERS SHOOT MAN AS HE FLEES

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—For the second time this year Chicago Federal dry agents have found themselves involved in the shooting of a man during a raid.

Last March William Beatty, a Municipal Court bailiff, was shot and wounded during a prohibition raid. Yesterday Merle Adams, who gave his occupation as an insurance agent, was shot in the back by one of three prohibition agents, raiding a loop building office where they sought members of an alleged liquor syndicate.

The syndicate, according to information received by the prohibition department, had its headquarters in offices on the eighth floor of the City Hall Square Building. Three agents entered the offices of the Paul Morton Construction Company there yesterday. Adams fled at their approach and was shot, the agents said, when he refused to obey a command to halt. Arthur Franklin, described as a student prohibition agent, fired the shot, witnesses said.

City police, who started an investigation, said they were told to "get out." The same situation developed on the occasion of the shooting of Beatty last March. The Federal officers maintaining that it was a government matter and out of police jurisdiction.

Witnesses said Adams was chased six flights and clubbed with blackjacks. All occupants of the Morton office were placed under arrest, but no liquor was found.

BULLETS SAVE SWIMMER FROM CANAL ALLIGATORS

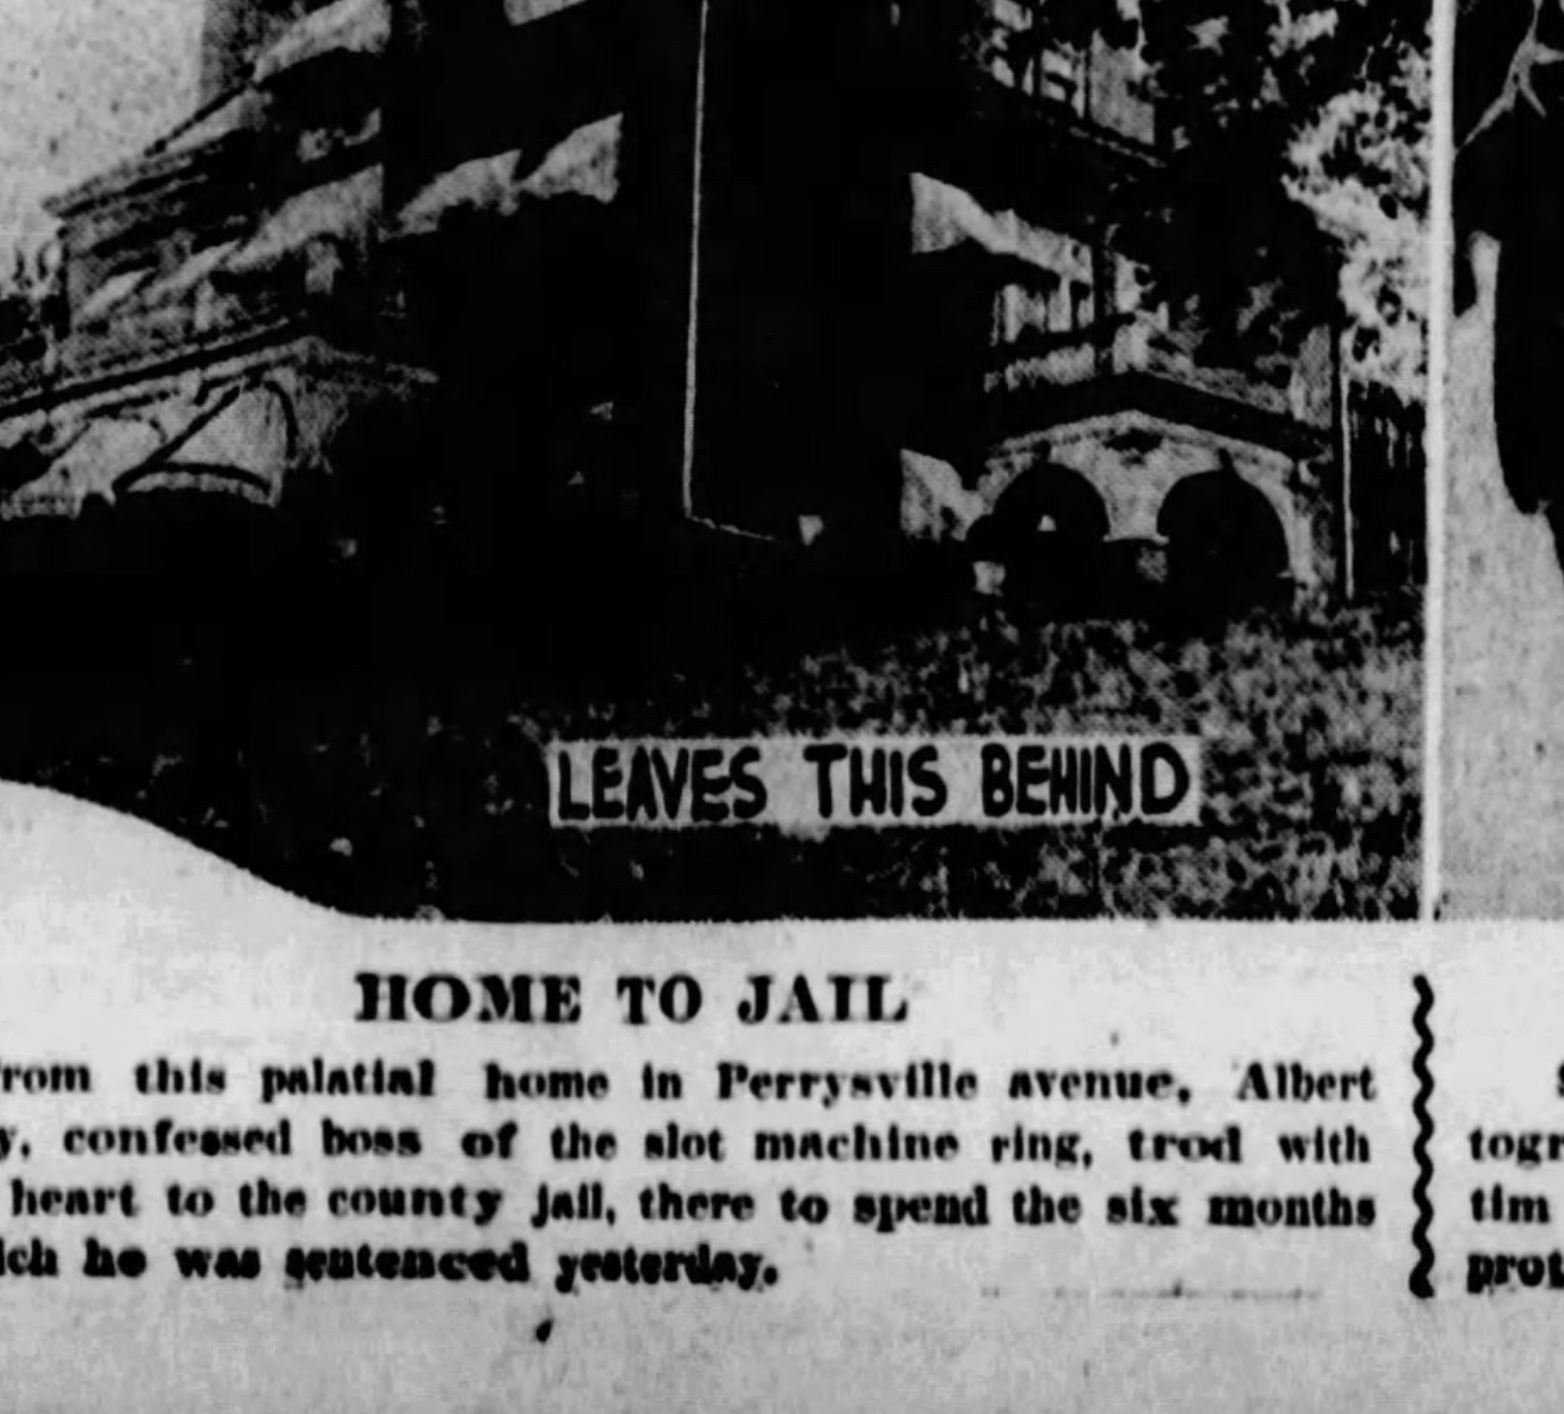
PANAMA, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Two encounters with alligators, in neither case serious, have marked the progress of Richard Halliburton, American author, who has been making a swim through the Panama Canal from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific, a distance of about 50 miles.

It is not expected that alligators will be encountered during the rest of the journey as Halliburton has passed the infested waters, but it is possible that after being locked through into the Pacific from the Miraflores locks he will face the possibility of attacks by sharks during the swim down the Pacific channel to Balboa.

Halliburton is accompanied by an army sharpshooter as a guard. The first time the sharpshooter was called into action was on Monday when an alligator was driven off by the guard's bullets. The second time was yesterday when an alligator accompanied Halliburton into the Gaillard Cut, the saurian trailing about 25 feet in the rear. After a few shots the alligator disappeared.

Despite the advice of physicians who examined his sunburned shoulders, Halliburton is continuing the swim, but is wearing a shirt for the first time since the swim began. He does not expect to complete the trip before Friday, swimming during the daytime and resting at night. He started on August 14.

Racketeers Tremble -:- As Jail Doors Clang -:- On Slot Machine King



HOME TO JAIL

From this palatial home in Perrysville avenue, Albert Forney, confessed boss of the slot machine ring, trod with heavy heart to the county jail, there to spend the six months to which he was sentenced yesterday.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

THREE Pittsburgh stations—KDKA, WCAE and WJAS—will be in the hookup that will broadcast the Alfred E. Smith notification ceremonies at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The Governor will be officially notified of his nomination as presidential candidate by the Democratic party on the steps of the state capitol at Albany, N. Y. Among the speakers to be heard, in addition to the nominee, will be John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Maj. John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, and Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the notification committee. The bands of the National Guard regiments of the State of New York will be mobilized for the occasion and will render a musical program.

"The Enchantress," an operetta by Victor Herbert, and featuring Jessica Dragonette, will be heard over KDKA at 9 o'clock as the Philco hour feature. A half hour later WJAS will broadcast Offenbach's opera, "The Grand Duchess," as the Kolster hour feature. The National Light Opera Company, on the air over WCAE at 10:30, will present the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Patience."

WJAS at 9 o'clock will present a program entitled "Dedications." It will be a musical presentation and will include such numbers as "To Spring," "To a Water Lily" and "To Thee."

Cyril Scott's "Lento" and the Ensemble No. 2 from "Prince Igor" are te symphonic features of the Palmolive hour to be broadcast over WCAE at 9:30 o'clock. Olive Palmer and Paul Oliver, whose closely blended voices are familiar to radio listeners as those of the "Palmolive lovers," will again be heard in a duet, "I Can't Give You Anything but Love." The same period will contain solo numbers by each of the "lovers," Olive Palmer singing "Dreamin' Time," and Paul Oliver contributing "Spirit Flower." The quartet will offer the musical rejoinder "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and a novedty orchestration of a popular ballad will advise all to "Get Out and Get Under the Moon." Further attractions of the hour will consist of guitar and saxophone novelties.

School Teacher Quickly Gains 18 Pounds and New Energy
New YEAST and IRON Builds Up Weight in 3 Weeks—or pay nothing
"I am a school instructor and from my study I was convinced that IRONIZED YEAST was exactly what I needed to put me in shape. At the start I weighed 152 lbs., which is below my normal weight. I took only two bottles and my weight was 170 lbs., a gain of 18 lbs., which put me back to normal weight. IRONIZED YEAST brought more energy, greater endurance and an improved complexion." (Signed) Linus L. Clark.
Change Hollows to Graceful Curves
You can believe these real letters. Read how people like yourself gained 5 to 20 pounds often in 3 weeks. Skinny limbs change to graceful roundness. Blemished skin clears. Tired feeling vanishes.
Only when Yeast is IRONIZED is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets in handy bottle. Safe for everybody. Never cause gas or bloating, no harmful drugs.
Try It on "Money Back" Offer
Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, your money back instantly. If inconvenient to buy from druggist send $1.00 to IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 319-BR.
CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to gaining weight. ©I. SOUTHERN DEMS REBEL

Name Above Door; Claims Share In Store

Judge Thomas D. Carnahan has fixed September 5 as the date for a hearing in which Charles Stein must show cause why he should not deliver over the clothing store of F. A. Silverman & Son, McKeesport.

It is averred by the petitioners, F. A. Silverman & Son, that Stein was allowed to place his name over the store because he is the home manager, and that he never made any claim that he had an interest in the business until he was discharged.

It is alleged that he refuses to give up the premises, claiming that he has an interest in the business. Attorney W. H. Coleman represents the petitioners, and Charles H. Sachs the defendant.

MIDWEST G. O. P. DEFLECTION OFFSET

By CHARLES N. WHEELER.

Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A political revolution is getting under way in the Southern states. It may develop into the biggest piece of news in the United States on the morning of November 7.

This was last night's outstanding spot in the nation-wide straw vote being conducted by the Hearst publications.

"May" is used advisedly. The revolt may in the end be comparable to present indications in the Midwest Republican strongholds where the wet and farmer defections may reduce the normal G. O. P. majorities but not be sufficient to turn the states' electoral vote over to the opposition.

However, both the balloting and information gathered from many reliable sources point to an upheaval all over the Southland, the eventual proportions of which no one can foresee with any degree of definiteness thus early in the clash.

N. CAROLINA REVOLTS

And curiously enough, next to Tennessee, the cockpit of the intransigeant movement is none other than former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels' state—North Carolina.

Despite all that the distinguished ex-cabinet member can do, North Carolinans are seeing red with the mere mention in their hearing of Tammany.

Along with Mr. Daniels, the state's more distinguished statesman and fine citizen is Senator Simmons. He has held from the start that the nomination of Gov. Smith would be a mistake. He has doubted the strength claimed for the New York governor, and, according to late reports from the seat of the uprising, he is practically powerless to stop the widespread disaffection.

FOR PROHIBITION

Mr. Daniels has, in a manner of speaking, repudiated Gov. Smith's prohibition views, but at the same time is urging his people to vote for Smith for President, with the assurance that the southerners would get back their Federal patronage and also to vote only for bone-dry candidates for Congress to make doubly sure that nothing the Governor could do as President would in any way weaken the Eighteenth Amendment.

The first tabulation of the straw vote gives Mr. Hoover 139 to 129 for Gov. Smith. This vote, too, was in the cities. It is conceded by some of the Democratic leaders that Mr. Hoover will be a great deal stronger than the average Republican candidate out among the ruralities of the state.

FIVE STATES UNCERTAIN

Virtually the same conditions that obtain in North Carolina are noticeable in the sister state to the south and throughout Florida, Georgia, Alabama and, of course, Tennessee.

Georgia gave Davis a plurality of 92,000 four years ago, not an insurmountable barrier, the men in the conning towers report, if the undercurrents that are disturbing life in that entire section should prove more volcanic as the campaign nears the end.

The straw vote, mostly from the cities, shows Gov. Smith in the lead with a total of 8,364 to 6,229 for Hoover.

Davis' plurality in Alabama was 67,961, in a total vote of 166,610. If Mr. Hoover's prohibition stand and his economic views can be sold pretty generally throughout the state, the experts believe he may throw an awful scare into the Jeffersonians before November 6.

Florida, too, like Southern California, is growing by leaps and bounds, due in large measure to the influx of business men from all sections of the country. It has become sufficiently industrially minded of late to insist on a protective tariff to keep out cheap Mexican vegetables. The first of the voting here gives Mr. Hoover the lead with 714 to 611 for Smith.

Mr. Hoover is also in the lead in Tennessee, with 956 to 925 for Smith. There can be little question about the doubtfulness of this commonwealth, as it has in recent years given its electoral vote to the Republicans.

TAMMANY OPPOSED

Here, as is quite general throughout the South, the sentiment is running high against the symbol of Tammany rather than against Gov. Smith personally, although there is a considerable undercurrent of religious prejudice discernible in all the states in this group.

Even with this equipment—high type of industrial research man, good enough for Woodrow Wilson and an unequivocal champion of the Eighteenth Amendment—he may no more than greatly reduce the normal Democratic pluralities without capturing the states, with the exception of Tennessee and Oklahoma, which seem to be almost in the Hoover bag at this writing.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

CHINESE OWNERS IGNORE FREE OIL REPLACEMENTS

"When Manchuria achieves a settled policy toward motor transportation with respect to road building and taxation, there will be a large opportunity in this territory for automobiles," according to Walton Schmidt, representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who is now traveling in the Far East.

Mr. Schmidt reports moter registration in Manchurian cities as follows:

Dairen—510 motor cars, 20 busses.

Harbin—1,200 motor cars, 100 busses, 40 trucks.

Mukden—1,000 motor cars, 40 busses, 25 trucks.

"Preventive service is another educational idea which must be emphasized in this territory," according to Mr. Schmidt's report.

A Chinese owner will not call upon a service station unless his automobile has actually stopped running. He will not, for instance, avail himself of free changes of oil after the first 500 miles of driving. Modern service station methods are expected to change the public attitude on this point.

PROPER CHAIN USE IMPORTANT

Proper attachment of chains and careful driving will afford the most possible benefit out of the chains and the least possible harm to tires, engine or other parts of the car. In the first place, the chains should be put on right. They must be loose enough to allow them to work their way around the tires. If they are tight they will stay in one position, cutting into the casings and causing tire trouble. A little play will cause even wear on the tires all around. The chains, however, must not be too loose, or they will rattle against the fenders when the car goes at any considerable speed and break easily.

VALVE STEM CLEARANCE IMPORTANT FOR AUTOS

Cylinder blocks and heads are frequently warped. Clearance at the valve stems should be made the final adjustment after tightening down all bolts, thus avoiding the difficulties of valves being off their seats.

STUDY DETROIT LAW DRIVE

Detroit's law enforcement campaign, which has had a beneficial effect in reducing motor accidents, is being made the subject of a special study by the Street Traffic Committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, by John C. Long, manager of the educational department of that body.

Smokestacks Are Suggested For Autos

As a means of protecting the urban citizen from the carbon monoxide gas dicharged from exhaust pipes of automobiles, the health commissioner of New York state asked automobile manufacturers to design a car which will allow this gas to be discharged from a point near the top of the body.

NEW CADILLAC TOMORROW

The automotive industry and the motoring public of the Pitsburgh district are awaiting the unveiling tomorrow of the new lines of Cadillac and LaSalle motor cars by McAlister Brothers, Baum boulevard.

Their interest stimulated by reports that these two lines of cars represent the consummation of General Motors and Cadillac aims during the last three years to produce in their price classes the premier cars of the world, large crowds are expected to attend the opening exhibition.

The new cars follow by less than 18 months the presentation of Cadillac's companion car, the LaSalle, on the heels of which came the introduction just year ago of the present line of Cadillacs.

During the last three years, since the advent of Lawrence P. Fisher as president of the company, the Cadillac Motor Car Company has played a leading role in establishing the present trend in motor car design and many of its innovations in beauty and body lines have permeated later developments throughout the industry.

The total number of cars produced is now running 40 per cent higher than in the same period of 1927, and the LaSalle represents a full 50 per cent of output.

U. S. STOPS TOLL ON 'BRIGHT ANGEL TRAIL'

Government acquisition of the Bright Angel Trail in Grand Canyon National Park makes it possible for visitors to enjoy the beauties of this famous playground without paying toll charges. This was the last toll trail in any of the national parks, and for many years was privately operated.

FRENCH CUSTOMS AIDS AMERICANS TO SELL CARS

CASABLANCA, Morocco, July 18.—Severity of French customs is helping Americans to sell automobiles here.

When a French car is taken back to France, under the customs ruling it is regarded as a foreign car and the owner must pay 45 per cent duty and 12 per cent tax de luxe, just as he would on an American automobile.

Since American manufacturers make automobiles much more cheaply than do those of other nations, the heavier cost of transportation paid from America is offset and the American car is easily sold whenever it fits the needs of a customer.

Beautiful stock bodies are big factors in sales by Americans. Intense heat, however, limits satis factory cars to those with surplus radiation, paint that will stand the sun and upholstery that is cool and durable.

ROADS PROLONG AUTO LIFE

That present-day buyers of motor cars expect a great deal more for their dollar than was the case a decade ago, is the opinion of Mr. R. E. Loughney of the R. E. Loughney Motor Company, Reo distributor.

"The average motorist of today figures on keeping his automobile for at least two years," says Mr. Loughney. "This is accounted for by the fact that present-day motor cars do not grow old and shoddy-looking as rapidly as they used to, and their lines do not become obsolete as quickly as the designs of the past.

"Better cars and better roads are responsible for the longer usage of today's automobiles. Automotive engineers are not entirely responsible for the present degree of perfection found in motor cars. Most of us can remember when practically all the main highways were of dirt. But now it is possible to travel thousands of miles over asphalt or concrete, with hardly a rough spot to mar our journey. Automobiles that now stand up for several seasons could not possibly have done so 10 or 15 years ago."

The asphalt pavement, according to Mr. Loughney, is anything but a modern invention, but dates back to ancient Babylon. It may even go back further than that, for Nebuchadnezzar is said to have erected a tablet on a paved road requesting his subjects to "traverse this street in joy." Pompeii boasts today the remnants of asphalt sidewalks, and records prove that Pompeii was the first to crown her asphalt streets and raise the center to permit drainage.

7. New Modernity in Finish and Appointment—Deep, rich upholstery. New fittings. Deft and pleasing treatments in fabrics and trim.
8. Chromium Plating—The new metallurgical treatment that assures permanent lustre of exposed nickel parts.

FIFTY BODY TYPES AND STYLES BY FISHER AND FLEETWOOD

YOU CANNOT buy a car at home or abroad that will give as much delight as the newest Cadillacs, La Salles—and Fleetwoods on these chassis.

Even the glamour of the fabulously expensive foreign cars means no such engineering genius, no such performance brilliance, no such riding and driving luxury.

As a matter of fact, the Cadillac Motor Car Company does not hesitate to state that there is nothing even remotely approximating the character and calibre of these matchless new creations.

They are, in fact, the greatest values in motoring today. Never has a given price in any class or grade purchased an equal degree of motoring luxury.

The Exclusive New Fleetwoods

In addition to the splendid array of new Fisher Body types and styles there are 14 exclusive and exquisite custom models—Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built—offering the widest and most extensive selection of fine cars ever made available by any manufacturer—a de luxe model to meet the taste and requirements of the most fastidious.

Never has a maker of fine motor cars had so many advantages to offer in all that lifts motoring above mere transportation: The buying power of a great corporation, the engineering talent of a vast organization, a dependable and far-reaching dealer body to serve Cadillac and La Salle owners, a national service policy clearly defined and the same efficient service under factory regulation at prices limited by us.

These automobiles can be appraised by the eye alone, but to understand and appreciate fully just how great an advance the new Cadillacs and La Salles represent it is necessary to drive them, to test their amazing performance, their comfort in action, and their ease of operation.

These new models will be on display tomorrow at all Cadillac-La Salle showrooms. Drive a new Cadillac or La Salle. A demonstrator is as close as your telephone.

La Salle now priced at $2295 to $2875—Cadillac at $3295 to $7000—All prices f. o. b. Detroit

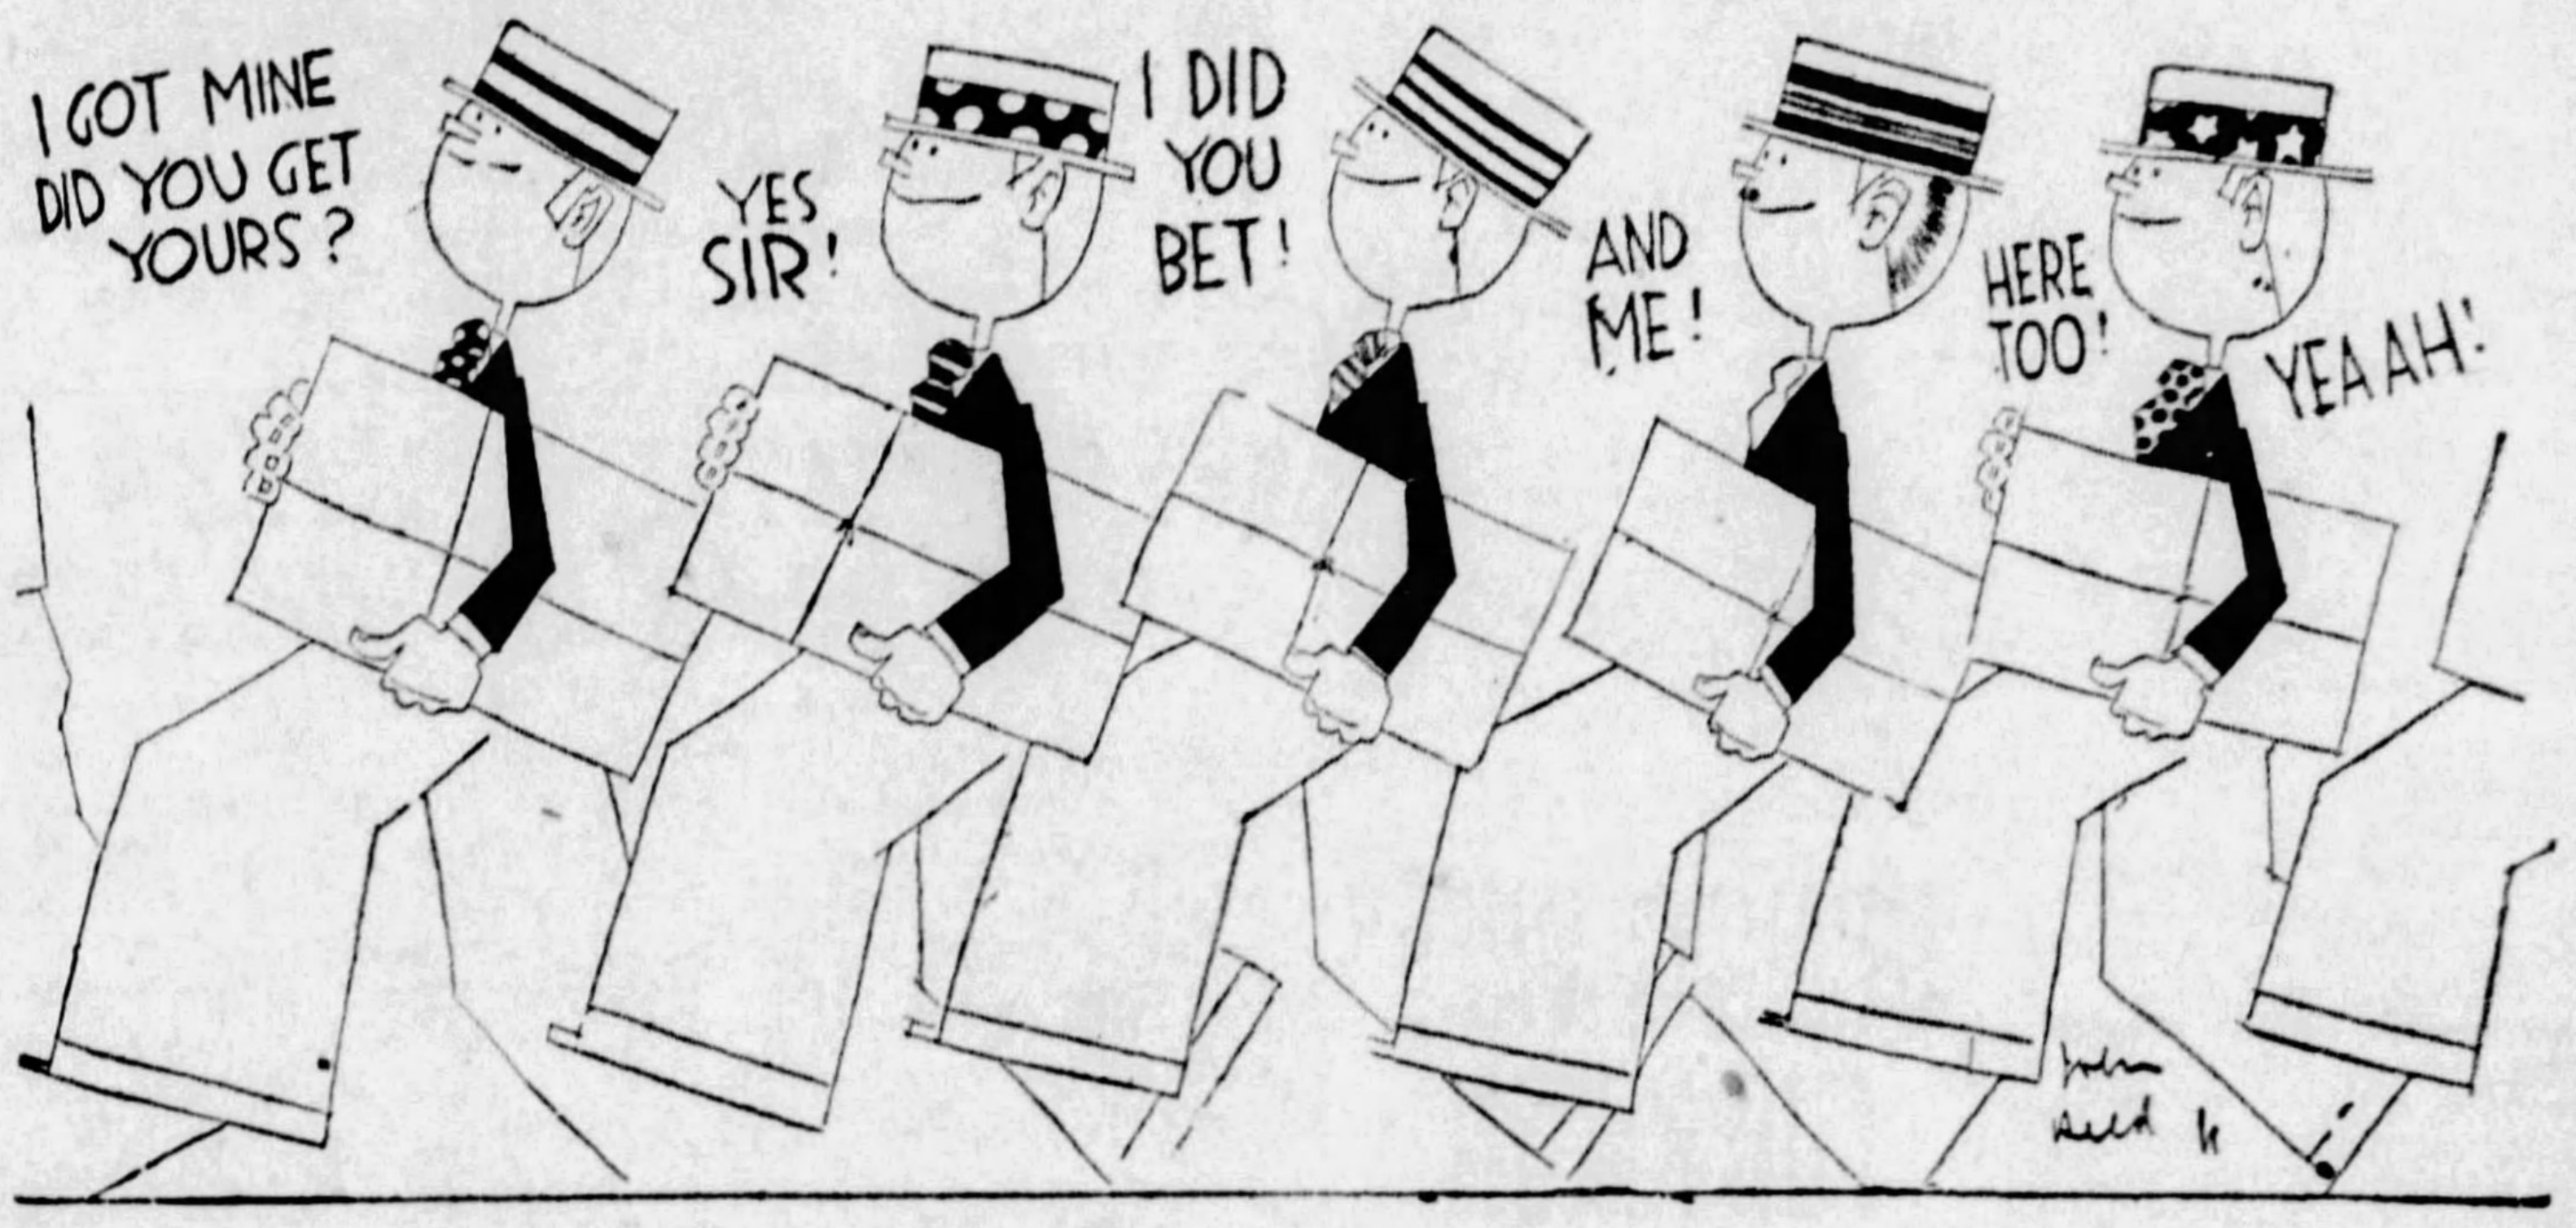
THE AUGUST OVERCOAT SALE

Has the Town Talking



I GOT MINE DID YOU GET YOURS?
YES SIR!
I DID YOU BET!
AND ME!
HERE TOO!
YEAAH!

THE selling of Overcoats in August is no problem when you can supply the kind of values that are provided in the Horne August Sale.

There are always plenty of business men who are ready to discount their bills or anticipate their requirements where a sufficiently substantial saving is forthcoming.

The savings in the case of this August Sale are so evident and so considerable that men need no more persuasion than to see the selections and the Sale prices.

$28.50 $36.50 $48.50

Every overcoat is NEW—the coming season's models. All made within the last 30 to 90 days.

The fabrics are our own selections. A large part of them are fine English, Scotch and Irish woolens. These were bought at the source, our Buyer making a special trip abroad for the purpose.

Five leading American— our very best—and two British manufacturers supplied the tailoring.

The models are of the conservative, dressy, high-class type and include single and double-breasted box coats, single-breasted raglans and single-breasted Chesterfields. Also topcoats.

The fabrics are all-wool tweeds, fleeces, Vicunas, Meltons, and high-grade imported novelties.

Each coat is full satin trimmed, with satin sleeves, yokes and piping. The Chesterfields are full satin lined.

There is a full complement of regular sizes in each model and there are models for large men in sizes up to 48.

Blue and Oxford gray, the favored shades for the coming season, predominate, with a representation also of browns, grays and other shades.

Coats displayed by sizes to facilitate choosing.

Selections held for later delivery if desired.

Claire Windsor to Get Part In Picture, "The Black Gang," Featuring Victor McLaglen

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.

THE popularity of Claire Windsor with both fans and studios seems to grow with each photodrama in which the blonde star appears. Although under contract to Tiffany, she has been borrowed by Fox to play opposite Victor McLanglen in a picture to be directed by Jack Blythestone. The tentative title is "The Black Gang." Vic is also slated to star in a Charles Francis Coe story called "Captain Lash." This is to be directed by John Forde, and June Collyer is expected to be the girl. Just which picture will be made first remains to be seen. It appears that there is something of a race being run to see which story will first be in shape for shooting. But, anyway, Vic is getting a good break with his leading ladies.

Joseph Von Sternberg has every right to be quite chesty these days, for reposing in his pocket is the gold medal presented to him by Jesse L. Lasky for his direction of "Underworld." This picture was the most successful of all photoplays presented at the Paramount Theater, New York, during 1927. I believe that the medal, besides honor, carries with it a substantial bonus check. Speaking of Von Sternberg, he seems in a fair way to repeat his 1927 triumph with the new George Bancroft picture, "Docks of New York." It has been previewed here, and it looks so good that officials are afraid to speak of it in tones louder than whispers. A strange thing about Hollywood—frequently they talk loudest about mediocre films. Perhaps when a real epic is made they are too surprised to speak.

Just to refute the statement that it is impossible to get into pictures, United Artists has signed a little unknown, named Mona Rico, to a five-year contract. Mona is a Mexican girl who came across the border to look for extra work and suddenly found herself "discovered" by Lubitsch. She will play the second feminine lead with Jack Barrymore and Camilla Horn in their new picture. Not so long ago Mexicans were always the villains of the screen—now they seem to be the stars—Dolores Del Rio, Lupe Velez, Raquel Torres and now Mona Rico. Plenty of boys, too, from the southern republic are drawing fat film salaries.

"Tong War" is the title of a Chinese gangster film which William Wellman will soon direct for Paramount. They have selected Wallace Beery for the leading role and he will be sufficiently bad and bold to make you forget all the laughs he's given you in comedy roles. The rest of the cast hasn't been chosen.

Colleen Moore and her husband, John McCormick, have been very busy celebrating things for the past few days. It so happened that John's birthday is the day before the wedding anniversary of John and Colleen. And after the wedding anniversary is Colleen's birthday. So if there were only a few more birthdays, or something, to celebrate the couple might take a whole week off each year.

Buddy Roger's mothers has come West from Kansas, to help Buddy celebrate his birthday. During her stay here Buddy has moved from his sixteen-dollar-a-week home to a little five-room house so that he may be with her constantly.

Unless it singes the celluloid you will soon see the life story of Isadora Duncan on the screen. Belle Bennett has personally purchased the screen rights to Isadora's book, "My Life," which appeared just at the time the unhappy artist met her tragic death. The volume created a furore because of its over-frank exposition of the dancer's private life, but with some of the sensational features eliminated there is still sufficient color and interest to make a good picture. Miss Bennett is said to be negotiating with United Artists for a release, and hopes to star in the film early in 1929.

A rumor that Norma Talmadge is about to sign a Metro contract seems to have no greater foundation than the fact that Norma's car has been seen frequently on the Metro lot during the past week or so. But even at that, there may be some truth in the deductions of the amateur detectives. What do you make of it, Watson?

"CRAIG'S WIFE" FOR NIXON

The Nixon Players will present George Kelly's newest Broadway success, "Craig's Wife," in the Nixon next week, beginning Monday. This production won its author the Pulitzer Prize as the best dramatic play of the 1925 season. It will be the season's final offering of the Nixon Players in that theater.

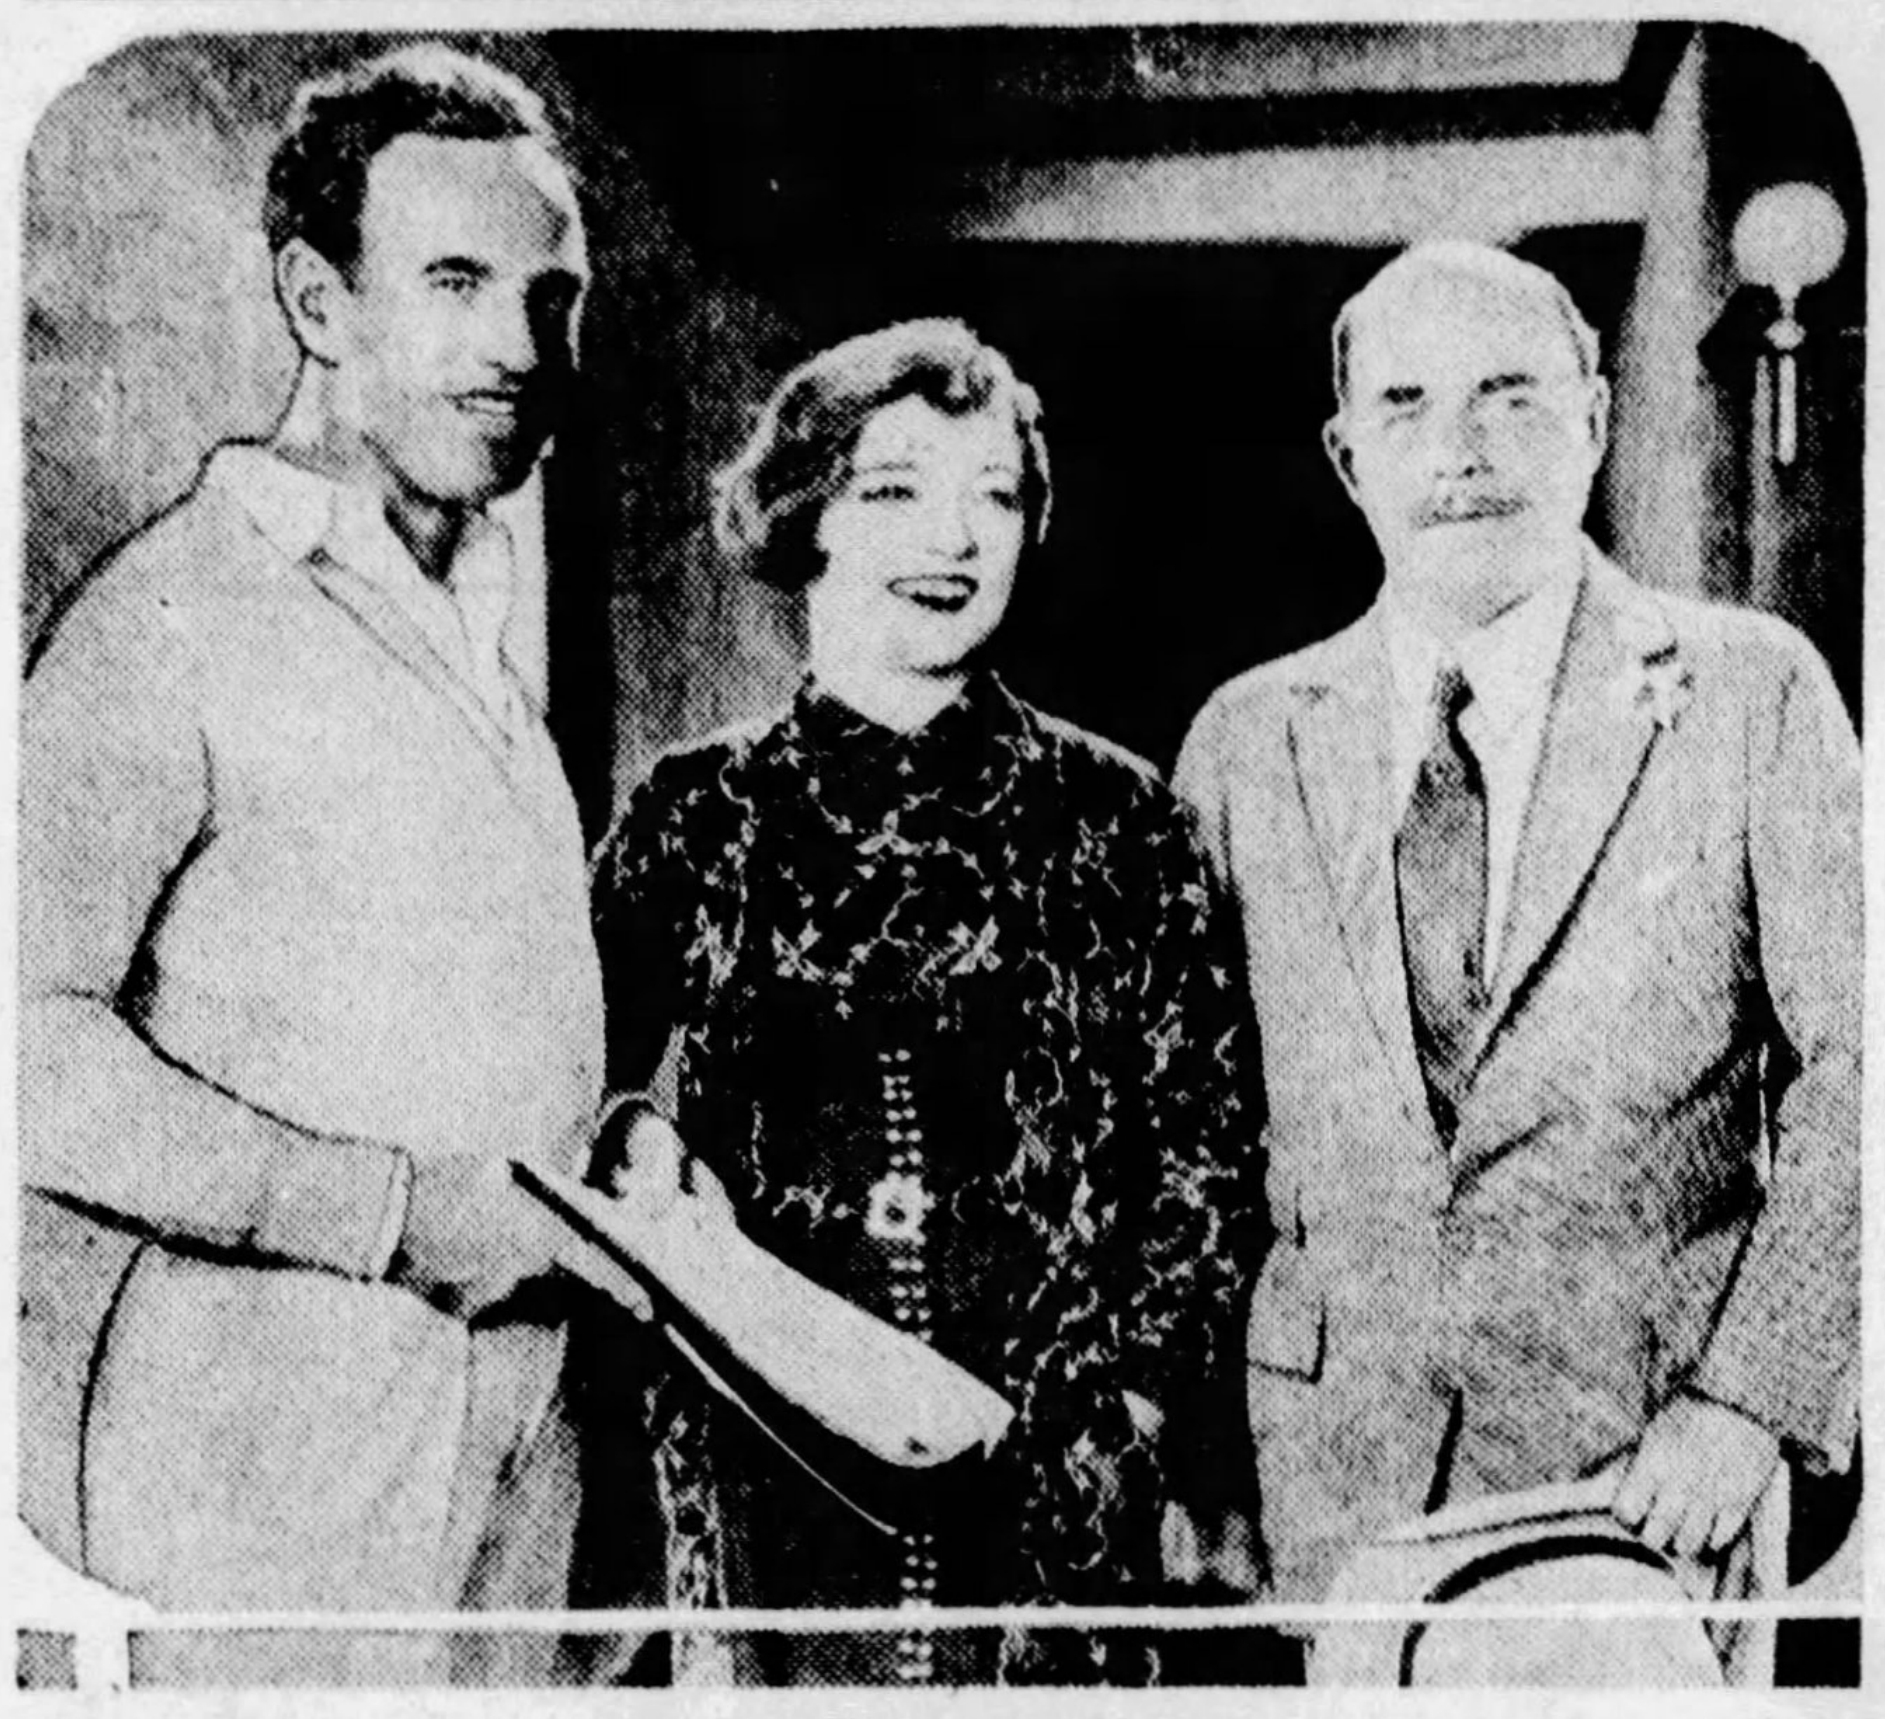
Olive Meehan and Bradley Page will have the principal roles in the comedy, "It's a Boy," announced for presentation by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week. The drama is based on American life and it was written by William Anthony McGuire.

The Alvin will open the new season Labor Day, September 3, with the Arthur Hopkins' success, "Burlesque." The cast will feature Hal Skelly and Barbara Stanwyck.

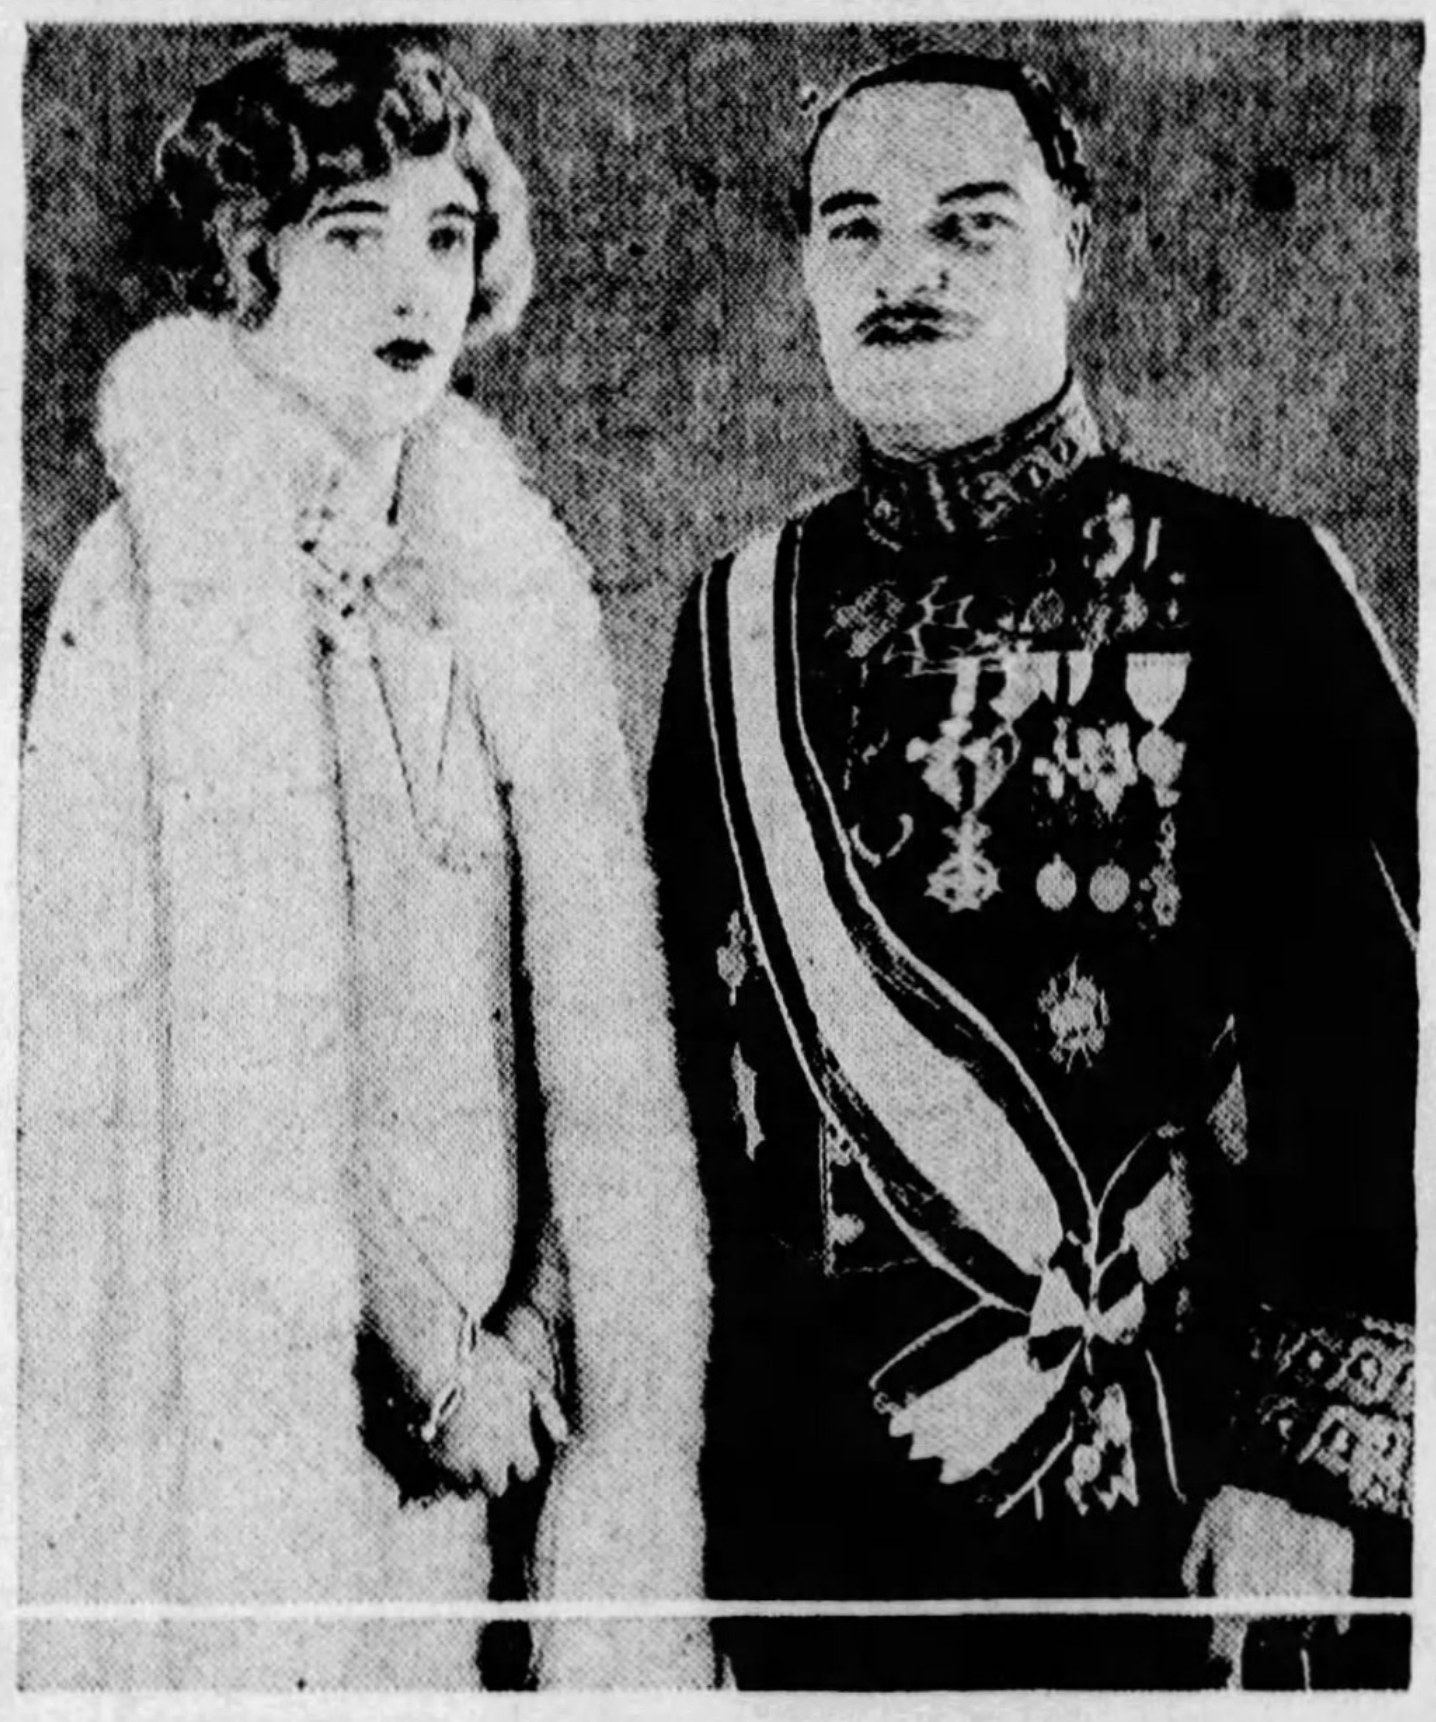
MAN FREED FROM JAIL FOR SISTER'S FUNERAL

An order signed by Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in Common Pleas Court permits Leo J. Ford, in jail waiting trial for pointing firearms and assault and battery, to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Julia Pountis, 1821 Tustin street. Attorney Howard J. Devlin presented the request for the man's release today, in custody of a deputy sheriff.

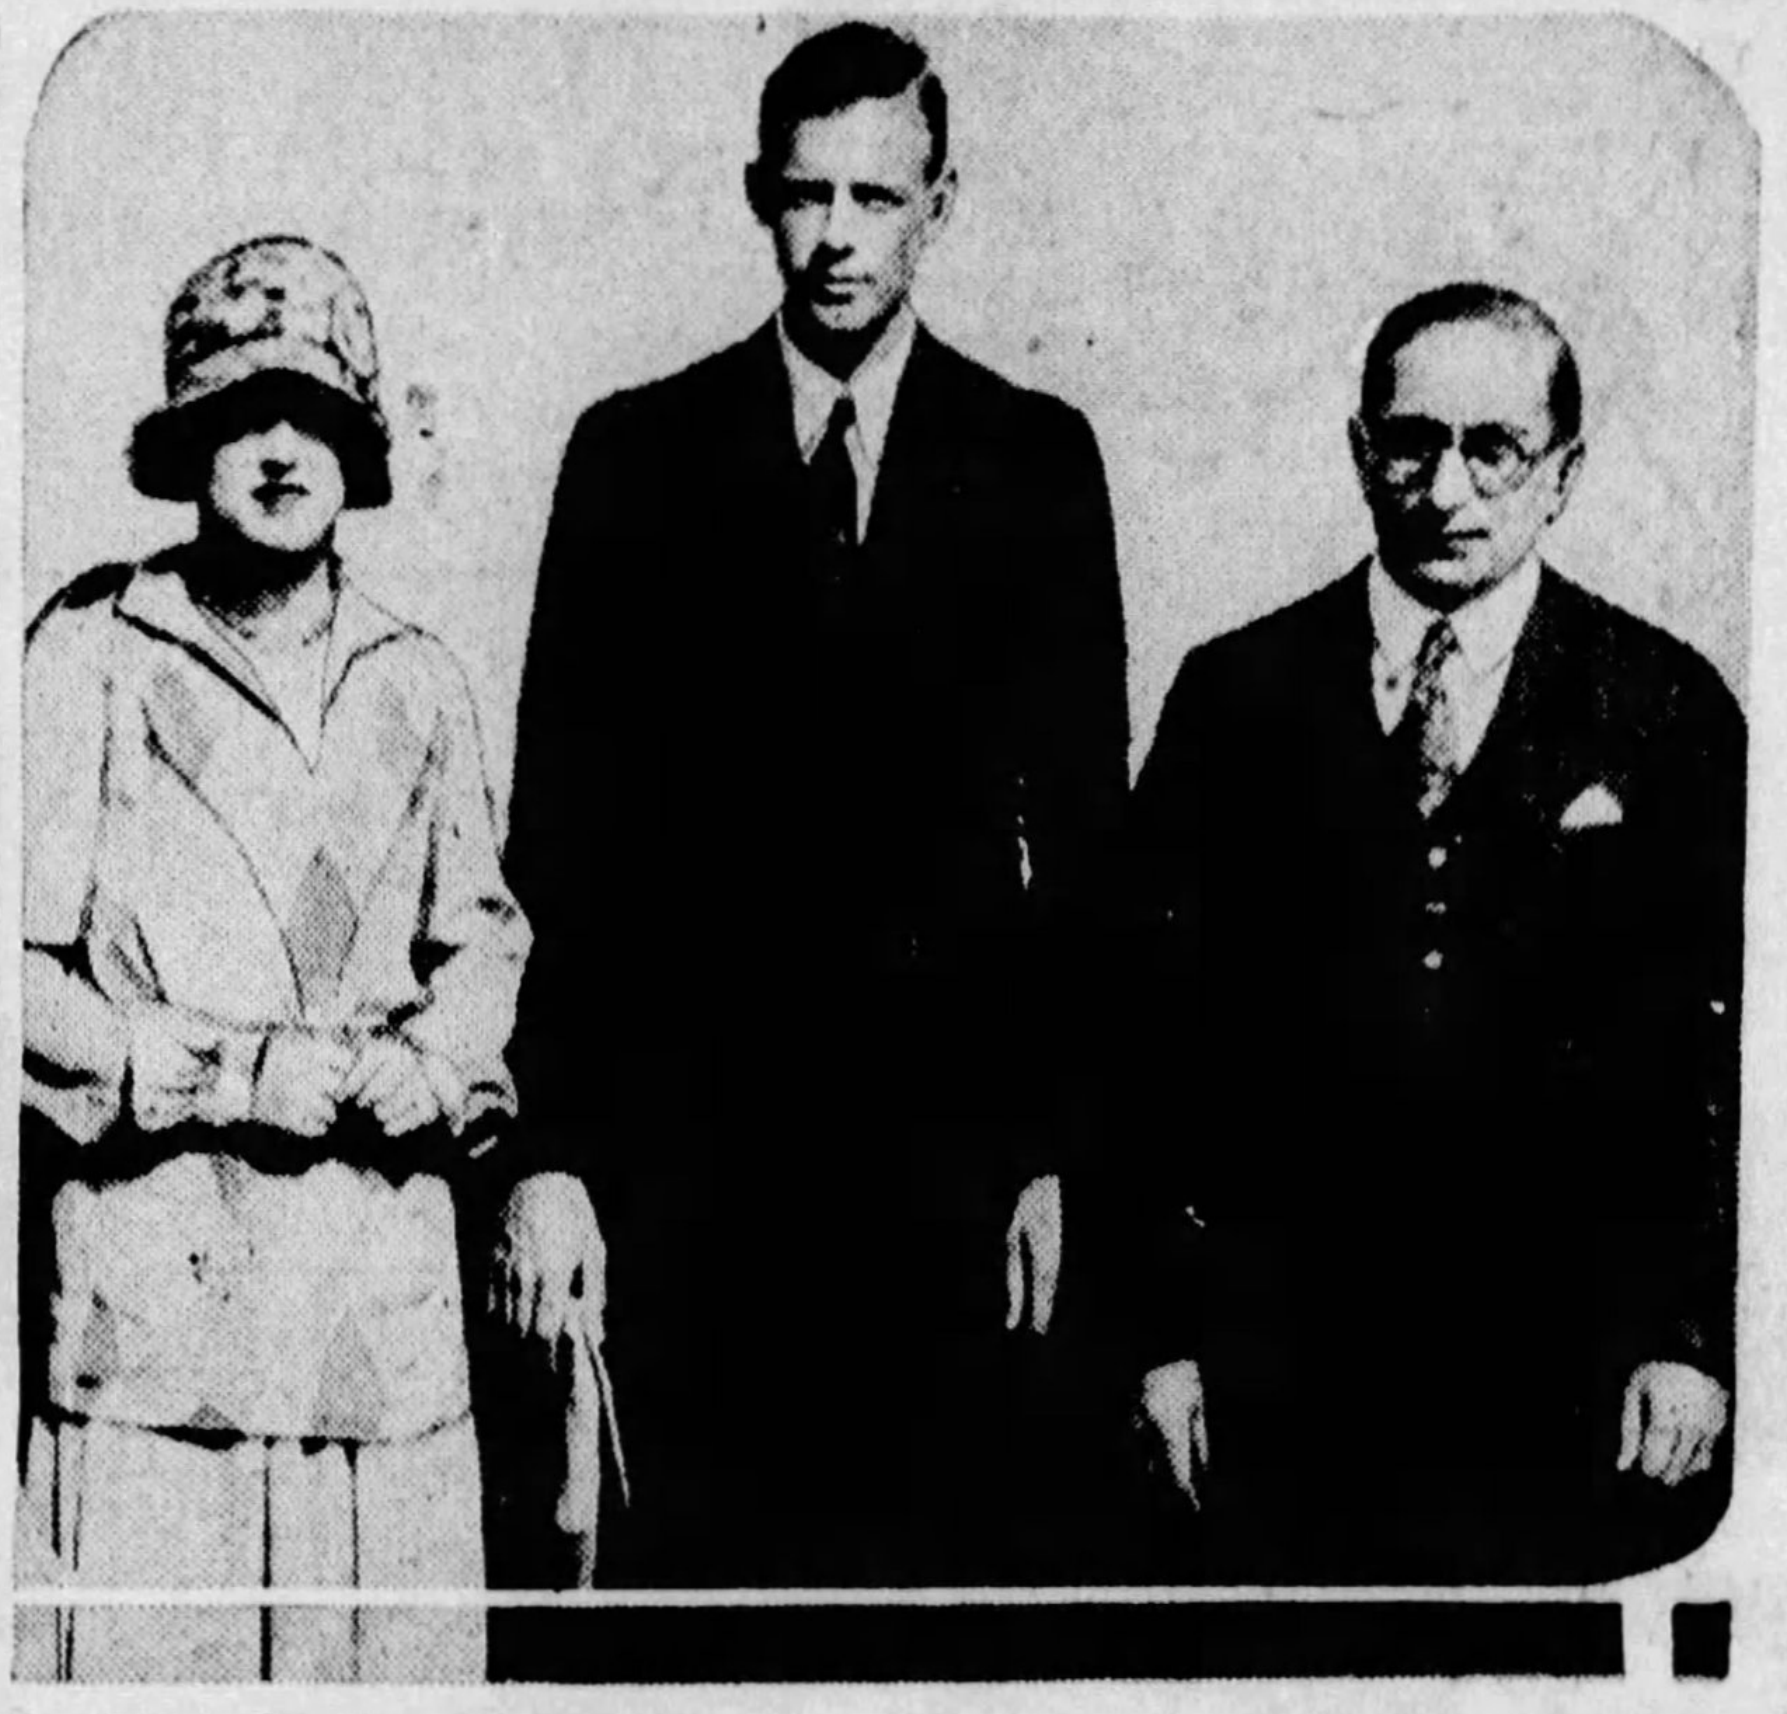
MARION DAVIES -:- HOLLYWOOD'S HAPPIEST HOSTESS -:- GREETS NOTABLES



Here Marion Davies, acclaimed Hollywood's happiest hostess, greets Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives. Sam Wood, the director, is on the left.



Senor Frederico Beltram-Masses, court painter for the King of Spain, also has found Miss Davies to be a charming hostess.



Col. Charles Lindbergh, too, was welcomed by the popular movie comedienne, whose latest picture is "Her Cardboard Lover." Louis B. Mayer, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer head, is seen with the Flying Colonel and Miss Davies.

SAYS GREATER CITY PLAN WILL DRAW BIG BUSINESS

That the Metropolitan Plan for Allegheny county, if adopted, will provide the people of this county with the finest scheme of federated city government on the American continent, was the statement of E. A. Young, a member of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, in addressing the Architects' Council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Mr. Young, a banker, made the further statement that big business throughout the United States will turn its attention to the "State of Allegheny" in a new way when it discovers that it is the fourth city of the United States with a population of 1,500,000, and not merely the eighth city with a population of 600,000. The speaker added:

"The Federal Reserve Bank would have been established in 1913 in this community instead of Cleveland if we had been able to present our claims backed up by a certified population of 1,500,000, which is the population that we shall be credited with if the Metropolitan Plan goes through.

LOSS GREAT

"The loss in commerce and industry that our community has suffered by occupying a lower rank in the census than it is entitled to is beyond calculation.

"Now, fortunately for us all, the problem has been satisfactorily solved. The pending Metropolitan Plan, as embodied in the constitutional amendment to be voted on November 4, permits the people of Allegheny county to set up a federated government to take the place of the present county government and deal with the vital county-wide functions and problems without depriving any of the 122 underlying governments of their essential rights of home rule.

They will preserve their present boundaries, officers, control of local taxation, etc., and in fact the Metropolitan amendment gives the boroughs and townships something which they do not now have, namely, constitutional protection against forcible annexation, assuring them that they will never be annexed to the city except by their own voluntary action."

CHOOSE CHARTER

Mr. Young pointed out that if the amendment is adopted by the people of the state in November it will then be the task of the Metropolitan Commission to learn from the people of the county what kind of a charter they desire for the Metropolitan government. That no charter whose provisions are not overwhelmingly approved by the people can be adopted is evident, he said, for the reason that the constitutional amendment requires the charter to be approved by the people first, by a majority of the voters of the county as a whole, and then by a two to one vote in a majority of the 122 municipalities.

Mr. Young called attention to the fact that the Metropolitan plan sets up no new tax-levying power. The Metropolitan government will take the place of the present county government and will be subject to the same constitutional limitations in regard to tax and debt limit.

Faked Drowning Almost Costs Girl Life

Lucy Smith, 11, 509 East General Robinson street, North Side, went home last night, penitent and determined never to cry "Wolf! Wolf!" again.

Lucy was rescued from a "faked" drowning by Eddie McCullough, 17, under the Ninth Street Bridge, North Side, only to tell him that she was just foolin'. She went in again.

"Help! Help!" she cried. Eddie paid no attention.

"Help!" she gulped again, this time indistinctly.

He watched, but she didn't come up. Then he dived in and found her lying on the bottom. She was apparently dead, and the morgue ambulance was summoned, but North Side police revived her after 30 minutes' work with a pulmotor. Then Eddie took her home.

CAR THROUGH BRIDGE'S RAIL, DRIVER FLEES

Uninjured when his machine crashed the railing of the Washington Crossing Bridge last midnight, an unidentified man leaped from the car and fled, abandoning the machine. With the front wheels hanging over the side of the bridge, the machine was found by Pittsburgh and Millvale police. Police will question the owner to determine whether the car was stolen.

DUCKS PUBLISHING CO. SOLD ON COURT ORDER

Attorney Harold C. Lowe obtained an order yesterday from Judge Thomas D. Carnahan of Common Pleas Court for the sale of the Ducks Publishing Company, publishers of "The Ducks," including the title name, to Charles W. Pagan for $1,500. The publication has been in the hands of a receiver.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

It may get you fired!

Employers reject those with halitosis

What kind of people do employers like to have around them? Certainly not people with halitosis (unpleasant breath). You can't blame a man for firing an employee with halitosis to hire one without it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis.

It's impossible for you to know when you are a victim. Don't take the chance. Keep yourself continually on the safe and polite side by daily rinsing the mouth with Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

Being a powerful deodorant, it ends halitosis—instantly. If you doubt its deodorizing power, rub a little onion on your hand, then apply Listerine clear. Immediately the odor is gone.

Thousands who used to be unwelcome because of halitosis are now acceptable anywhere.

GIFTS SEND MILK AND ICE FUND OVER $1,700 MARK

Past the $1,700 mark today goes the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund, with just a little over as a nest egg for the next hundred. Is this doing well? Not nearly as well as many of us would like to see and it is even $300 less than the fund totaled this time last year. To be sure this amount will help towards supporting the 300 babies and keeping them happy and satisfied and their little tummies full—for a time.

Have you ever seen a really hungry baby? Not just a baby crying for that one immediate feeding and making its discomfort and need known to a listening world. We mean a REALLY hungry baby—one that has been hungry for days, even weeks, although it may have had food in its stomach. If you have seen such a one, you know there is nothing in this world more pathetic. Hollow-eyed, emaciated, almost repugnant, wailing travesty of a human being—truly a sight to touch the sympathies of the hardest hearted. Nearly every baby that comes under the care of the Pittsburgh Milk and Ice Association might be so described. But not for long. Even a day or two shows a marked change and by a week one almost believes in miracles, so great is the difference in appearance. The right kind of food and the right kind of care is all that a baby asks in this world. This is what the association is giving its 300 babies, but it can not continue without your help. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Fund will be glad to take care of your gift.

The fund today:

DEMONSTRATORS OF WASHING MACHINES SAY

"Clothes wash whiter —with this safe hard-water soap"

THEY know! They must know how to get the whitest, cleanest wash possible. Quickly. Safely. The very sale of their washing machines depends upon it.

That's why demonstrators of washing machines everywhere—32,000 of them!—use Rinso, the granulated, hard-water soap. No time to stop for boiling. No time to bother with powders and softeners.

They know that Rinso alone brings clothes from the washer gleaming and snowy—shows their washers at their best. And of course they urge customers to use Rinso always—because they know that with Rinso their washing machines will give "the whitest wash ever"—every washday.

Try Rinso next washday. Even in the hardest water, it's all you need—no bar soaps, chips, powders or softeners.

You never saw such suds!

See the suds, so thick and creamy! Soft suds that last and last. Soapy suds that loosen dirt and stains, so gently.

Watch clothes come from the washer bright and sparkling! Even cuffs, hems and edges come spotless with little or no rubbing. It's a joy to see these whiter washes!

No wonder demonstrators use Rinso! No wonder the makers of 34 leading washers urge women to use this granulated hard-water soap for safety and for a whiter wash!

And Rinso is safe—contains nothing to harm your very finest cottons or linens.

Get the BIG Package f Rinso now. Just feel how heavy it is! You get your full money's worth when you buy this granulated soap—it's so compact. For best results, follow the easy directions.

For tub washing, too

For those who do the week's wash by hand, Rinso is a marvelous work-saver. Actually soaks clothes whiter than they can be scrubbed. Saves the clothes—and your hands, too.

Be sure to ask your grocer for Rinso, the famous granulated hard-water soap.

Guaranteed by the makers of LUX
Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Weddings This Fall Scheduled to Start Early

WOMEN'S CLUB TO HEAR SMITH

MRS. CARROLL MILLER

Mrs. Carroll Miller is a member of the reception committee for the dinner to be given tonight by the Alfred E. Smith Women's Democratic Club.

MRS. WALTER LONG

Mrs. Walter K. Long has also been appointed a member of the reception committee for the dinner which will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Fall Weddings to Start Early; One Set for Sept. 1

ONCE upon a time, long, long ago, a fashionable wedding and June were synonomous, but now such an event may have associations with fall or Easter time! Well, really, one can expect a wedding of importance socially to take place any time except in July or August. And come to think of it, there are exceptions even to this, for Helene Hostetter and John Stevenson Griffith were married in Pasadena on July 25. But the climate is a little gentler in July in California than in Pennsylvania. Sometimes there are weddings at summer homes, too, during these warm summer months, but they are really rather rare.

This fall, weddings are going to start early, with one planned for the very first day of September—that of Laura Gardner Provost, daughter of the George Watson Provosts, of Beacon street, you'll recall. She will marry Oliver Bontwell Merrill, Jr., son of the Oliver B. Merrills, of Summit, N. J., on that day.

The wedding will be quite small, we've been told, with just the relatives and a few close family friends attending. The ceremony, by the way, will be at 4:30 o'clock.

Laura is going to have just one attendant, as we told you before—her sister, Harriet Louise. Lyall Merrill, of Summit, N. J., brother of the bridegroom, will be best man. The ushers will be Earl Merrill, another brother of the bridegroom; George Watson Provost, Jr., Laura's brother; Rome Betts, of Montclair, N. J.; Charles John Evans, Jr., of Lancaster, and Charles Kyle, of New York City.

AND now another all-debutante and debutante-only entertainment is planned. The buds are going to have plenty of opportunity to discuss their experiences, it appears.

Miss Margaret Farrell, of the Cathedral Mansions, will give them another opportunity when she will entertain the girls coming out this season at a luncheon on November 8 in the Hotel Schenley. The "bud of honor" will be Katherine McKibbin Schley, granddaughter of Mrs. Chambers McKibbin, of the Schenley Apartments. Katherine, the daughter of Charles Schley, will make her bow on the day before this luncheon at a tea dance, you know, to be given by her grandmother.

DOWN at White Sulphur Springs, Mrs. George Crawford, who last week was guest of honor at a dinner marking her first wedding anniversary, alternates being entertained with entertaining, it would seem. She and her mother, Mrs. Robert N. Warmack, gave a luncheon on Tuesday.

* * *

MRS. CHAUNCEY OLCOTT gave a garden party recently at Saratoga Springs and among the guests were seen James Barlow Cullum and Mollie P. Cullum.

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM MACLAY HALL, of Devonshire street, is out of the city just now. We've been told she is spending a few days at Westfield, N. Y., and will be back the end of the week.

* * *

DOWN in Sewickley the few stay-at-homes are entertaining, now that there is a suggestion of coolness in the zephyrs. Mrs. Frank B. Hufnagel is entertaining in her home this afternoon in honor of Mrs. John Gilbert, of Harrisburg, the house guest of Mrs. Robert Keeney.

And Mrs. Marcus Woodward Stoner gave a small luncheon yesterday at the Allegheny Country Club.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Claramae Price, daughter of Mrs. Joseph R. Bradley, of Carrick avenue, and Dr. George Kirch, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirch, of Denniston avenue, East End, which took place Saturday. The ceremony was performed in the study of the Concord Presbyterian Church by the Rev. C. H. Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Kirch are making a western tour, which will include Yellowstone Park.

MISS DOROTHY DALE FRY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McKain Fry, of Burgess street, and Walter Edward Noss were married August 15, in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. L. Wishart, of Washington, Pa. Miss Ethel Baker was maid of honor, and Howard N. Fry, of Bellevue, was best man. Following a motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Noss will reside on the North Side.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE M. MEANOR, of Cheswick, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marion Elizabeth Meanor, to E. Bruce Anderson, of Dormont, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Anderson. Their marriage will take place September 15.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. REX L. NEWLANDS, of Edgewood, accompanied by their son, Douglass, have been the house guests of their daughter, Mrs. Harold F. Latham, of White Plains, N. Y., for the last two weeks.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN O. LOCKE, of Sylvania avenue, gave a family dinner Sunday in celebration of the eighty-seventh birthday anniversary of Mr. Locke's mother, Mrs. C. E. Locke, of South St. Clair street, East End.

MONDAY CLUB TO HAVE PROGRAM OF VARIETY

"MISCELLANEOUS, with now and then a lecture" is the crisply expressive way the Monday Club of Carnegie announces its subjects for next season. The speakers are to be Mrs. John O. Miller, state chairman of the League of Women Voters; Miss Sara M. Soffel, Pittsburgh attorney; Miss Elva L. Bascom, of Carnegie Library and Elmer Kenyon, president of the Pittsburgh Center of the Drama League. The club will have two meetings before president's day, which is set for October 22, with Miss Soffel speaking. The business meeting is the opening session on September 24 and the next meeting, that of October 8, will be adressed by Mrs. Miller and will be held in the First Presbyterian Church. To it have been invited members of the Carnegie Woman's Club, the Rosslyn Farms Women's Club and those on the waiting list of the Monday Club.

Included in the subjects which will be given in papers by the members are "Health Fads," "New Methods of Combating Disease," "Prolonging Life by Diet," "Germany of the Present," "What's New in the World?" "Visitors to the North Pole," "Byrd's Antarctic Expedition," "Our Lindbergh," "Russia," "Italy," "The Pros and Cons of Prohibition," "The Moral Aftermath of War," "House and Garden," "Our Neighbors in the South," "Texas and Arizona," "A Worthwhile Vacation in Pennsylvania."

The annual luncheon is set for April 29 and the season is to close June 10. There will, of course, be the annual Memorial Day dinner for the G. A. R.

* * *

THE Rev. R. R. Griffiths, pastor of the California Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, will conduct services next Sunday evening under the auspices of the Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward. The services have been held each Sunday evening during the summer on the lawn of the Brighton Road Presbyterian

Reduce Quickly This New Way

You Can Now Take Fat Off Any Part of Your Body in a Few Day's Time Without Taking Any Medicine, Starving Yourself or Going Through Violent Exercise.

"I have taken two and one half inches off my hips, one inch off my waist and one inch off my neck and have experienced a remarkable improvement in physical well-being."—Nellie Hartsoe, 334 East 42nd St., N. Y. C.

SINCE the discovery of infiltrating oxygen reducing cream an enormous number of women whose appearance was spoiled by excess fat, have regained youthful, slender lines. Why permit unsightly fat to add years to your looks, to bar you from wearing the latest beautiful things, to make you less attractive in a bathing suit or dance frock. With this remarkable new scientific discovery it is now possible to reduce exactly where you want to reduce—easily—quickly—safely.

Viaderma is a colloidal, infiltrating cream containing double oxygen. It is golden brown in color, and when rubbed on any part of the body disappears at once, leaving a clean white foam. You don't have to guess—you see it vanish before your very eyes, proving how it is absorbed and penetrates right into the fat layers, where the oxygen (like the oxygen in the air you breathe) gradually melts away excess fat.

As Viaderma filters through the skin and into the fat layers it immediately begins to give off pure oxygen. This oxygen combines with and disposes of fat in exactly the same natural manner as in exercise. When you exercise you take fast, deep breaths, absorbing increased oxygen into your blood. This oxygen is the means whereby the fat is disintegrated. With Viaderma you accomplish the same, and even more desirable results, for you limit the action to chin, neck, bust, hips, legs or wherever you wish.

So safe is Viaderma that it has received the approval of doctors and chemists who oppose all other methods of quick fat reduction. Get Viaderma today at all May's Drug Stores.

The Prince of Wales — His Story.

Old Regime of Royalty Goes And Edward Is Prepared For Naval College

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

His Royal Highness, Edward, Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, was born at White Lodge, Richmond, in Midsummer of 1894, the son of the Duchess and Duke of York, now King George V. It was in the early days of Queen Victoria's fifty-eighth year of sovereignty, and the first time in history that a queen could look upon a son, grandson and great-grandson, all in the direct line of succession to her throne. Edward was quite young when Queen Victoria died, but sensed a great loss. He was guilty of much mischief during his boyhood days and was often punished.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Edward P."

By WALTER and LEONARD TOWNSEND.

PRINCE OF WALES

PARENTAL chastisement, however, was never administered merely because of the breaking of some point of Royal etiquette, for the Duke and Duchess of York brought up their family in an atmosphere of remarkable simplicity, observing all that was best and most suitable in the traditions of English family life. "David" was expected to conduct himself the same as would the scion of any well-bred family, and so was not debarred from participation in games, sports and adventures, which would have appeared at some Continental Courts to be "too democratic."

From his earliest days he and his brother, Albert, fished, climbed, palyed "one wicket cricket," and took swimming lessons.

So far, the Prince's education had been entrusted to Madame Bricka, the Governess companion of his own mother, the late Mr. H. G. Hua, French tutor (of Eton), and Mr. Cecil J. Sharp, the famous expert in folklore, song and dancing, who ably undertook his social education and assisted as a coach in games.

(It is interesting to know that in 1928 "Cecil Sharp" Fund was inaugurated to provide a national headquarters for the folk music, country dances, and other traditional arts of the English people.)

"David" was only allowed one servant, Mr. Frederick Finch, who acted as a valet and who, later, became His Royal Highness's "batman" in France during the great war. Today Mr. Finch is Steward of York House, The Prince of Wales' London residence.

Watched by Father

King George has been given too little credit for the part he played in forming the character of the Prince of Wales. He paid the closest attention to the way in which his eldest son acquitted himself in this elementary schooling, but did not use the lever of reminding the young boy of his position to enforce a strict attention to his lessons.

Little news of the great outside world entered the happy life which the Prince and his sister and brothers were enjoying until the news came round the "nursery" that King Edward, their grandfather, was to be crowned King of England. The governess had already instructed her royal charges in the elements of the British Constitution, but when the actual coronation ceremony drew near, the children were all excitement.

Prince Edward was at this time "cautioned" as to his important future position and his remarks, shortly afterwards, to Princess Mary, as he surveyed the mechanical railway, out of which he had extracted many interesting and happy hours at Marlborough House, were somewhat lugubrious. It seemed as though, for the first time, "David" was realizing already the barrier which the state was merging faintly between himself and his younger brother, Albert. Princess Mary, as the only Princess in the family, herself, held a unique position, and this tie drew brother and sister even closer together.

King Suffers Illness

In the midst of preparations for the coronation, King Edward fell seriously ill and, for a while, a shadow cast its gloom upon the children.

"David" was jubilant when he was told that the King was quite well again. He had a wholesome admiration for his illustrious grandfather—"Grandfather Marlborough," as he called him because his earliest memories of the King—then Prince of Wales—were gained at Marlborough House.

At 7 years of age David had many endearing ways, but at the present not all of them were calculated to give peace-of-mind to his parents. He was affectionate and mischievous and often pretended a fine score for the girlish Mary. But the Princess detected this boyish pose, and it secretly amused her. She would do anything for her brother, from darning surreptitiously a hole in his stocking made by climbing, to mending his broken fishing net.

"David" and his sister were occasionally present together at public functions though their parents did not believe in young people taking part in public ceremonies. Only when state etiquette necessarily demanded were they present. Though they realized the gravity needed on such occasions, the Prince and his sister would often pass whispered remarks to relieve the tedium of their ordeal.

Princess Mary restrained her vivacious brother on more than one occasion, as when he hid the helmet of an equerry about to escort the Duke and Duchess of York to a public affair. The duke and duchess were already seated in the carriage before the unfortunate official discovered his loss and the royal carriage was kept waiting while he sought for his helmet. It was Princess Mary who detected a wicked twinkle in her brother's eye and succeeded in getting him to divulge where he had hidden the missing hat. Then she herself retrieved it and gave it to the worried equerry.

New Regime Different

Self-discipline in his habits formed the foundation of the young prince's healthy life. He rose not later than 7 o'clock and underwent a series of exercises in the open air under the supervision of Mr. Sharp. Breakfast was taken with his brother Albert and occasionally with his mother.

At periodical times David dined with his parents or with King Edward and Queen Alexandra; it was necessary that he should learn to conduct himself on for-

ONE of Pittsburgh's best-known younger attorneys was buried yesterday. William C. Jacob, assistant county solicitor, was on the threshold of a brilliant career when his work was stopped by death. His funeral yesterday was attended by many prominent public officials. One friend paid a last tribute by flying over Bill Jacob's funeral cortege. He and Bill were together at Kelly Field in the war days when Bill was an instructor in the aviation branch of the service. Flowers were scattered from the airplane onto the vault. Bill Jacob will be remembered as a fine citizen, a good soldier, and a friend of many.

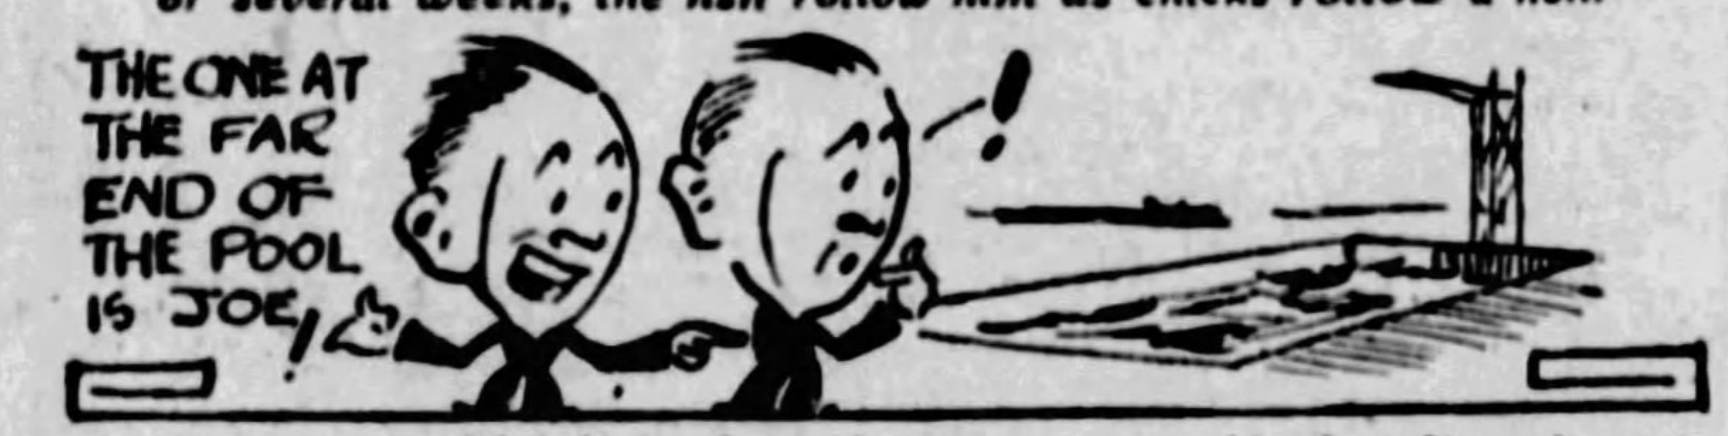
From near Greensburg comes a strange fish story. A man in that vicinity stocked his swimming pool with 24 blue gills. At regular intervals he fed them. They say now, at the end of several weeks, the fish follow him as chicks follow a hen.



THE ONE AT THE FAR END OF THE POOL IS JOE!

The story adds that when the man moves his hand to the right the fish move to the right, and when he moves his hand to the left the fish obey that command. It's pretty hard to believe, but you remember they used to think people who said the earth was round were crazy, too.

FRANK GRUNAGLE, who is vacationing at Vermillion, O., sends back word of a bridge game he played in last Friday night. "The cards were shuffled and cut," writes Frank, "and dealt in the regulation way, one at a time. In the game were my wife, Mrs. Walter Sanborn, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Clark Fullerton, of Cleveland, O. I was the dealer.

"I bid one spade. The lady to my right passed, my partner bid two diamonds and my wife bid two no trump. The bidding continued and got up to five spades, which was topped by five no trump. My wife laid down a perfect no trump hand. Clubs, ace, king, queen, jack and ten; hearts and diamonds, ace, king and queen, and spades, ace and king. I held 10 spades, queen high. My partner had eight diamonds.

"Just on general principle I doubled the five no trumper, but my wife was so excited over the perfect hand that she neglected to redouble."

Just an old-fashioned country hand, that was, to be sure. That's a bomb-proof mitt. No matter how you'd play that you'd make a grand slam, with just 100 aces hanging on. Let's see now—at about five cents a point—but what's the use of day-dreaming?

In a spirit of clean fun a Wilkinsburg client writes in: "Just a line to notify you that you've got the public wondering again. When they found how fine the paper was while you were vacationing why didn't the boss shift you to the obituary column when you returned?"

Well, there have been worse ideas than that one.

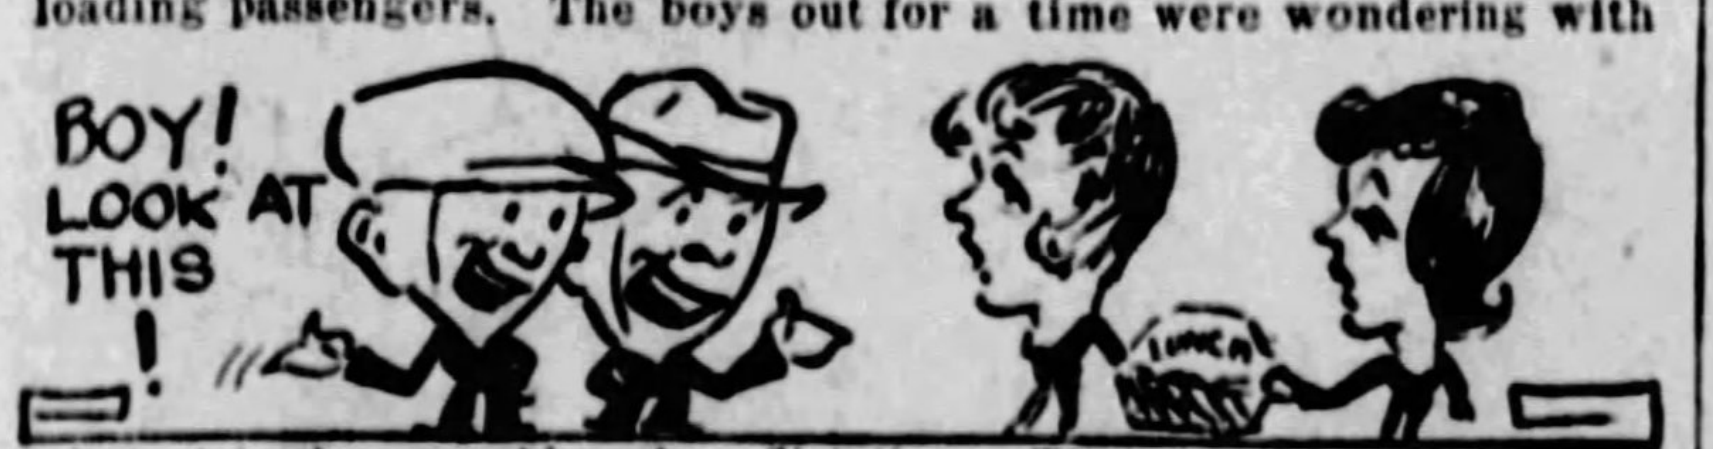
THERE may be a valuable hint to young ladies seeking boy friends in the following scene presented on the local wharf when one of our pleasure boats, known as the Homer Smith, was loading passengers. The boys out for a time were wondering with what girls they would seek a flirtation. Their problem was solved when two young ladies practically staggered onto the boat, owing to the weight of an ample lunch-basket. "Let's speak to these two," said one of the boys, "I never saw such a large lunch basket before."



Many a man has taken the count in the matrimonial ring under the same sort of a punch. The name for the blow, that is in ring parlance, is: One in the bread basket.

AFTER "GAY PARTY"

FALLS FROM WINDOW

A two-story fall from a Bayard street apartment today sent William Kennedy, of Oakmont, said to be an aviator, to the Homeopathic Hospital in critical condition from a fractured skull. Police said Kennedy had been drinking at a rather gay party. (Cross indicates the cement walk Kennedy's head struck).

FORUM ON TOWNHALL OPENED HERE

An open forum on the town hall site to be held this afternoon by the County Commissioners promises to be one of the most enthusiastic gatherings held here recently.

This has been forecast by mail and telephone replies to Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong's invitation last week to citizens to make suggestions.

The three commissioners, Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern, will sit this afternoon in the conference room to hear suggestions of those interested and there is every indication that a large crowd will attend.

Among the suggestions mailed was one from J. Rogers Flannery, in which he pointed out the advantages of an Oakland site. To place the building in the center of the civic and educational institutions now in the Oakland district would make that section the art center of Western Pennsylvania, he says. Persons coming into the city to attend conventions or other meetings would then know Pittsburgh for more than its industry.

Francis S. Guthrie, nephew of former Mayor George W. Guthrie, suggests the property at Tenth street and Duquesne way, with an area of 170,000 square feet.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

He stresses the transportation facilities which make this site suitable, together with its close proximity to hotels.

Albert A. Murrer, realtor, suggests a site at the Boulevard of the Allies and Liberty Bridge, and is backed by James Muldoon, of 1 Brewery street.

The Retail Merchants' Association making no suggestions as to location, recommends a site be selected which would be of benefit to the entire county.

A Citizen, Voter and Taxpayer suggests Schenley Park opposite the Phipps Conservatory, and William Houch, 57 Flowers avenue, Bellevue, would use the old North Side City Hall and Ober Park property.

The County Planning Commission will attend the meeting this afternoon to listen to the suggestions which are made.

B'way Rum War Up to Tuttle

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The prosecution of the New York night club cases will be left in the hands of Charles H. Tuttle, Federal district attorney in New York, it was declared at the Justice Department today.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, who was reported responsible for instituting the drive against liquor selling in the clubs, will act in a supervisory capacity but does not plan to go to New York to assume personal direction of the prosecutions.

Department officials declared there was no "break" between Mrs. Willebrandt and Tuttle over the procedure. Tuttle stopped the examination by the grand jury of prominent witnesses called in the investigation. Mrs. Willebrandt was reported as being displeased with the publicity attending the cases, believing that it might interfere with the successful completion of them. She insisted Tuttle knew of the plans to summon additional witnesses before the grand jury.

Miss Tex Guinan, Helen Morgan and more than 100 other night club hostesses, owners, and employes were subpenaed as a result of the drive to clean up the clubs.

ROGERS' AID TO FRIEND COSTS HIM $500,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Will Rogers, flying cowboy humorist, has come to the aid of another aviator—Fred Stone—at the cost of some $500,000 to himself.

Stone was crippled in an airplane crash just when he was to go into rehearsals for a new musical comedy show starring him and his daughter, Dorothy. Rogers offered to take his friend's place. Charles Dillingham, producer of the yet untitled show, accepted the offer.

Rogers will lose close to $500,000 in canceled motion picture, feature writing and personal appearance contracts, Dillingham said.

Rogers telegraphed Stone:

"If you don't want Dorothy to wait until you are entirely recovered, I will go into the show with her, just to sort of plug along till you are able to rejoin, and I will do the best I can with your part. Dorothy can keep telling me how you would have played it.

"Dorothy, of course, would be the star, and I don't want any billing. Anything you, Dorothy and Dillingham say goes with me."

The show opens October 1.

ASKS $25,000 FOR WIFE

Valuing the affections of his wife at $25,000, Curtis E. Davis, of Maple avenue, Wilmerding, this morning filed suit alleging alienation of affections for that amount against Herman Smith, of Wilbur avenue, Turtle Creek. In the bill of particulars Davis charged that his wife, Mrs. Klina Davis, and Smith were meeting frequently and that Smith was furnishing Mrs. Davis with money to enter divorce proceedings.

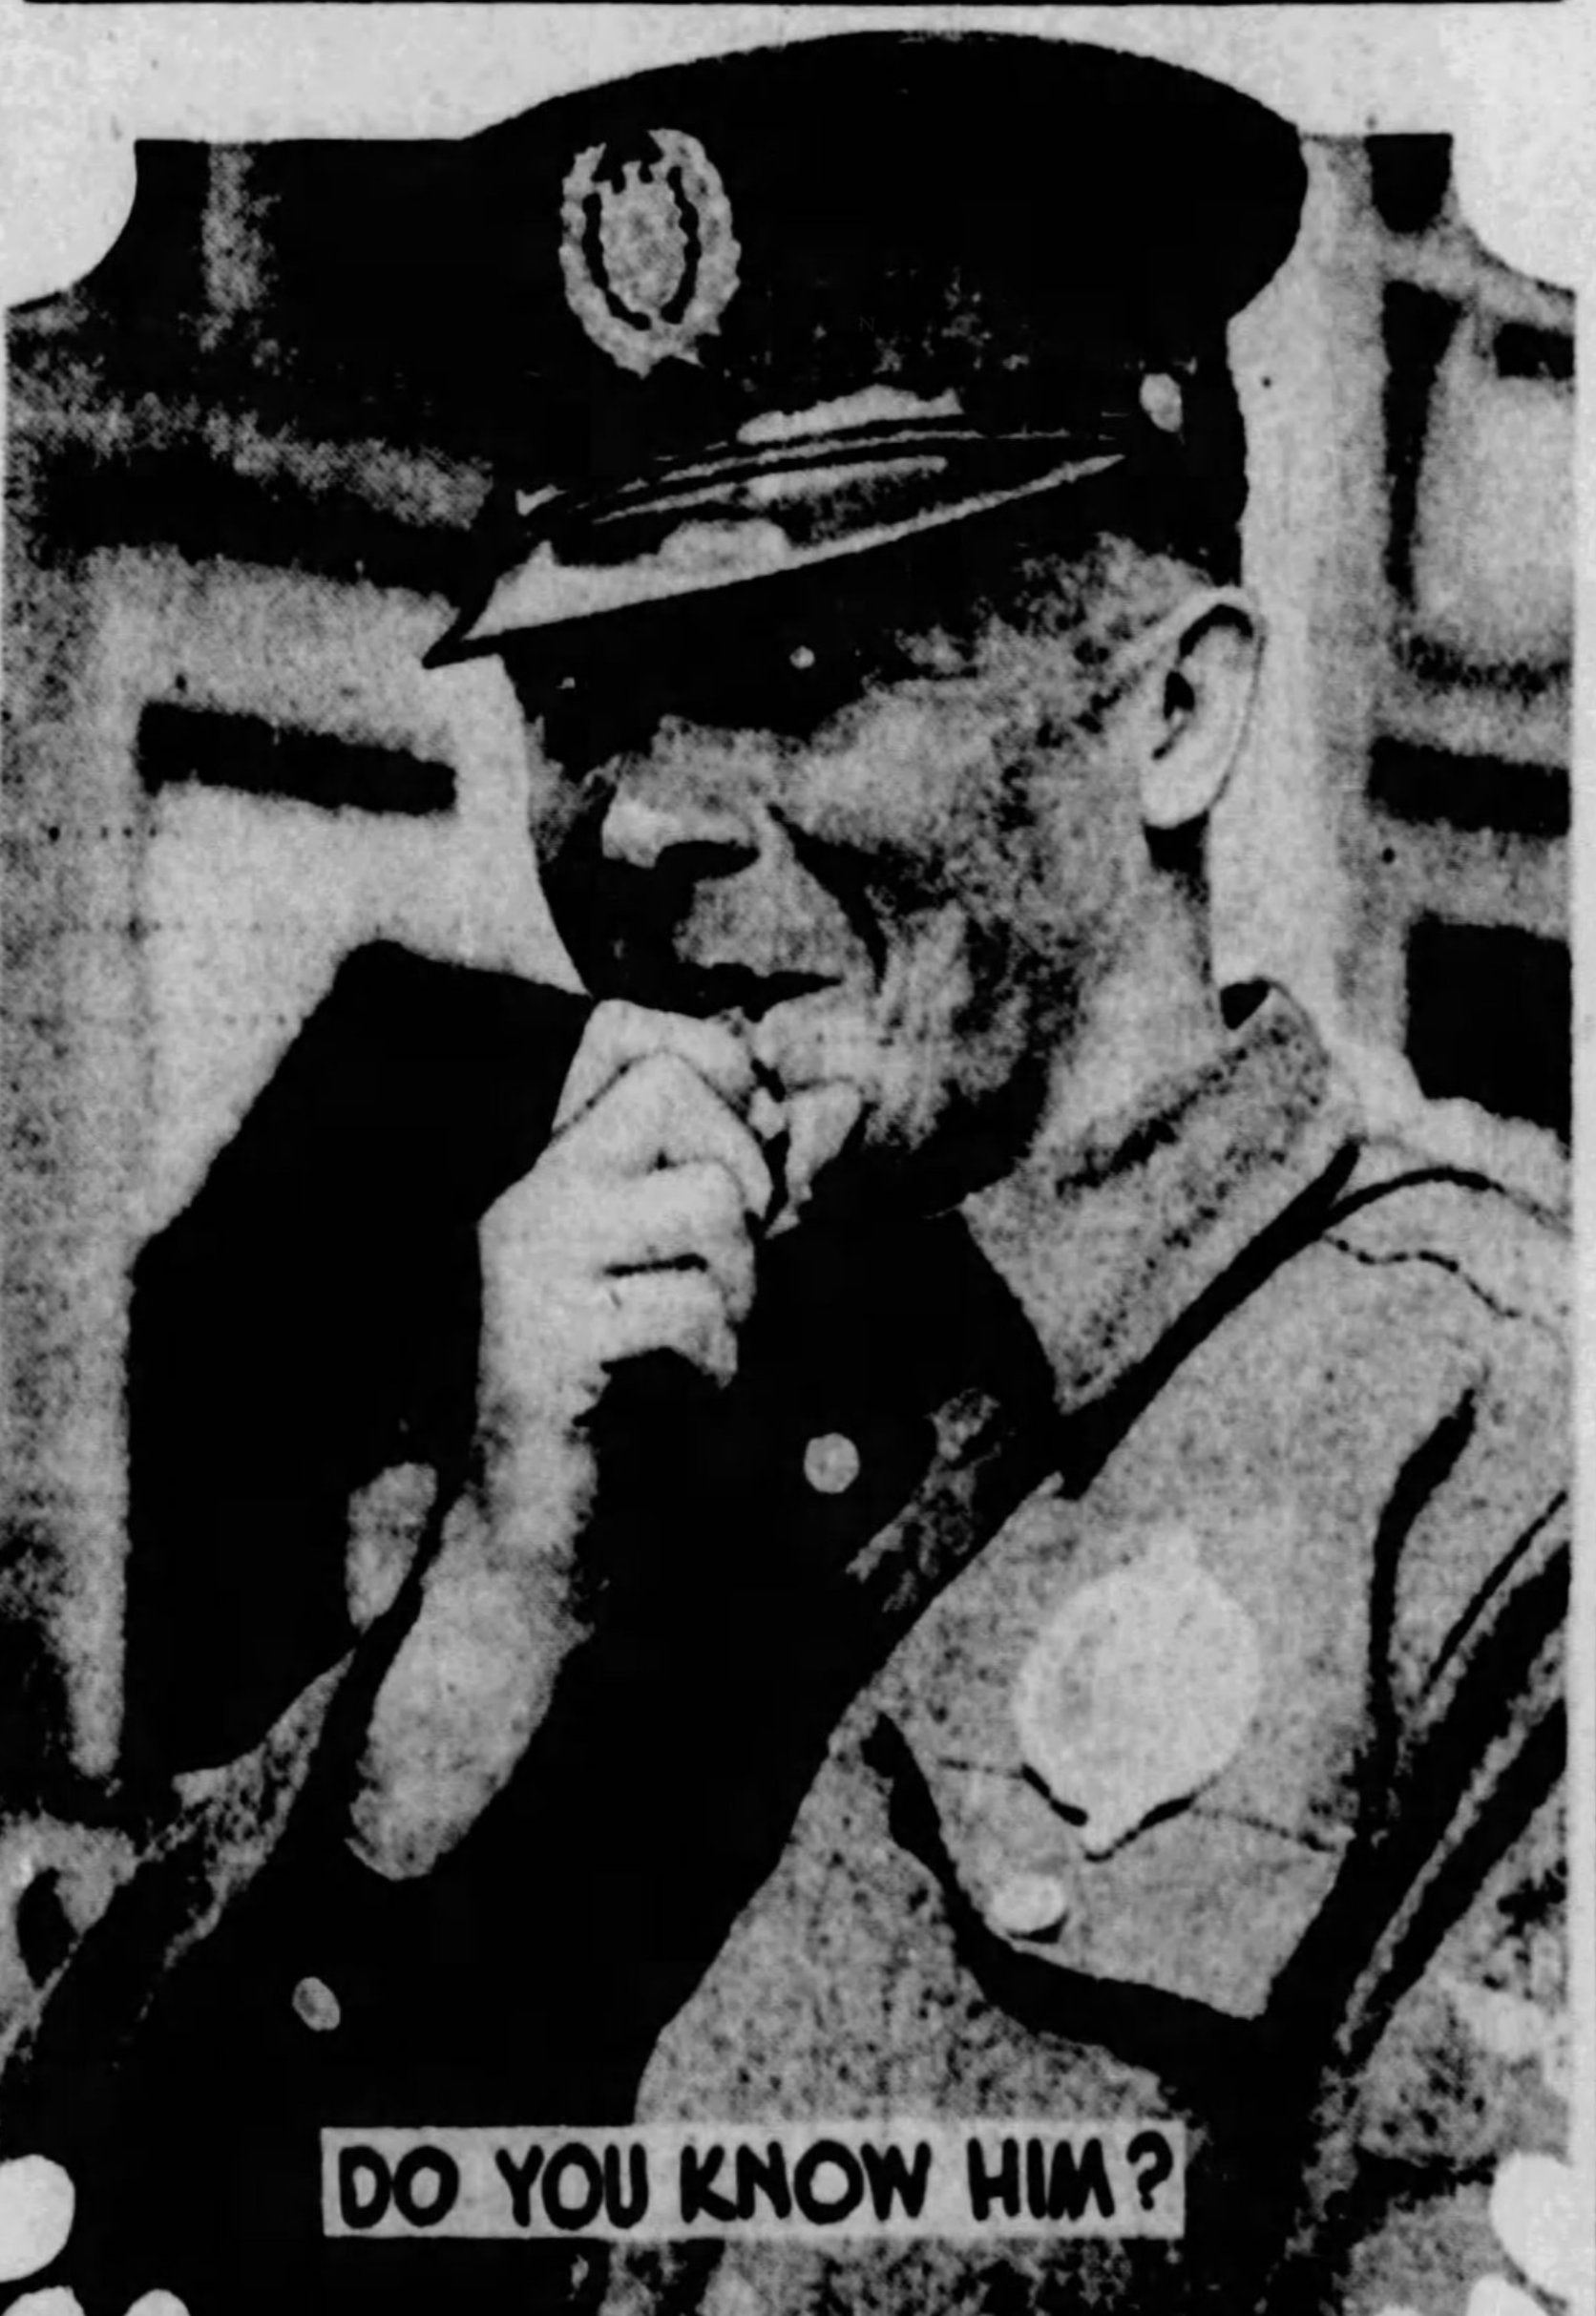
MAGEE STREET HOUSE IS RAIDED BY POLICE

Irene Murray, 35, of 19 Magee street, was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, along with two women and three men, in a police raid late yesterday. Sam Mafredi, 31, was nabbed in a raid on a store at 47 Fullerton street, where 60 half pints of moonshine were reported confiscated.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR OWN "TRAFFIC COP?"



DO YOU KNOW HIM?

RECOGNIZE HIM?

Honestly, now, if you were asked, could you tell the name of the traffic patrolman on your corner, the one who speaks to you when you pass by? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, if you can't, will help you a bit. Each day there is published the photograph of one of the city's traffic officers. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS JOHN MAHAVEN, UNMARRIED, OF 615 CARSON STREET. HIS CORNER IS CENTER AND HIGHLAND AVENUES. HE HAS BEEN WITH THE TRAFFIC SQUAD FOR TWO YEARS.

BOY STRUCK BY AUTO DIES

Harry A. Miller, 10, of R. F. D. No. 3 Tarentum, died this morning in the Allegheny Valley Hospital of a fractured skull received Tuesday morning when struck by an automobile said to have been driven by H. F. Keller, of 130 East Eighth street, Tarentum, on the Freeport road near Creighton. Keller was released under $1,000 bond pending an inquest.

FOUR DIE TRYING TO SAVE FIFTH FROM LIVE WIRE

PROENIX, Ariz., Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Five persons were electrocuted here last night when they stumbled across a bare 2,300-volt high power line blown to the ground during a terrific windstorm about midnight.

Three of the victims, Richard Miller, his wife and a son, were killed instantly. Two others, Miller's son, Wesley, and a neighbor, Carl Meeks, died attempting to rescue the three.

Miller stepped on the wire while en route to work. His screams brought his wife and a son to his aid. Both died when they came in contact with the wire. Wesley, another son, escaped from the wire once, and his shouting attracted Meeks. The two returned and attempted to drag the bodies loose, both being killed in the attempt.

Will Rogers Says

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 22.

Say, wasn't that some trip Goebel made. Good thing he did not fly across Texas or he couldn't have made that time.

I tell you, when you read about those fellows doing things like that it kinder offsets what politicians are promising to do.

I see where Smith has answered White, the newspaper editor, and told the preacher to get back to his collections.

Now he is acting more like his old self.

During all these notifications I wonder if they are not going to notify Heflin that Smith has been nominated.

HALF WIVES

Can a Woman Hold Down a Position and Run a Home Properly?

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar, a music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, whom she later marries. She is always holding up as a model Ione's married sister, Jenepher, who has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimer's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley, where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione falls in love with Alan Blake, an accompanist, and they plan to be married as soon as Blake can support her. She is inclined to be jealous of Fluff Harwick, a new girl in the office. She feels that Jenepher is proving that a wife cannot hold down a job and run a household and do both successfully. She tries to be nice to Fluff, but the latter repulses her and she has her first quarrel with Blake on account of her. At Marie's house for dinner they learn all about a 50-50 marriage. Benz makes further plans to advance Ione. He tells her jobs are not handed out through friendship but ability. Alan is made branch manager for his firm and gets a raise. He urges Ione to marry him at once.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVII.

THEY were to be married as soon as Ione could get ready. "In a couple of days," Alan contended, with his widest grin.

"Indeed, sir! Might as well elope!" But the bride-to-be was all one rosy, tingling blush. She thought his impatience truly thrilling. It was a captivating thing to be wanted so.

"And I've got to give the office some notice; two weeks would be only fair."

His smile became ever so faintly edged. "You're still thinking of the office? I supposed you were willing to give all that up?"

"Why, of course, Lanny! But I can't just walk out. They'll want a chance to get someone for my place."

"Oh!" waving airily. "Easy enough. Town is full of girls looking for jobs."

All the resentment he had called up the last time they discussed her work came stabbing back. That was the way he felt about it; her work was of slight importance after all; almost anybody could step in and do it.

She looked down at her ring then; the gem seemed to glow with a pure, holy light. "Blue for truth," Alan said. Sweet! Whatever she was to give up she would have that; the truth of a high, joyous love.

Benz saw her radiance; he followed her glance to the ring. She turned away, but not before she had seen a grayness on his face.

He went to the studios and did not return till noon. But then he came in swinging his shoulders with the old, jaunty smile. He said, "Lunch, Ione?"

"I'd love it, Eddie." Very casual she was, glad that he was making it so easy.

Benz sat down beside her on the bench that ran along the wall, first moving a vase of flowers from between them. "Now," he said, "tell an old fellow, little Io. It's young Blake, I suppose?"

"What a dear you are, Eddie! You guessed a long while ago, didn't you? It breaks my heart to leave the job."

"Why leave then? The place is open as long as you want it."

"But you see—well, Alan wouldn't like it. It's ever so nice of you, but he thinks a married woman should stay home—"

She fancied his smile a little mocking. "And what do you think?"

"Oh, I expect he's right. Home is a woman's real duty, isn't it?"

"Maybe. Better think it over, my dear. We'll hold off about the little private office. You wanted to leave soon? It's all right; I'll look after your work."

She gave him a half-frightened smile. He went on: "You know how much I wish you happiness, Ione. Always. Does your promise still stand?"

"Why, I don't remember—"

"Ah, so soon! We were always to be friends. You've forgotten that? Not going back on it, are you?"

"Of course I'm not!" she reached out, impulsively, and put her small hand on his. He caught up her fingers, crushing them together. "I'll not go back on that, Eddie, and I'm sure you won't."

Papa Weimar sent for her in the afternoon. She felt very little and young before his fat, kind face, the great bottle of dyspepsia tablets he kept shaking up and down.

"I hear you will take a vacation, Fraulein?"

"Oh, not a vacation, Mr. Weimar. I'm going to be married."

"And does that, too, just happen?" His laugh rumbled and she joined in, ill at ease. "You are a good girl; you have business sense. When you come back——"

"But I'm not coming back. I'm going to keep house."

"So? We will see."

She went away feeling again her irritation with Alan. They all praised her work and wanted her here. They thought her of some consequence, even if he didn't!

They had set the wedding day for the third week in April and Ione now wished to have such an uneventful marriage as Marie's had been. A little blue suit—shiny pumps with buckles—a small, plain hat and Alan's flowers. All very simple and very solemn.

But Jenepher interfered. "It's your bright day, Io, and it never comes again. Take all the beauty it can give or you'll regret it through your whole life. A bride should wear white satin, if she never wears it before or afterward. And you'll feel so much more married if it's in a church, dear."

There would be no elaborate party; only Jenepher to stand with her sister and a friend of Alan's, Spooks Hill, would come up from the city to be his best man.

And finally it was the bridal eve and Ione was spending her last night in her girlhood home. Rather pensively, with a haunting, gentle sadness, watching all her life as it had been go marching by.

A gift came from Eddie Benz early in the afternoon; a magnificent silver tray and a pair of candle stands to match. Much too grand for the home she would have. She felt a rush of warm affection as she ran her finger along the polished edges.

Only Janey and Tom and Timmy and the Wish Book were real.

She drew in it, that night, a small, tumbled head. It looked only vaguely like Timmy.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

NOW it was morning, and Janey was coming in to kiss her. Now Tom was standing by the bed, sorrow on his ruddy face, saying "little lass" and stroking her hair.

She said, with her eyes brimming, "Father, you'll not miss your little lass too much? Oh, I couldn't bear that."

He laughed then and declared himself glad to get rid of her. "No tears now, Ione, child. You wouldn't want the lad to find a weeping bride?"

She wiped her eyes and smiled. "I've been so happy, angel Tom. I hate to leave you two."

"It's the way of life, dear. Home is in your heart; you'll take it with you. Hand it on to your children and your children's children. A sacred trust, lassie."

That lifted her thought and touched the delicate beauty of her face with a look of high purpose.

She moved about gently, out for a farewell visit to the evergreens, around to the north veranda to see the pale spikes that soon would open like little chalices filled with valley lilies.

Jenepher came to help her dress. Soon she was the center of a soft confusion, very delicious, very strange. She heard a car drive up and knew it was Alan and Spooks Hill. The car was Hill's; he was going to lend it to them for their trip, she remembered.

She heard Jenepher's voice downstairs, laughing and impatient: "No, you can't see her now, Alan; do wait, please."

She listened to Alan's protest, slipping on her new Dresden flowered dressing gown and going to stand at the railing in the hall. He ran up there when Jenepher's back was turned; locked his hands around her arms, looked at her with his eyes pouring fire into hers. "Io, sweet Io! I love you so!"

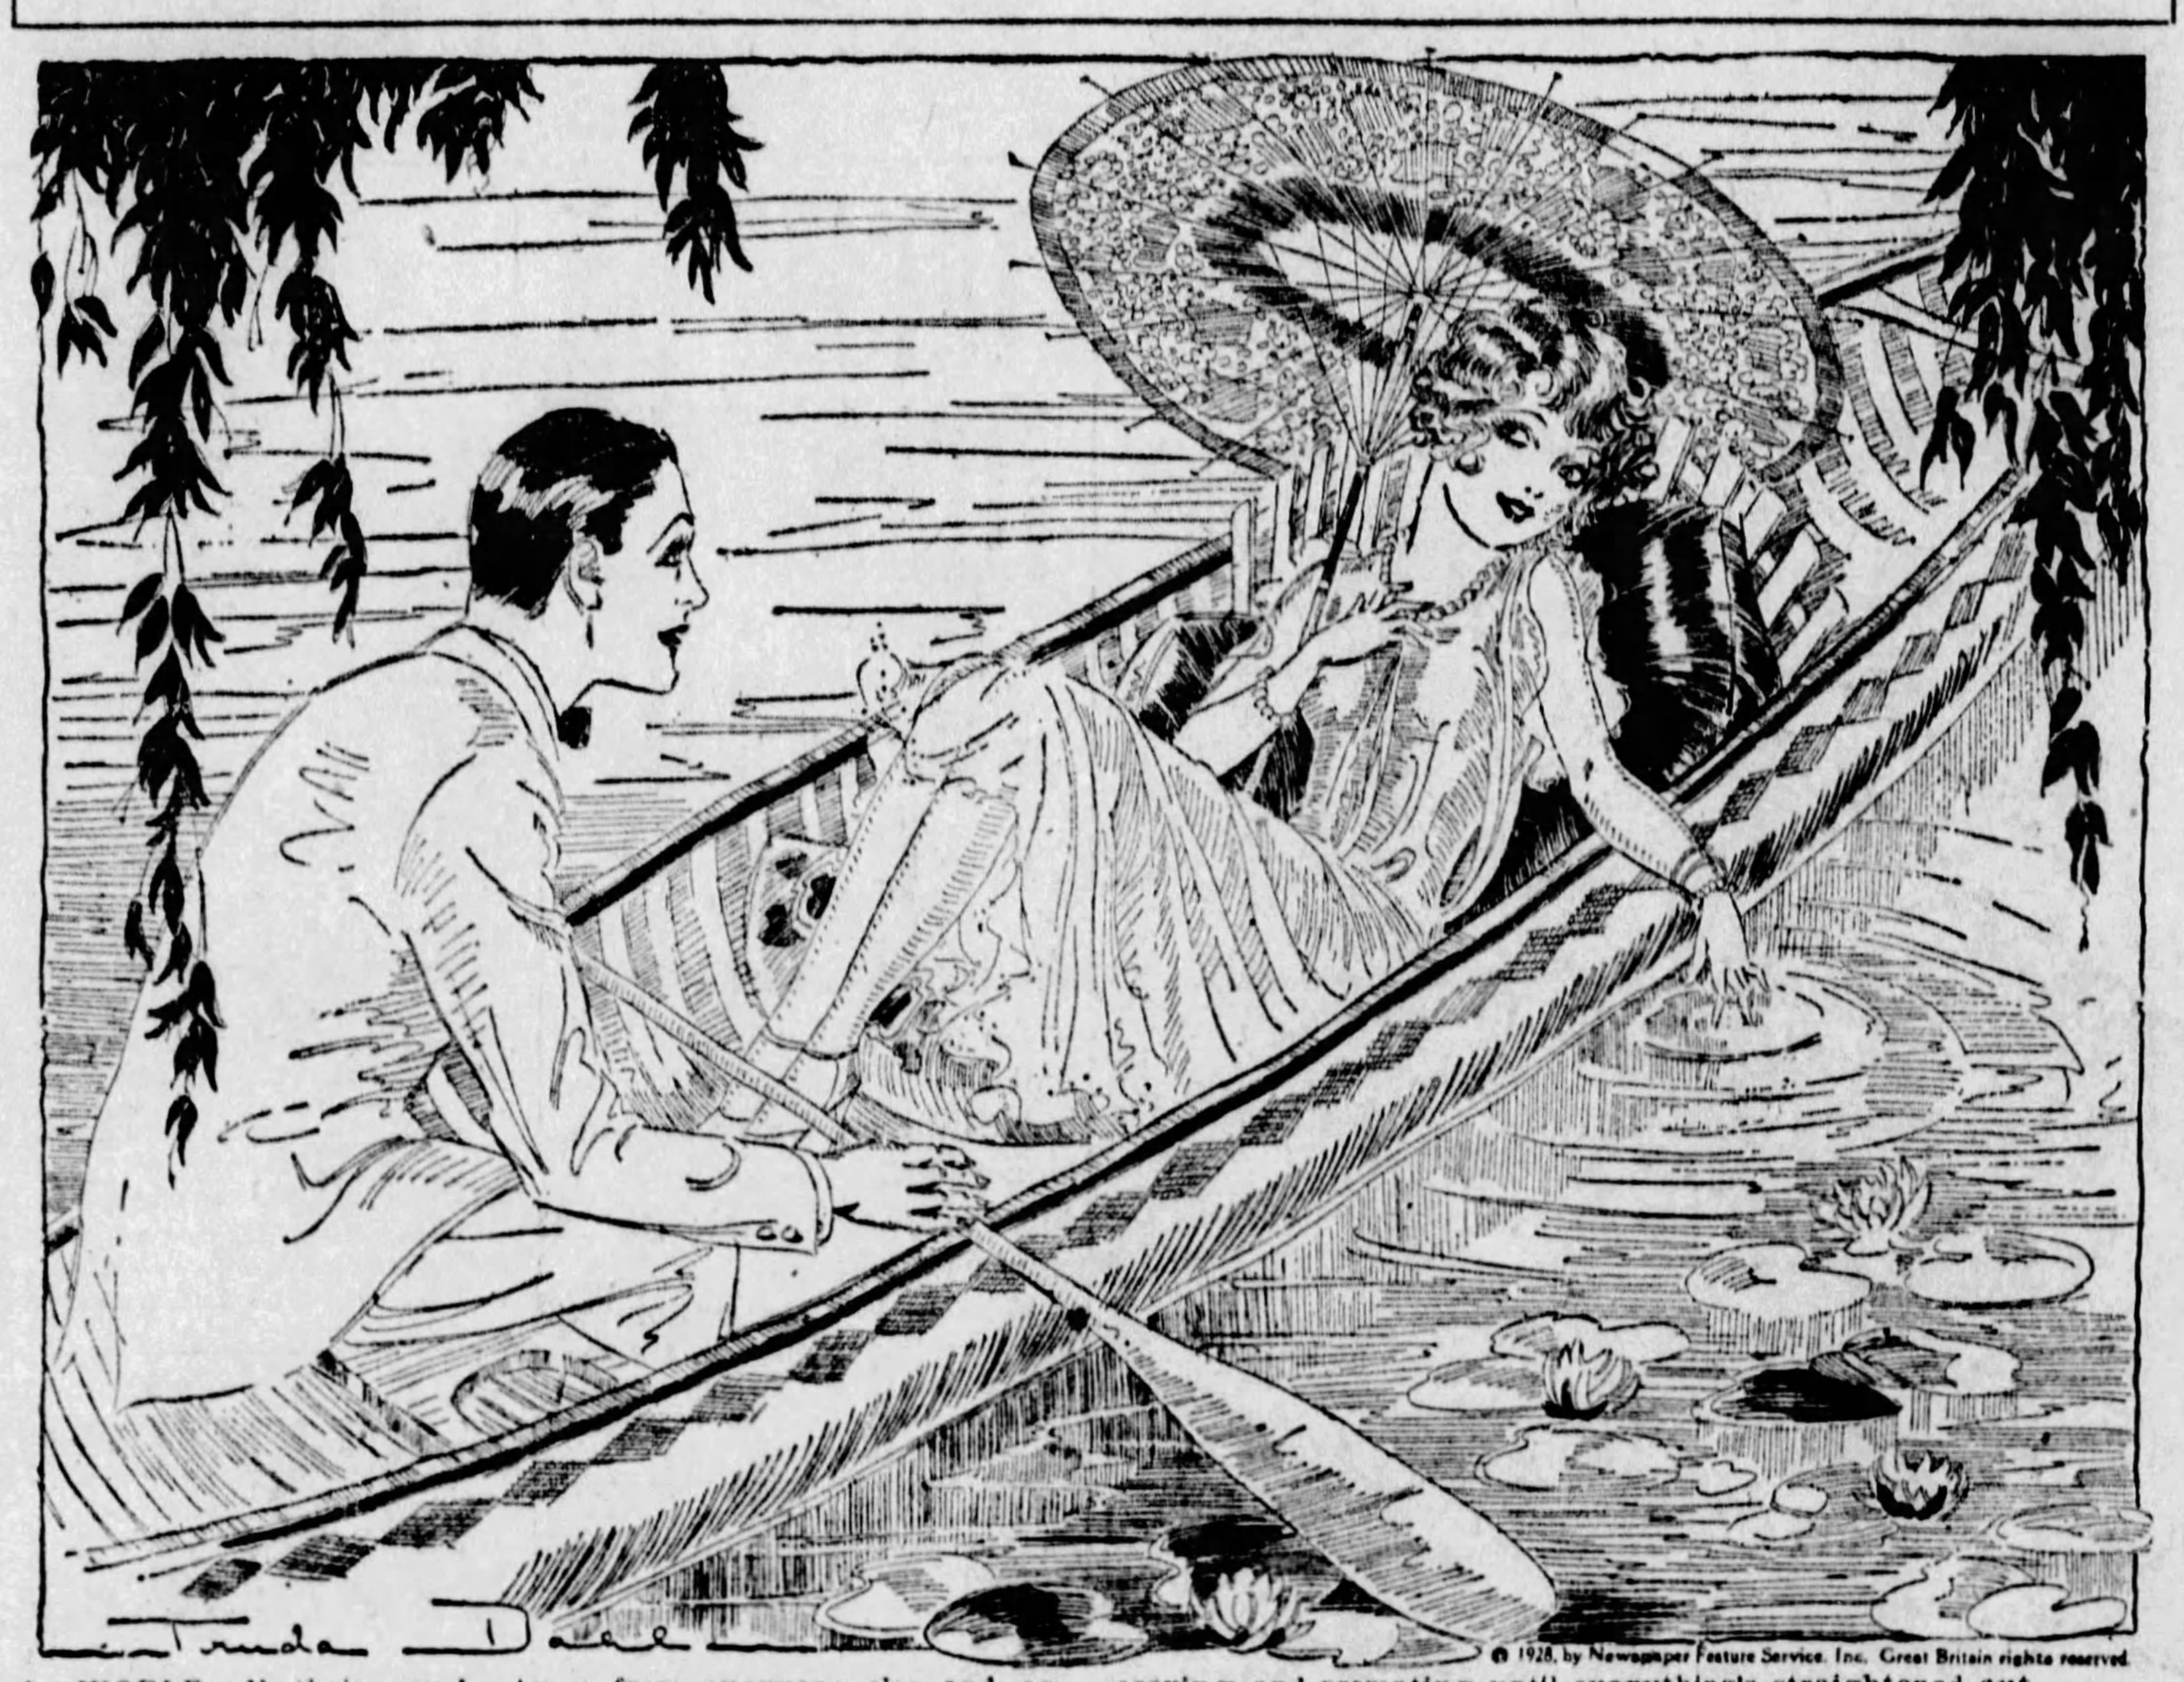
JUST TWO

By Truda Dahl



© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

A WORLD all their own! Away from everyone else and as far as they're concerned, there's no one else at all in this world of theirs. For they're two alone with Love and each other and what else matters? Nothing at all! Dan's hiding some place, for you may be sure that he's always around somewhere when two and a canoe enter the picture. For this is his very own domain. He's king! And these two subjects of his need watching over and coaxing and prompting until everything's straightened out.

They're two with one heart, one thought, one soul! For this is the mystery of love. The dearness of it, which takes two and brings them together with a single bond—the bond of a love which lasts and blazes through life.

So when we see "just two" floating down the stream, be glad that Love is finding a place in their hearts and rejoice with them.

Eleanor Leaves Her Locket at the Farmhouse

I SHALL not soon forget the hour I spent at the bedside of the woman supposed to be Eleanor Lincoln's aunt. After her recognition of the girl and her muttered word of endearment, she lasped into unconsciousness again, and two or three times before the physician arrived, I revised my optimistic opinion and shared Mrs. Ticer's fear that the woman indeed was dying. The physician and nurse arriving set us all to work waiting upon them, but kept us out of the sick-room. It was not until an hour of terrified waiting had gone by that the physician brought us the verdict that the immediate danger was over, but that the patient must not be excited by seeing anyone, and that perfect quiet must prevail in the house. He ordered a night nurse, and made no effort to minimize the seriousness of the attack, nor of the fact that a recurrence of it might end in death at any minute.

One more thing the physician did before he left. He looked keenly at Eleanor Lincoln, and then ordered her to bed, prescribing something for her which I knew was a strong sedative.

"That girl is on the verge of a nervous collapse," he said aside to me. "Get her to sleep as soon as you can."

With Mrs. Ticer's aid I drew Miss Lincoln into her own room, a beautiful big luxuriously furnished one in strong contrast to the one which her supposed aunt was occupying. She was shivering and kept her cloak wrapped closely around her.

"I am so cold," she kept saying, and with an exchange of glances which said we must bow to necessity, Mrs. Ticer and I drew her over to the bed and laid her down with her coat still wrapped around her. We removed her shoes, gave her the sedative, put a hot-water bag to her feet, and sending Mrs. Ticer back to her work, I sat beside the girl until the sedative had taken effect and she was deep in the sleep which I knew would last for several hours. Then I went downstairs and told Mrs. Ticer to call me at once if I were needed for anything. I planned to return anyway before the sedative should have worn off.

As Jim drove me into the yard, I saw the faces of my entire family at the windows and when I came into the living room I was deluged with questions. Contrary to her usual custom, however, Katie was nowhere to be seen, but when I had recounted the details of our tragic summons, and had gone back to the library to put away the work upon which Miss Lincoln and I had been working, I heard Katie's knock at the door. It was a stealthy sort of tap which my little maid uses when she has something to tell me which she wishes no one else to hear, and with a smile for her vagaries, I rose and opened the door.

She came slowly into the room, holding one hand stiffly behind her, and I wondered what domestic disaster she would illustrate theatrically with whatever she had concealed behind her. A torn garment, due to Junior's mischievous puppy, perhaps. But I knew that whatever it was, I would not be told of it at first. Katie must always lead up to a climax.

"What is it, Katie?" I asked, according to our time-honored routine. "You wished to see me?"

"I tell vorld I vant to see you," she burst out excitedly. "Missis Graham, vot I tell you? Dot Meesis Lincoln she no goot. She belong to beeg jewel gang, steal jewels all ofer world."

"What nonsense, Katie!" I said, trying to keep my patience at the girl's vagaries. "You mustn't say anything like that about anybody, especially a girl like Miss Lincoln."

"Vill you tell me den?" Katie excitedly demanded, bringing her hand slowly from behind her, "vot Missis Lincoln doing mit sometings like dees?"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, August 23

A DAY of momentous experiences, and of an entirely abrupt or sudden nature, is the augury made from the leading lunar figures. Although these sudden moves may be the result of the loss of employment or the failure of some cherished undertaking or venture, yet the brisk change presaged may whirl one into an important and quite unforeseen advantage or notable success, and may involve travel or new environment. But be careful with contracts and expenditures.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of the unexpected, with sudden changes and unforeseen ventures, possible following on the heels of loss of employment or other seeming failure. With care as to expenditures and precaution as to new contracts, the whirlwind adventure will greatly benefit.

A child born on this day may be talented, original and independent and may make its way spectacularly after defeat in employment and other ventures.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WIVES—BEFORE AND AFTER TAKING

A MAN is always more interested in a woman who is famed for having made many men miserable than in a woman who has made just one man happy.

* * *

When a man has a nagging wife and a blonde affinity, it is almost impossible to tell which is the cause and which is the effect.

* * *

Once a man can get a woman busy "reforming" him, he can shift all the moral responsibility onto her shoulders and go off and enjoy his little follies and amusements with a perfectly clear conscience.

HELEN ROWLAND

A perfect thirty-six wife may be easier on the eyes; but a perfect forty-six is likely to be easier on the nerves and slower on the trigger.

* * *

When a quick-tempered man sees the same injured expression in his stenographer's eyes that he has seen at breakfast in his wife's, he feels that "the whole world is against him."

* * *

After five or ten years of marriage, a woman realizes that trying to argue with her husband is just a wanton waste of energy, and trying to flirt with him, a woeful waste of coquetry.

* * *

If the average bride could look ahead and see what a vital part a man's palate and digestion are going to play in her life, perhaps she would not trip to the altar with that light, carefree step, and nothing in her hope chest but some pink lingerie and a can opener.

* * *

After twenty-five, a girl ceases to look forward to marriage as a glorious adventure, and begins to regard it as a deadly, serious business.

* * *

Some women live with their husbands for love, some for convenience, and some, apparently, just for spite!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator From New York

Some Ways to Ward Off Somnambulism

MANY weird tales are told of remarkable things done by sleep walkers. Murders and all sorts of terrible stories, as well as tender ones, are built around this affliction.

DR. COPELAND

The human brain is a marvelous organ. It controls the conscious acts of the body. It presides over its unconscious acts.

I have read of soldiers, so fatigued by strain and lack of rest that they actually fall asleep and continue to walk along, utterly unconscious of their movements.

It isn't difficult to understand how this can be. How many, many things we do without being conscious of our actions! Piano playing becomes a perfectly automatic performance. Typists become so expert that their nimble and capable fingers never fail to strike the correct keys.

Some persons are so constituted that they sort of dream themselves through life. Unconscious brain action seems but a short step away from the conscious control of the body movements. It is easy for such men, and especially women of this type, to translate into terms of action the vivid suggestions of their dreams.

The scientific name for sleepwalking is "somnambulism." A great authority says: "The somnambulitive state is simply an exaggeration of the state of the dream."

These are big words, but when translated into our own language it becomes plain enough.

Some dreams are more real than others.

If they are distinctly vivid, the events of the dream may be so pronounced that the dreamer, having a part in his own dream, may actually get up to act out his own portion of the performance.

Anything which lowers the vitality, anything which plays upon the nervous system, may produce such irritation and sensitiveness of the brain that it is over-responsive to physical conditions. If you get too tired, your sleep is fitful and your sleeping hours are filled with dreams. If you have a tendency to sleep-walking it will show itself then. Worry, long continued mental effort and ill health may produce just the right conditions to encourage sleep-walking.

Of course, there are some folks who appear to have inherited this uncomfortable habit. Ordinarily it is observed in young people about the time of maturity and disappears later.

Sometimes sleeping on a higher pillow may help to prevent sleep-walking. Overeating before going to bed is bad for everybody and especially for one who has this habit. Every attention must be given to avoid overwarmth in bed. Reduce the bed covering, open the window for fresh air at night, overcome constipation and correct the general health—these are good rules to follow.

If the sleepwalker is discovered on his rounds, lead him quietly and gently to his bed and make no effort to awaken him until he is safely under cover. It would only add to the nervous condition of one already overwrought to give him the shock of being awakened away off from his own room.

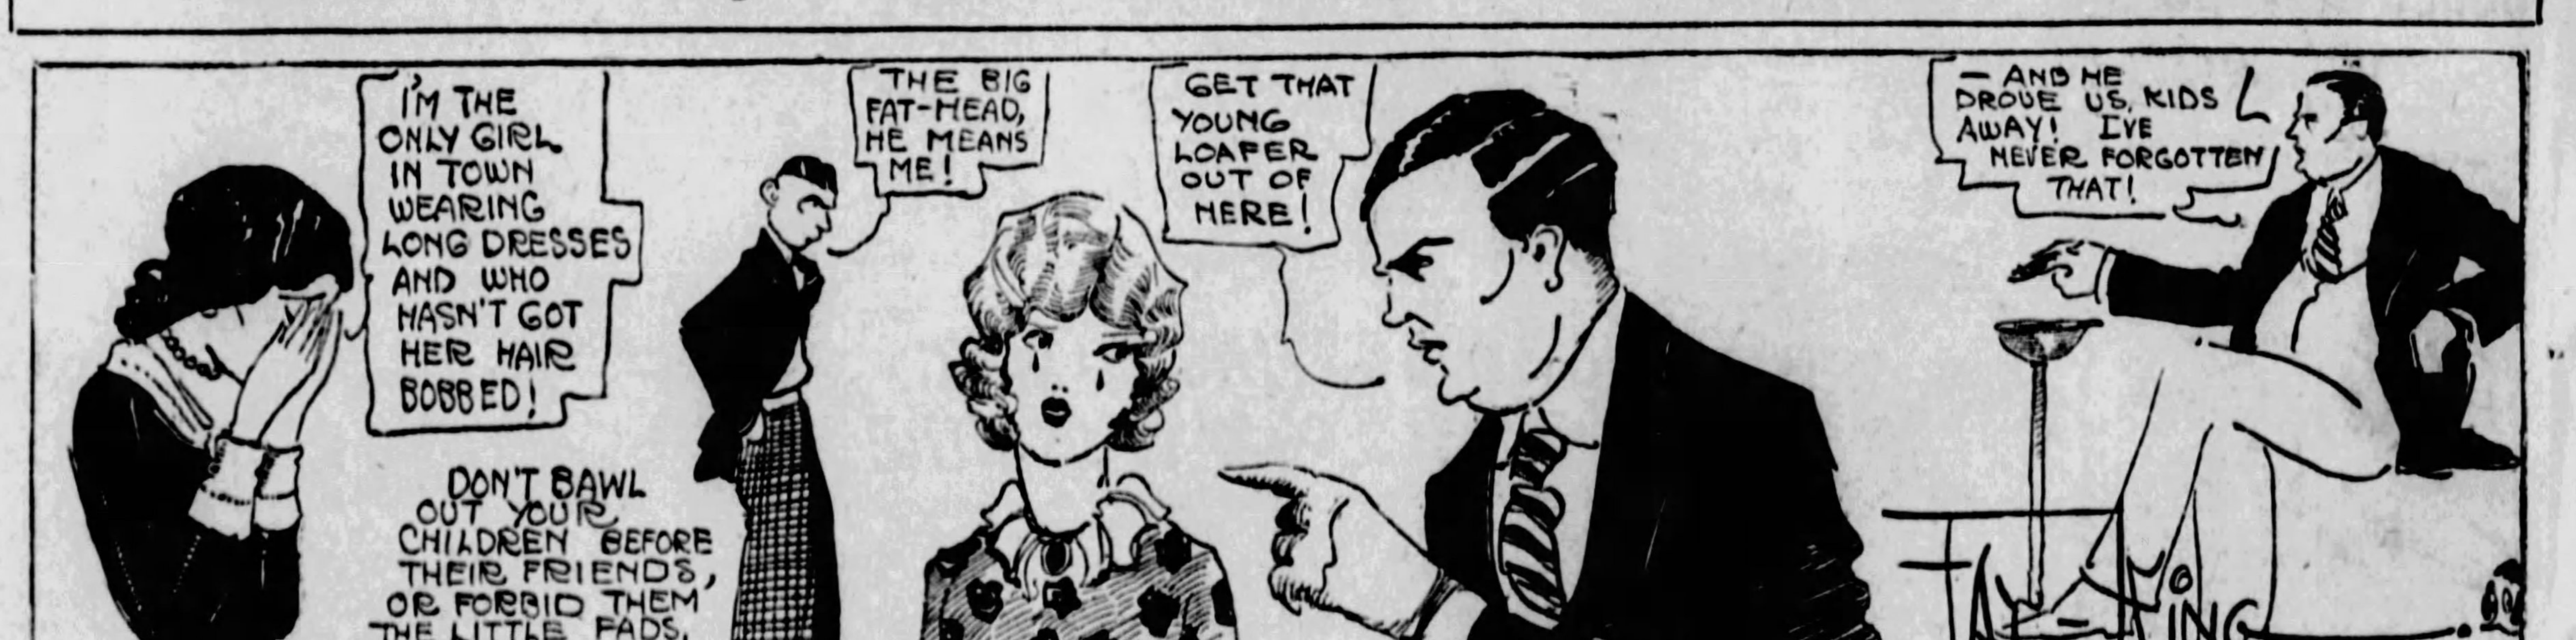
Parents Who Forget Times Are Changed Live to Regret—Fay King



I'M THE ONLY GIRL IN TOWN WEARING LONG DRESSES AND WHO HASN'T GOT HER HAIR BOBBED!
THE BIG FAT-HEAD, HE MEANS ME!
GET THAT YOUNG LOAFER OUT OF HERE!
—AND HE DROVE US, KIDS AWAY! I'VE NEVER FORGOTTEN THAT!
DON'T BAWL OUT YOUR CHILDREN BEFORE THEIR FRIENDS, OR FORBID THEM THE LITTLE FADS OF THEIR DAY!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

PARENTS who unreasonably display their authority make a two-fold mistake. They humble their children into a state of undying resentment and they make themselves utterly ridiculous.

Wise parents tactfully wait and have their say in private. If this is done with dignity and kindness, they are appreciated and obeyed.

Some parents forget that each generation has its little fads. Not to be like other young people of your time may bring unhappiness. It does not seem important to some older people, but it is heartbreaking to youngsters.

Good children of good parents will not go to extremes. But to forbid them to blend with their generation is cruel and a great mistake.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Curing Jealous Daphne

By ERIC HEATH

CHARLES HARPER was fair-minded enough to realize it was not all his wife's fault. An only child, she had been spoiled from babyhood by her wealthy and adoring parents who made it their pleasure to gratify her every whim.

But things had come to such a pass with them, that it seemed very likely now their marriage would land "on the rocks." Whenever he opposed Daphne to the slightest degree, whenever his wishes conflicted with hers, she immediately burst into tears, and threatened:

"All right, then. I'll just go home to mother! That's what I'll do. And this time, I won't come back."

Charles himself was not jealous, and he could not understand why Daphne should be afflicted with this malady. Ever since their marriage, he had given her not the slightest cause for the fits of jealous rage in which she indulged periodically, and which seemed to be becoming more and more frequent. Though he had led a gay, carefree life in his bachelor days and had been exceedingly popular with the fair sex, his marriage had changed all that; but this Daphne could not seem to comprehend. She flared whenever he even engaged in casual conversation with another woman. She finally went so far as to demand that his secretary should not have her desk in the same office with him.

"My lord!" Charles expostulated, driven to the last stages of exasperation. "You don't suppose for one instant that I could have any sentimental feeling toward that fresh, freckled-faced flapper, do you?"

"I notice she's worked for you over two years now," Daphne said icily.

"Because she knows the rudiments of English grammar, and for no other reason," he retorted.

Daphne had, for some time, been begging and coaxing for a trip to Europe.

"Everybody goes," she declared. "Why couldn't we go?"

On this issue, Charles stubbornly refused to give in. He knew such a trip, planned as Daphne would undoubtedly plan it, would cost a great deal more than he could afford.

She gasped with surprise when one day he announced that his firm wanted him to go to Paris on a business mission.

"And if you'll promise to be on your best behavior, I'll take you with me," he concluded.

Daphne whirled around the room in delight. Her most cherished dream was to come true!

Ostensibly, he was going abroad on business. But he had another plan in the back of his mind, a plan that he kept a dark secret. He knew that he and Daphne could not go on as they had been. He determined grimly that their marriage should be put on a sound basis of deep understanding or else there should be a complete and final break between them.

When, about 11 o'clock in the evening, he returned to their cabin, he found her white-faced and defiant.

"I saw you flirting outrageously with that horrid Mrs. Penbrook!" she declared. Charles shrugged.

"Don't be foolish," he said. "I did have quite a long conversation with Mrs. Penbrook. She is a charming lady, and able to talk interestingly on subjects that are not petty."

"Are you accusing me of being petty?" Daphne flared.

"If the shoe fits—" Charles began gaily. He took off his coat and began to undress.

"Very well!" Daphne's voice quivered with rage. "I'll just go home to mother! This very minute!"

As she spoke, the roll of the vessel made her lose her balance, and sent her, with a hard thump, against the wall. Charles burst into a gale of laughter.

"How will you go?" he asked. "Walk?"

Daphne bit her lip in vexation.

"Are you going to take advantage of this situation?" she demanded. "Are you going to carry on right under my very eyes, when you know I'm helpless? Is that a manly thing to do?"

"I want you to get this thing straight right now," Charles said. "This trip is not only a business trip. It's a sort of a vacation for me, as well. I intend to have it just as pleasant as possible. I intend to talk to and make friends with the people who interest me, be they men or women. No, I'm not going to 'carry on,' as you so neatly put it. I have too much dignity for that, even if you can't see it. But if you think I'm going to be a monk, or never look at another soul on this boat but you, you're mistaken. And the sooner you get used to the idea, the better."

After a long pause Daphne drew herself up proudly.

"What is the first stop this ship makes?" she asked.

"Cherbourg."

"All right. At Cherbourg I will get the first liner back to America."

"Splendid!" Charles yawned.

During the rest of the voyage Daphne maintained a stony silence. She made no acquaintances, and grew more and more miserable as she noticed that Charles was having a really glorious time. To cap the climax she became sea-sick in a storm.

As she watched him during the course of the packing as the ship neared port her curiosity overcame her sulkiness.

"I suppose Mrs. Pembrook is going to Paris, too?"

"You bet!"

"I suppose you'll have a high time going around with her there."

"I should say so! She's lived in Paris for years, and knows all the ropes. She's promised to take me to all the best places.

"When you get back home, give my warmest regards to your mother," he said. "And tell her I'm having the time of my life."

Daphne gave up trying to check her sobs.

"I—I—suppose you don't l—l—love me any more?" she managed to articulate.

"What makes you think so?"

"I suppose you'll—d—divorce me and m—m—marry Mrs. Penbrook . . ."

"I hardly think so." Charles grinned. "You see, there is a Mr. Penbrook back in New York, to whom Mrs. Penbrook is simply devoted. She told me so herself. Besides, that, she has a lot of sons and daughters and one grandchild, and they might all be upset if—"

"Gr-grandchild?" gasped Daphne.

"Why, yes. A delightful family. She's told me all about the family history."

There was a pause. Then Daphne, summoning all her courage, murmured:

"I—I suppose I'd be in the way—if I went to Paris, too?"

"Not at all," Charles said. "I'm sure Mrs. Penbrook would be glad to have you along in the party." He held his breath, expecting another flare-up at this.

But Daphne only replied meekly:

"Thanks. It's nice to know that I'm wanted."

COULD NOT DO HER WORK

Strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Berlin, N. H.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was in a family way because I was run-down and falling away every day. My food wouldn't digest and I could not do my work. I had to have a hired girl all the time. I took several medicines before I tried yours but none would help me. A friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and told me to try it as it would help me a lot. Your medicines have done me a lot of good and I cannot praise them enough. I will answer any letters that ask me what Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines have done for me."—MRS. WILLIE AMERO, 627 Burgess St., Berlin, N. H.

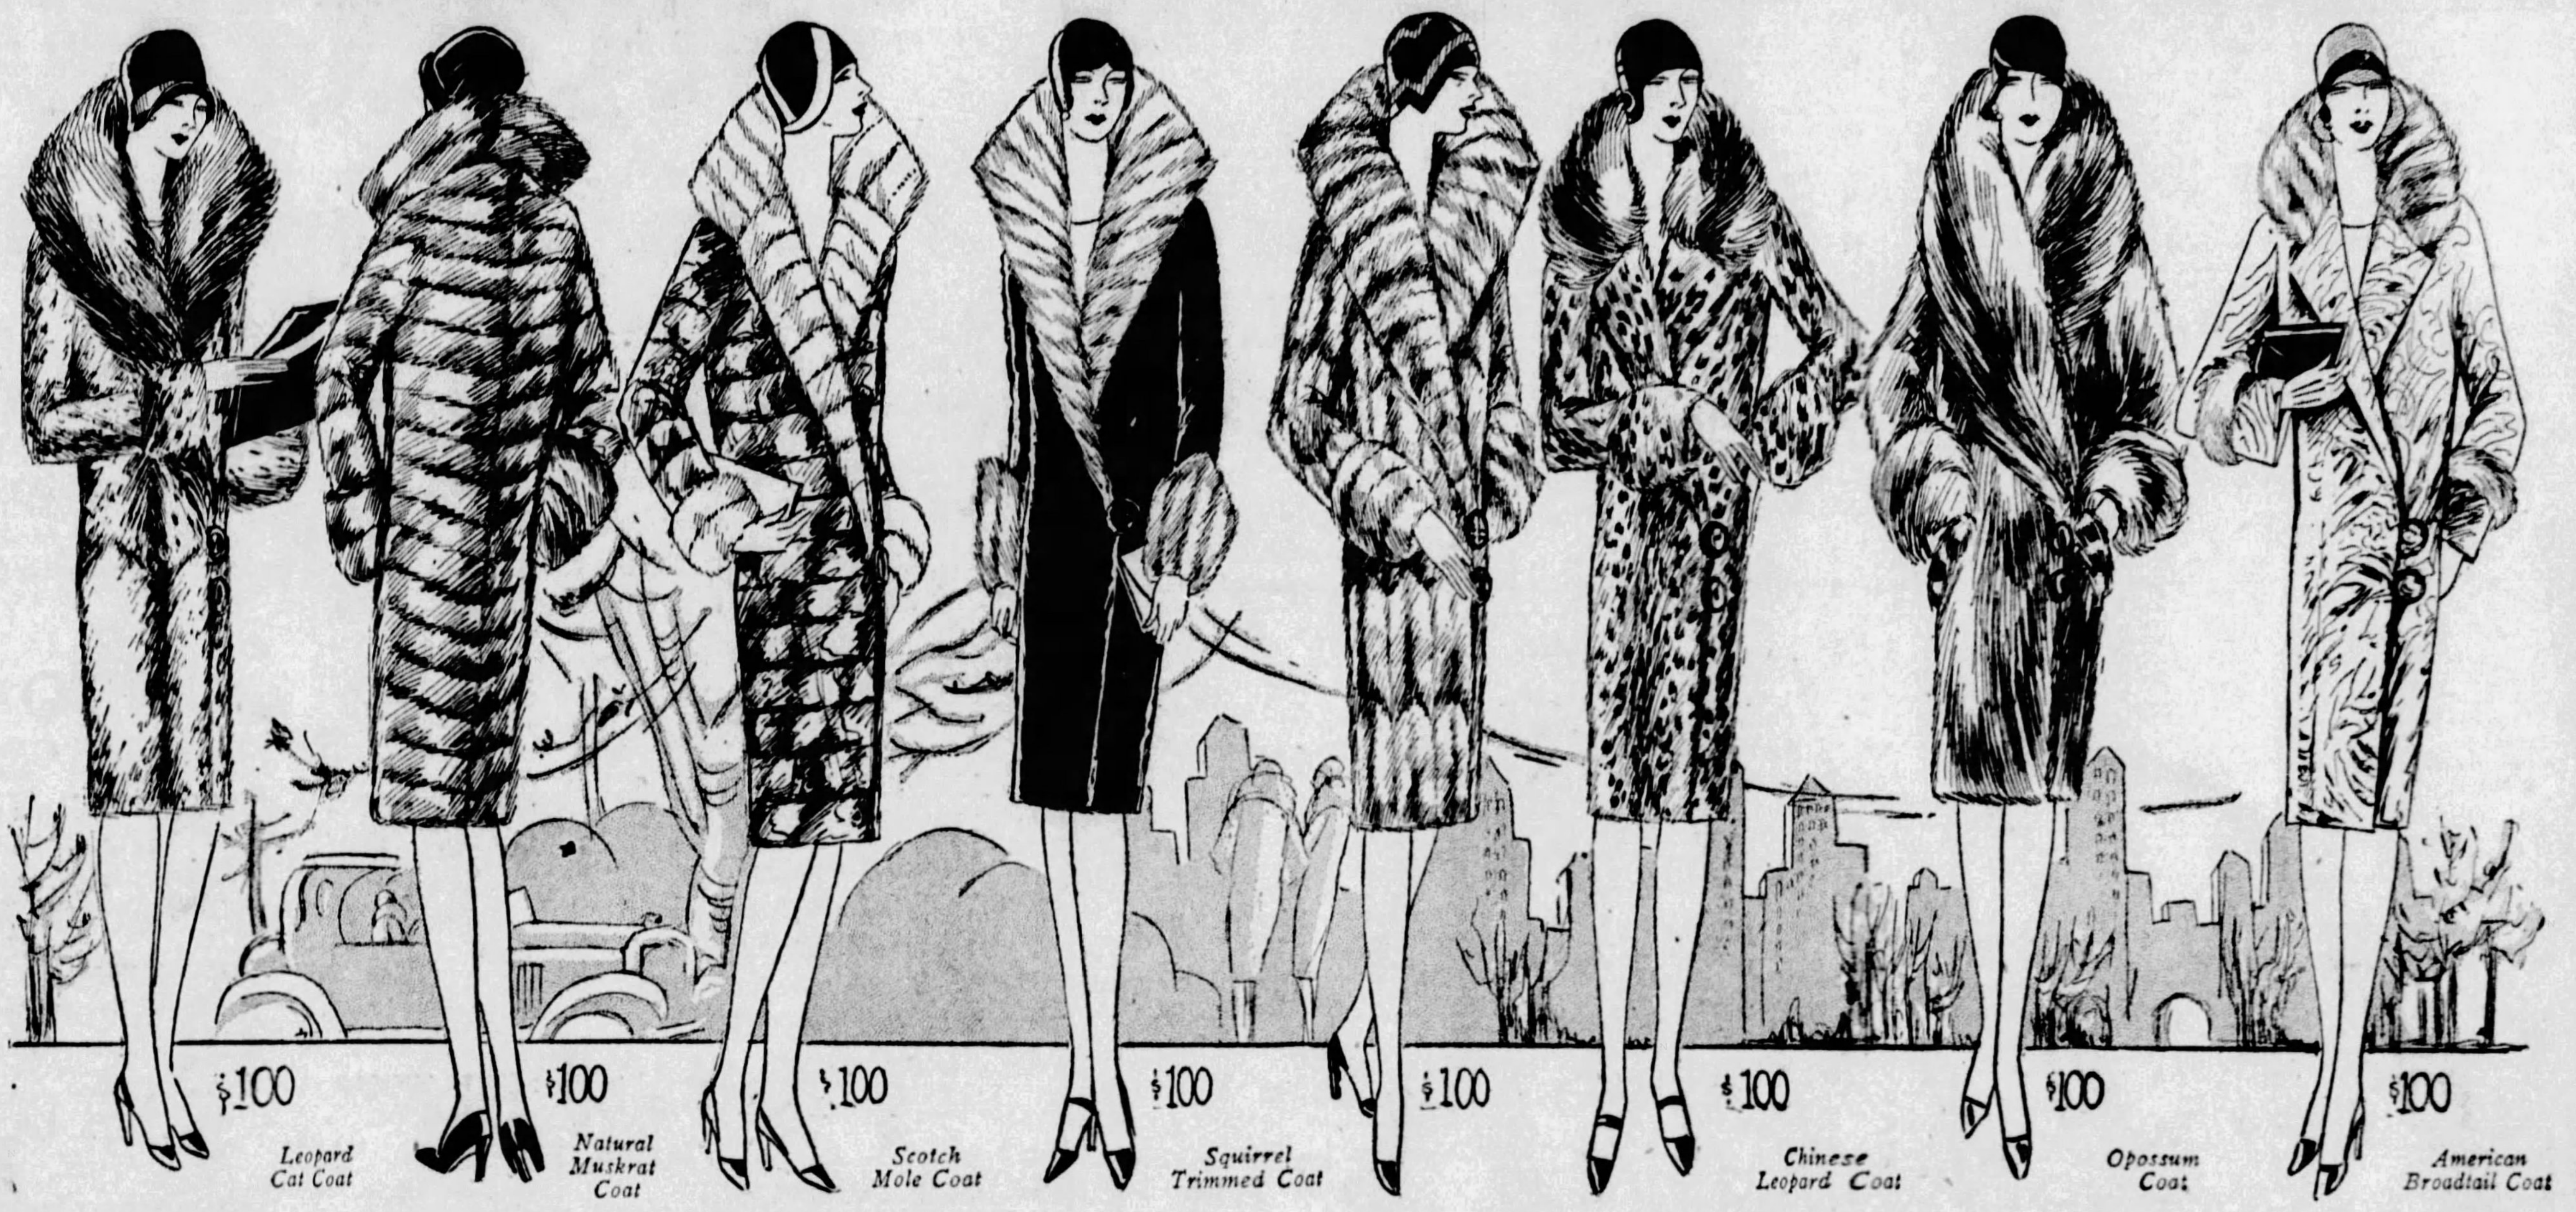
OUR GREATEST $100 SALE OF FUR COATS



412 Fine Fur Coats Contributed by 32 Different Furriers

To Be Sold at Actually Less Than Manufacturer's Cost!

Never in Our History A Sale Like This One

THERE have been many $100 Sales of Fur Coats in Pittsburgh in the last two or three years—BUT NEVER ONE LIKE THIS.

When it is all over and the Coats are gone we believe women who secure them will admit that never in their lives had they expected to buy such garments for $100.00.

> "It seems ridiculous to sell Coats of this high quality, many of them worth more than twice as much for $100." said our Fur Buyer, "but I am determined to make this day the climax of our biggest month's selling in the August Fur Sale—and a sale the Women of Pittsburgh will never forget."

If the Coats create among the women of Pittsburgh one-half the sensation they have already created in the store this sale will be the talk, not only of Pittsburgh, but of all Western Pennsylvania.

Of course it would be absolutely impossible for any store to sell fur coats of these grades for $100 without taking a loss of several thousand dollars, but we went to manufacturers with whom we do big business and asked each to let us have a few coats--even if only one or two—at a real sacrifice—just to make this wonderful sale possible. Not one refused. Then, by reducing our own profit, we are able to sell the coats at $100.00.

We Earnestly Request Our Patrons to Be Here Without Fail at 9:00 A. M.

Please phone your friends and relatives in nearby communities the news of this wonderful sale and give them the opportunity to take advantage of it.

Remember, if you want to buy one of these Coats at $100 you will have to be here tomorrow.

We want to impress upon you that these are not One Hundred Dollar Coats—but you will pay $200, yes, and even up to and over $250 for coats like these we are offering for $100. Not until you see the fur coats will you appreciate what a fur sensation this is!

mal occasions in a manner which befitted his position.

With the death of Queen Victoria, the old regime of royalty had gone. The present King (Edward VII) was already making his own personality felt, apart from his policies, in a democratic manner unknown during the past 300 years. This "new royalty" which was being ushered in unobstrusively was being reflected in the upbringing of young Prince Edward of Wales.

No longer did the nursery governess or the Royal Staff walk in awe of a Prince Royal. If any little mistakes were committed, he was reproved and took his chastisement with good grace.

The Coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra on August 9, 1902, marked a new stage in the Prince's life. As the Prince of Wales' eldest son, he was a more important personage than he had been as the great-grandchild of the Queen, and his governess now retired in favor of a tutor. The appointment of a male tutor for the young Prince was not made without the greatest deliberation and anxiety.

Educational Question

The question of a public school life for the young boy had already been suggested, but dismissed by King George on the grounds that contact with other boys might give him a wrong idea of values, for he would be brought face to face with varying degrees of flattery and obeisance.

Then again, there was a temptation to engage a tutor of the type of Baron Stockmar, the confidential adviser of Queen Victoria and mentor of Prince Albert Consort. By such an appointment "David's" parents would have been spared a great deal of worry, anxiety and work, for Baron Stockmar represented the best type of "King Maker" and had undoubtedly done his duty by his royal charges.

But the new Prince of Wales had his doubts of the efficacy of bringing up his son "to be a king" on the lines laid down by Queen Victoria. It was a courageous step to break away from tradition and appoint Mr. H. P. Hansell, who had tutored Prince Arthur of Connaught and was a former master of Rossall and Ludgrove, New Barnet, as the Prince's tutor. Mr. Hansell was given few orders as to the way in which he was to educate the young Prince, except that in view of the boy's possible career in the navy, he should be prepared for the entrance examination to Osborne Naval College.

The tutor first concentrated on grounding the Prince thoroughly in mathematics and languages with the help of M. Hua, but found that the willingness and thoroughness with which the young scholar attacked his lessons might develop a biased affection for book-learning. After earnest deliberation, and receiving the approval of his parents, Mr. Hansell commenced his task of moulding the Prince's elastic mind into the channels which he decided would best serve him in his future life.

Discipline Taught First

Naturally the young prince received his middle-aged tutor somewhat shyly, for his high spirits could not now be given the same scope. Then, too, he was not yet quick at making friends and his tutor was to take a more intimate place in his life than even the members of his own family.

Again, probably, he felt it rather irksome to submit to lessons of a less cordial nature than hitherto, when geography, for instance, had been learned with clay modeling and picture postcards.

Mr. Hansell might have made his first task the ingratiating of himself into the young prince's favor. Instead, discipline was the first lesson Mr. Hansel taught his royal charge, and the prince afterwards frankly confessed that he owed his tutor a great debt.

Had his tutor been a sycophant or a flatterer, perhaps the prince's commonsense and innate dislike of this type of person would have withstood the influence of such contact, but there is no doubt that had his tutor been unduly harsh, much of the prince's charm which endears him to everyone, would have been destroyed at its foundation in boyhood.

Mr. Hansell had some truly difficult problems with which to contend. He was torn between the temptation to make of his charge a model prince, steeped in medieval chivalry and royal tradition, or an ordinary, unassuming, healthy young man. There was always the danger that if he compromised there would result a young man without any of the individuality so necessary to a future ruler of men.

Enters Naval College

Without drawing a fine line of demarcation between Edward and Albert, whom he was also preparing for Osborne, he managed with tact and resource to keep in mind the relative positions which these two brothers would utimately fill.

The Prince's love of sport was ever to the fore and there was little danger of his developing into a bookish young man through Mr. Hansell's tutelage.

It was an entirely new innovation that demanded the young Prince should enter for his examinations in the same manner as ordinary cadets and take the same chance of failure or success. Seven years later, the late Lord Kitchener told him he would have "to learn a little more about soldiering" if he wished to cross the Channel to the Front, and the Prince did not then waste time in regrets at this refusal to enter the firing line.

Prince Edward entered Osborne Naval College, having passed his entrance examination with flying colors. The new experience of being able to rub shoulders and exchange opinions with other boys of his own age made a deep impression upon the young Prince.

Giant Series Starting Tomorrow High Spot of Local Season—Pennant Race Is Further Tightened—Jack Scott's Return—Traynor Continues Great Hitting—Reds and Pirates Right at Cubs' Heels.

THE next three days will form the high spot of the waning baseball season at Forbes Field. John McGraw's colorful pennant-seeking Giants will be here for a double-header tomorrow and single games on Friday and Saturday, and in point of both sultry action and big fan turnouts, the series is likely to go into the records as the outstanding one of the whole campaign of 1928 in this city.

John McGraw.

It will be an engagement of vital importance to both clubs, and may have a tremendous bearing upon the outcome of the heated National League pennant race, which became tighter than ever yesterday by reason of the defeats of New York, St. Louis and Chicago and the victories of Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

DONIE BUSH'S men will be offered a golden opportunity in the Giant series to improve whatever pennant chance remains for themselves. If they can toss the New York entry for three out of four they will not only pull back the McGrawites in the race, but will also improve their own outlook and position greatly.

It may sound like a tough contract, yet the Bucs got away with it when the Giants last visited Forbes Field in July, downing McGraw's outfit three times in a row after the Gothamites had captured the opening game.

That was the beginning of the Pirate drive, during which the Bushmen have won 31 of their last 43 games, a record that is all the more remarkable because injuries to Scott, Wright, Bartell and Hargreaves have forced the locals to go on the field frequently with a patched lineup.

COMPARATIVE records of the five clubs fighting for the pennant or first-division positions show clearly that Pittsburgh has been the best team in the entire league for almost seven weeks. The evidence is found in the figures covering the showings of the five outfits since the Bucs began their rush on July 7. Following are the records of the quintet since that date:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	31	12	.721
New York	25	17	.595
St. Louis	24	19	.558
Chicago	24	19	.558
Cincinnati	22	18	.550

On July 7 the Pirates were 13½ games below first place. Today only six games separate them from the league leaders.

BUSH'S climbers may encounter during the series with the Giants an old jinx in the person of Pitcher Jack Scott.

Showing the scarcity of young pitching material of quality, McGraw finds himself forced to take a chance on veteran timber for the purpose of bolstering his slab staff.

So the Giant leader has obtained Scott from Toledo in the American Association in exchange for Pitcher Bill Walker, and is depending upon a comeback by the pitcher who was considered done when the Phillies dropped him after his arm went wrong last season.

Jack Scott.

WHILE with the Giants in 1922 and 1923 Scott was one of the most persistent hoodoos on the Pirates' trail. During the two seasons he beat the locals so regularly that McGraw used him as his trump pitching card against them in every series between the Buccaneers and Giants.

BUT one day the Pirates routed the jinx in a game that will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. Before the largest crowd that had ever attended a diamond contest at Forbes Field up to that time, the Pirates, in the first game of a double-header against the McGrawites on July 30, 1923, turned threatened defeat into victory by one of the most sensational finishes ever seen on any lot. Scott had held them runless for eight innings and there appeared to be no hope for them when they went to bat in the ninth with the score 4 to 0 against them. After Carson Bigbee's out, Reb Russell tripled and scored on Pie Traynor's fly. This made the score 4 to 1, with two out and the bases empty and Scott seemingly as effective as of yore.

BUT Maranville's pop fly was allowed to drop safe in short center. Grimm walked and Schmidt and Mueller singled. Scott was dericked and Virgil Barnes went in.

The shift was unavailing, however, as Rawlings cracked a single to right, scoring Schmidt with the tying run, and amid one of the wildest sport demonstrations ever seen in Pitsburgh, Mueller came over with the winning marker on Young's wide throw to the plate.

Pie Traynor.

REMY KREMER, pitching with his old steadiness and smoothness, kept up his streak by beating Boston yesterday, and gave new promise that he is likely to maintain his improved form throughout the remainder of the season.

Kremer has finally won as many games as he has lost—12 victories and the same number of defeats being his record. It is the first time since he broke even in his first two games of the season that he has been at the .500 mark. The Frenchman has now won six straight and eight of his last nine games.

PIE TRAYNOR'S hitting continues to be one of the sensations of the National League. The Pirate captain tore off four hits yesterday. In his last seven games he has pounded the ball for 19 safeties in 30 times at bat, for an average of .633. His 19 hits have included four triples and four doubles, he has made three sacrifice hits on the side, and in the seven games he has knocked in the remarkable total of 18 runs. Pie's average for the season has risen to .340.

THE Cardinals muffed a chance to regain first place yesterday by losing to the Robins while the Giants were being beaten by the Reds. At that the Redbirds reduced New York's lead from three points to two through the trickiness of the percentage system.

Beaten for the sixth straight time by the amazing Phillies, whom they previously downed five times in a row, the Cubs barely held on to third place. They are only two points ahead

Sparky Stars in New Role

JUST FITS

Sparky Adams, regular second baseman of the Pirates, who was shifted to shortstop when both Wright and Bartell were injured, "fits" in his new position so well that Manager Bush hesitates to move him back to the middle bag.

FINDS NEW BERTH TO HIS LIKING

Adams' play at shortstop has been of a very high calibre, and it was due largely to his fine work that the Corsairs were able to maintain a winning stride when both "regular" shortstops were on the bench. On Monday Bartell was sufficiently recovered to permit his return to the lineup, and it was upon the occasion of his return that the fans learned how firmly Adams was entrenched in the shortstop position. Making a popular move, Manager Bush decided to let his new star shortstop remain in his new starring zone, and sent Bartell to Adams' regular position at second. Wright, too, is about ready to get back in harness, but with Adams plugging the short field gap in such a creditable manner, Manager Bush is in no hurry to change his infield combination.

MEDALIST ALSO IS BEATEN

By FRANCIS F. HEALY,
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Ben Stein, of Seattle, defending champion in the western amateur, went down to defeat, 3 and 1, in the first round here today at the hands of Gus Novotny, of Chicago, former University of Illinois star. Stein suffered trap trouble and overdriving greens. His putting, too, was not up to the form the champ displayed last year.

Another big upset was chalked up a few minutes later when Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, medalist, who tied the course record, was beaten by Kenny Hisert, of Chicago, 2 and 1. Hisert was two up at the turn when Johnny couldn't control his putts. Dawson's game was far from that of yesterday when he shot a 69.

Jimmy Manion, of St. Louis, eliminated A. B. Sweet, of Chicago, from the running, 5 and 3. Sweet also lost his game because of bad putting, taking three 3-putt greens in succession.

CHICK EVANS WINS

A. P. Wade, of Chicago, defeated the long-driving Phillips Finlay, of Los Angeles, 2 and 1, although the winner shot four above par for the 17 holes.

Chick Evans defeated Dick Bockenkamp, of St. Louis, 3 and 1.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., defeated Douglas Casey, Chicago, 5 and 4, by scoring 2 under par, the best golf of the first round.

John Ames, Chicago, defeated H. J. Foley, of Chicago, 2 and 1.

BRITISH CHAMP TRAILS

T. P. Perkins, British amateur champion and rated one of the most dangerous contenders, was 2 down to Ira L. Couch, of Chicago, at the turn. His fellow Britishers fared better, T. A. Torrence, captain of the British Walker Cup team, being 3 up on C. M. Fish, of Joliet, Ill., at the turn, and Capt. E. F. Storey turned 2 up on Rial Rolfe, of Chicago.

Olympic Athletes Welcomed Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—The main body of America's Olympic athletes returned today from Amsterdam aboard the liner President Roosevelt and received a noisy welcome.

While some of the athletes appeared downhearted and disappointed at the showing of their team abroad, Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur expressed the official attitude by issuing a statement in which he had high praise for the improved quality of athletic competition abroad and pointed to what he said is an unprecedented number of records broken by the American entrants to indicate the strength of this year's Olympic field.

The Olympic ship was met at Quarantine by the mayor's committee aboard the official reception boats, the Macom and Manhattan, and escorted up the bay to the accompaniment of the shrieking of sirens, tooting of whistles, the blaring of a band and blasts of water flung high into the air by a fireboat off the Battery.

Because of the rain which was falling when the vessel docked it was decided to have the city's official reception to the team immediately and at the pier, dispensing with the scheduled parade up Broadway to the city hall.

M'ALLISTER THROUGH

Bob McAllister, the veteran New York "flying cop," returned declaring he would never put on his running shoes again. McAllister lost out in the Olympic 100-meter sprint after pulling a tendon and he said it nearly broke his heart to lose. He had been training hard for two years with the Olympic race as his goal, he said.

Johnny Weissmuller, who successfully defended his Olympic 100-meter freestyle swimming championship, caused something of a sensation by announcing that he doubted whether he would participate in the next Olympics. He was asked if he would go into the movies and replied that that was "up in the air."

In the midst of the confusion of shouted welcomes, a tragic note was struck when Miss Doris O'Mara, manager of the women's swimming team, was told of the death of her father. Three years ago while competing in a swimming meet in Florida, Miss O'Mara similarily learned of the death of her mother.

John Kuck, of Wilson, Kansas, the new shot-put champion, also received bad news. He was told that his mother was seriously ill and immediately entrained for Chicago from where he intended to fly to Kansas City.

Reports that Helen Meany, fancy diver, was engaged to Johnny Weissmuller were denied by Miss Meany. She is engaged, she said, but not to Weissmuller. When she marries, Miss Meany said she will retire from the springboard.

Throughout the entire ship were to be seen wooden shoes in countless numbers. Almost every athlete carried an armful. Many of these symbols of Holland were used as autograph albums who bore the signatures of athletes of other lands.

There was no smoking among the girls aboard, but it was a different story among the men now that the arduous period of training was over.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Chicago—Frankie Genaro defeated Ernie Peters, 10 rounds; Cecil (Kid) Como defeated Sammy Ward, 6 rounds; Lou Terry defeated Johnny Borde, 6 rounds.

At New York—Joe Glick defeated Lope Tenorio, 10 rounds; Tommy Grogan won by a technical knockout over Ruby Stein, 4 rounds; Al Singer won by a technical knockout over Boris Springer, 4 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Bushy Graham knocked out California Joe Lynch, 6 rounds; Andy Mitchell knockedout Buck Walters, 7 rounds.

At Newark, N. J.—Meyer Cohen and Freddie Polo, drew 10 rounds.

Hunter Starts Move to Help Tilden

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(INS.)—Efforts to have the United States Lawn Tennis Association defer action on the charges against William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, scheduled to be tried by the executive committee of the association Friday, until after the playing season, today developed into a powerful campaign headed by Francis T. Hunter, of the Davis Cup team.

Hunter has sent a telegram to tennis clubs throughout the country asking them to appeal to the association not to act until after the active season.

GLICK BEATS TENORIO

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Joe Glick, the Williamsburg junior lightweight contender, gained a decision over Lope Tenorio, hard-punching Filipino, in a fast 10-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium last night. Glick weighed 134, Tenorio 137.

JUBILANT over their gain of a full game over the two leaders, the Pirates today were anxious for their scheduled clash with the Braves, who are due to make their farewell appearance of the season at Forbes Field.

Remy Kremer pitched the Buccos to a 6-to-2 victory over the Tribe yesterday, and the Oaklanders were confident that Ervin Brame would be able to tame the Boston boys in the third and last clash of the series. The tall righthander appears to have fully recovered from his hand injury which kept him inactive for several weeks. Ervin won his last start and in doing so he showed considerable class.

GREENFIELD TO HURL

Kent Greenfield will grace Fogarty Knoll in the interest of the Braves. The Kentuckian may find the home boys in an ultra-aggressive mood inasmuch as the Pirates think they have a fair chance to overtake the leaders.

As soon as they have disposed of their business with the Braves, the Buccos will begin to lay their plans to offset the invasion of the Giants who are due here tomorrow for two battles. The double-header with the Men of McGraw will inaugurate a four-game series that will keep the fans keyed up during the last half of the week.

Indications point to a big turnout for the dual attraction of tomorrow afternoon. The defeat of the Giants and Cardinals yesterday while the Pirates were winning has buoyed up the rooters in no small degree.

Kremer was solved quite frequently by the Tribe in yesterday's encounter, but Frenchy was very resourceful with men on the bases, which accounts for the shortage of enemy tallies as compared with the basehits credited the New Englanders.

BRANDT STRONG

Eddie Brandt was a confusing southpaw to gaze upon, yet the Freebooters were able to solve his cross-fire curves and fast balls with effective frequency. Brandt and Kremer worked the entire game.

Capt. Pie Traynor of the Pirates had another field day, the star

HARNESS RACES OPEN AT BUTLER FAIR TODAY

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 22.—Horsemen and fans in Butler are ready for the opening of the three-day racing meet over the local half-mile track in connection with the annual Butler county fair.

Four races are carded for today, four tomorrow and three on Friday of the final day of the fair.

A complete check of the entry list shows 201 horses entered in competition. A keen spirit of rivalry is shown by all horsemen and some of the finest horse flesh in the tri-state district will compete for the purses.

BROWN THIRD SACKER INJURED IN COLLISION

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Frank O'Rourke, third baseman of the St. Louis Browns, is in the Polyclinic Hospital here under observation. He was injured in a collision with Outfielder Heinie Manush in the ninth inning of the Athletics-St. Louis game at Shibe Park Monday.

An X-ray examination revealed that he had suffered no internal injuries. Physicians said he probably would be able to join the Browns in New York Friday.

JACK SHARKEY CRIPPLED

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Boston Jack Sharkey will not be able to fight for three months, and he may never again get back into his normal stride.

He is suffering from a torn internal knee ligament and has his left knee in a plaster cast. And trick knees are hard to cure.

Three fights, with total guarantees of $85,000 have been canceled. Jimmy Johnston, who holds a 10 per cent interest in the Boston boy, estimated that the accident will cost the fighter at least $150,000 in purses.

It all happened yesterday, in the last minute of the last round of his final day's boxing in preparation for the "Big Boy" Peterson bout at Boston Thursday night.

Boxing against Andy Wallace, Sharkey made a quick shift in weaving under a punch. The sudden strain tore the ligament. He had to be helped from the ring.

In agony, the fighter was rushed directly from his dressing room to a physician's office, where the cast was applied. It will be three weeks before it is removed and another three weeks before Sharkey will be allowed to attempt any sort of athletics.

The advance sale for the Thursday night fight had gone over $40,000 at prices of from $1 to $3, it was reported here last night. Sharkey was to have received 45 per cent.

For the Pierre Charles match in Detroit, August 31, which also was postponed, the Bostonian was guaranteed $20,000. He also loses a 40 per cent cut of the gate of the Roberto Roberti match slated for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on September 19.

HEENEY PLANS TO RETURN

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, still was optimistic concerning his chances of capturing the world heavyweight title as he prepared to sail for his home on the Steamer Aorangi today with his bride and three brothers.

"Sure I'll fight again," Gene Tunney's challenger said. "I don't know who it will be but I'll get in this elimination contest of Tex Rickard's."

Regarding his possibilities of winning, Heeney commented that he had beaten many good fighters and that he thought he could do it again. He said he might be back in December or sooner and might settle in New York as he has many friends there.

FIRPO IN TRAINING

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 22.—Luis Angel Firpo, former contender for the world heavyweight championship, is hard at work here preparing for a comeback that he believes will place him among the leading contenders for the title vacated by Gene Tunney. He is following a rigid training program which already has cut inches from his ponderous girth. He is down to 236 pounds at the present and expects to return to near his old fighting weight of 216 pounds in a short time.

GLICK BOOSTS STOCK

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Joe Glick, the Brooklyn tailor who narrowly missed winning the featherweight and junior lightweight titles, loomed as a leading contender for the lightweight championship today as a result of his victory over Lope Tenorio, clever Filipino, in a 10-round bout here last night. Tenorio, who holds a decision over Jimmy McLarnin, had won and lost in two previous fights with Glick.

RISKO IS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(INS.)—The New York State Athletic Commission has indefinitely suspended Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, for his failure to appear before the commission in connection with his disqualification for fouling Roberto Roberti in their bout in Brooklyn last week.

Helen Wills Shows Class

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Led by Helen Wills, Berkeley's Queen of the Courts, the California delegation is making a strong bid for a monopoly in the women's national tennis championship. With only 16 players remaining after two rounds had been completed, five Californians were still in the running, today, and most of them very much in it.

"Queen Helen," who is picked to repeat last year's triumph with almost no opposition, showed the way to her followers from the West Coast yesterday by losing only one game in her second round match with Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor of New York. Miss Wills' hard game brought the route to an end in only 22 minutes. Another Californian seems destined to elimination at the hands of Miss Wills today. In the third round she meets Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles, who defeated Anne Townsend of Philadelphia yesterday, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5.

Of the 10 Californians who started play Monday, three were defeated yesterday, while two others had gone down in the first round. Marjorie Gladman of Palo Alto, national Girls' champion, succumbed before the powerful game of Edith Cross of San Francisco, who is ranked third among the coast stars. Evelyn Parsons of Palo Alto, the second Westerner to lose, carried Penelope Anderson of Richmond, doubles partner of Miss Wills on her European invasion this spring, and seventh seeded player in the championship, to three hard sets before she was defeated, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5.

Carolyn Swartz of Berkley, another of the younger generation of Californians, made a brave but useless stand against Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, eight-time holder of the national championship, going down before her stinging drives by scores of 6-1, 6-1.

MOLLA EASY VICTOR

Carefully conserving her strength for what promises to be one of the most interesting encounters of the tournament today, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., 41-year-old veteran whose niece, Violet Doeg, was one of the two Westerners to lose in the first round, conquered another veteran Eleonora Sears of Boston, 6-1, 6-1. Today she meets Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman of Boston, who won the first of four championships in 1909, five years after Mrs. Bundy captured the title.

The fourth of the Californians who was given a place on the seeded list with Miss Wills, Miss Cross and Mrs. Bundy, Helen Jacobs of Santa Barbara, advanced to the third round at the expense of Mianne Palfrey of Boston, 6-1, 6-1.

of the Reds and but 10 ahead of Pittsburgh. The Bucs are only one game below fourth place and only a game and a half below the third hole.

THE American Three-Cushion Billiard League plans the greatest season in the history of the angle game.

Eric Hagenlacher, a former 18.2 champion, is the latest balkline star reported to be considering entering the league, and it is believed that Gus Copulos, who once represented Pitsburgh, will also be in the field this year.

Gus Copulos.

WELKER COCHRAN, prohibited from playing for money by the brokerage firm for which he is working, is expected to compete with the understanding that he is not to accept a money prize. With Hoppe, Schaefer, Hagenlacher and Cochran on one side and Layton, Copulos, Reiselt and Hall on the other, the race would be an interesting test of best balk-liners against the best three-cushion specialists in skill at the angle system.

ALTOONA ENDURANCE RACE SET FOR START

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 22.—Speculation is rife here as to the approximate mileage per hour the motorcycles will show in the long distance, which starts here at the Altoona Speedway on Saturday at 1 o'clock.

At that hour a number of high-powered two-wheelers from Altoona, Pittsburgh, Williamsport, Johnstown, Greensburg, Cleveland, Chicago and other points will start on an endurance test, which will not end until midnight on Saturday, September 8.

Speed fans are guessing as to the endurance ability of the little machines, while others are speculating as to the relative speed they will show in comparison with the automobiles which took part in the 200-mile international sweepstakes here last Sunday.

The aerial exhibition by seventeen airplanes on Saturday is also exciting the populace. The planes will rise from inside the speedway inclosure, and will do all sorts of stunts right over the speedway.

100-MILE AUTO RACE BUTLER FEATURE

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 22.—With a 50-mile, 100-lap gasoline derby as the feature attraction, a varied program of motorcycle and automobile races will be staged at the local fair grounds Labor Day afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock daylight saving time.

Five and 10-mile motorcycle contests will be the initial races on the holiday card and will precede the 10-mile stock car event that will be preliminary to winding up of the day's attraction—the 50-mile

HOMESTEADERS TO FETE STARS

Civic organizations, headed by the Homestead Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club, will pay tribute to Susan Laird and Josephine McKim, Homestead's contribution to the United States Olympic team, at a public celebration to be held in West Field, Homestead, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Misses McKim and Laird were members of the United States swimming team that competed in Amsterdam and both made a creditable showing against the world's best mermaids in the international competition and their Homestead friends have taken up a collection to present them with suitable gifts Friday night.

The two Homestead girls arrived with the United States Olympic team in ..ew York today and are expected to leave for Homestead immediately following the close of the reception scheduled for them in Gotham. Borough and county officials will take an active part in Friday's celebration.

Besides honoring the two members of the Olympic team Homestead will pay tribute to other stars of the Library team who competed in the national swimming finals in the Olympic tryouts.

BRIDGEVILLE RACES CARDED LABOR DAY

The automobile races, one of 75 miles and another of 25 miles, will feature the Labor Day program to be presented by the Keystone Recreation Corporation at the famous Bridgeville Speedway on Monday, September 3.

The races were originally scheduled to take place at the Bridgeville Speedway next Sunday afternoon, but rather than engage in a legal controversy with state and county authorities the speedway officials decided to postpone the races until Labor Day.

FORMER PHIL DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Joe Mulvey, 71, third baseman for the Phillies many years ago, was found dead of heart failure in the club locker room. He had attended a boxing show at the ball park Monday night. He was employed at the park as a watchman.

WOMEN'S EVENT CARDED

The Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania will hold a one-day tournament at the St. Clair Country Club tomorrow. It is expected a big field will play. The competition will be 18 holes medal play.

SOCCER LEAGUE CLUBS ENROLL

With five clubs posting their forfeits it seems that the Pittsburgh Central Soccer League is an assured fact this season. At a meeting held in Central Athletic Club, Craig street, the following clubs were present and posted their bonds: Harmarville, Central A. C., Union Switch, Leechburg and the Pittsburgh Soccer Club.

A second meeting of the circuit will be held Friday evening at the Central A. C., and the loop will be closed with the acceptance of another team.

N. Y. Giants Lose Ed Roush for Rest of Year

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Ed J. Roush, Giant outfielder, has been sent to St. John's Hospital in St. Louis for an operation on a torn mustle in his stomach, and will play no more baseball this season, as it will be at least three weeks before he is able to leave the hospital.

Roush, who has complained of a stomach injury for some time, was examined recently by Dr. Robert W. Hyland, of St. Louis, who declared that a muscle had been torn and that the only way it could be treated was by making an incision and sewing the torn fibre.

THE VARSITY COLUMN

by JESS M. CARVER

MR. DON SAUNDERS, of Des Moines, Ia., and points East, West and for the matter of the present, Western Pennsylvania, is married. This somewhat disconcerting news was broken last night by Mr. Saunders himself. Disconcerting because of its suddenness and because of the air of careless indifference with which it was broken.

Don is the sports publicity man at the University of Pittsburgh. He's the gent who sends in all the dope on broken legs, arms, noses, resolutions, advance and post mortem alibis, and sees to comfort of the boys in the Stadium press box when it is 50 or 60 below and the heat has all run out.

THE phone rang last evening, and when Mr. Saunders introduced himself by saying "Stay right on the line; this is not the sheriff," we expected to hear that Jock Sutherland had decided to make a fullback out of the guy who dresses up in the panther skin and essays to mimic that animal at the Pitt football games. Instead, Don stated that he was married.

After he had rung off and we'd digested this bit of news, it suddenly occurred to us that we had forgotten to ask the lady's name and possibly catch an invitation to dinner.

Don is a fine chap and deserves all the luck and best wishes in the world.

IT WILL not be out of order to look for a great football team at Penn this fall. The Red and Blue lost only five regulars from last year's eleven, which, while it was not a world beater, was certainly no slouch. Four of the ones who passed along were linemen. Al Wascolonis was the only back to graduate.

The freshman material is of high standard, both qualitatively and quantitatively. With the exception of ends, Lou Young seems to be well set.

THE Titans will open their season September 29 with Carnegie Tech here in Pittsburgh, returning for a game with the Dukes later in the year. The biggest game on the schedule will be the battle with Geneva to close the season, said game probably to decide the conference championship.

The complete schedule follows: September 26, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; October 6, Allegheny at New Wilmington; October 13, St. Francis at Johnstown; October 20, Grove City at Grove City; October 27, Theil at New Wilmington; November 3, Duquesne at Pittsburgh; November 10, Bethany at Bethany, W. Va.; November 17, Waynesburg at New Wilmington; November 24, Geneva at New Wilmington.

TRACK MANAGER AID AT W. VA.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 22.—The Athletic Department at West Virginia University, announced today that Tom Brafford, manager of the varsity track teams during the past two years, and during that time also an assistant to Art Smith, trainer and track coach, will serve in that capacity at the Jacksons Mill football training camp which will open next week.

The place of first assistant heretofore has been in the trusty hands of Ed McKee, former football manager, and capable trainer assistant. McKee, now graduated from the university, and practicing law in Wheeling, W. Va., will not be on the camp personnel this year for the first time in four years.

Brafford will become the well-known doctor, and will have as his understudy, Delbert Noel, of Hinton, who was an assistant track manager last year. The duties of Brafford will be given over to varsity men, while Noel will devote his time to the care and attention of the freshmen candidates. Coach Homer Martin knows that he will have capable men in charge of his division at the camp, and while reluctant to give up Brafford for varsity service, is fully pleased with the acquisition of Noel to his department.

PLAY FOR TITLE

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 22.—S. W. Greer, winner of last year's Butler County Club golf championship, and John H. McClung, will meet the latter part of the week for the championship of Butler county.

Local Net Stars Win

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN,
Staff Correspondent.

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., Aug. 22.—Late afternoon rain interrupted opening day hostilities in the Southern Pennsylvania tennis championships on the courts of the Bedford Springs Hotel here yesterday. The mountain shower, however, failed to arrive soon enough to stop the initial round progress of various Pittsburgh district racqueters, who appear to comprise almost half of the men's singles crew of 32.

Dave and John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. luminaries, enjoyed plain sailing, the former finding stroke after an eight weeks' layoff and downing Albert Heacox, local youth, 6-2, 6-2, and the latter picking up where he left off at Mountain Lake Park a couple of days ago and trimming Ed Fay, of Altoona, 6-0, 6-2. Sullivan, another Winged Head performer, encountered a close call in nosing out Lamb, a free-hitting Youngstown lad, who contributed enough errors to hand over a 7-5, 6-3 verdict. John Brown, rangy Latrobe driver, stepped away impressively to overwhelm J. C. Wright with the loss of but one game.

Women's singles and men's and mixed doubles are on today's card, which also calls for the advance of men's singles jousting into the semi-finals. Inasmuch as only two courts are in action, a herculean task confronts the committee in charge of running off the competition in three days. The summary:

SINGLES.

Round One—R. F. Cooper defeated Russell Kambach, 7-5, 6-1; Larry Doghi defeated Harry Henning, 6-0, 6-0; James A. Yon defeated Austin Wright, 6-2, 6-1; George Notopoulos defeated Jack Melvin, 6-1, 9-7; David O'Loughlin defeated Albert Heacox, 6-2, 6-1; J. H. Brown defeated J. C. right, 6-0, 6-1; W. J. Fay defeated A. S. Nicholson, 6-3, 6-3; P. G. Sullivan defeated H Lamb, 7-5, 6-3; H. S. Roth defeated George Lynn, 6-4, 6-4; John Larson won from Albert Daub by default; H. L. Stewart, Jr., defeated Jack Evans, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4; John O'Loughlin defeated E. J. Fay, 6-0, 6-2.

thirdsacker making four hits. Pie figured in every drive put over by his club. He opened the runmaking in the second which round he pried off with a two-bagger. Later in the inning he scored on a close action at the plate.

Traynor came through with the important singles in the fruitful drives of the fourth and fifth innings. In these two frames the Buccos annexed five rounds or enough to assure victory. Kremer pitched five runless rounds and then allowed a single tally in the sixth and another in the seventh.

Manager Hornsby of the Braves was out of action with a sprained left leg.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Politics' Effect on Business Nil as Steel Strength Increases. Penna. Surety Buys Triangle.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

SO FAR the presidential election has failed to have any noticeable effect on business.

There was a period of dullness early in the summer which was entirely seasonal. The earnings of most of the large corporations in the first half of the year indicated that business was far from bad.

In the Pittsburgh district there has been a marked increase in activity during the past two months. Prices of steel have advanced and operations are unusually great for this season of the year.

THE third quarter of this year is expected to be better from an earnings standpoint than either of the two previous quarters for most of the steel companies.

Ingot production is well over 80 per cent of capacity in this district. The sheet producers report that every industry consuming their products is doing a normally good business with the single exception of the railroad car builders.

UNLESS some unforseen developments take place the prices to be realized in the last quarter of the year will be higher than in any of the previous quarters.

The announced quotation of $2 a hundred pounds for bars, plates and shapes may not actually be sustained, but a minimum of $1.90 is virtually assured. Some contracts for shipment at $1.85 were carried over into the present quarter but orders are no longer being taken at this figure.

THE American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation has met the advance of $2 a ton in sheets announced by the independents for fourth quarter delivery. The new discount policy has also been followed by this company which will save the sheet industry large sums of money.

The steel producers have found that mere tonnage does not assure profits. They have learned their lesson from the price cutting tactics of 1927.

THE increase in steel mill activity has resulted in higher prices for scrap. Heavy melting steel has advanced $2 a ton during the past few weeks. Practically no stocks are available. One dealer was forced to refuse an offer of $17 a ton because the material could not be obtained.

Higher prices for pig iron are expected shortly. Increased operation of the steel mills has removed much of the output of their blast furnaces from the general market. The advances in scrap are also contributing to strength in pig iron.

THE Pennsylvania Surety Corporation has purchased the Triangle Automobile Insurance Company which has a capital of over $200,000. Joseph W. Ward, president of the Pennsylvania Surety Company, will become vice president and a director of the purchased organization.

THE merger will make it possible for the Pennsylvania Surety Company to write all five types of automobile insurance.

Under the law surety companies are only allowed to write collision, property damage and personal injury. Through the new subsidiary it will now be possible to write fire and theft as well.

COMPLETION of arrangements for the financing of the Peruvian development planned by the Benedum, Trees interests is expected soon. Bertrand Lee and W. R. Davies have arrived in this country. President Leguia of Peru approved the awarding of the Lee Concession on August 8. The plans include the construction of 600 miles of railway, work on which is to start on September 30. Five years will be required for the completion of the line.

The concession will be colonized by immigrants from Germany, Denmark and Southern Russia.

Talking Dollar Wheat.

Wheat was lower again today and, as usual in a declining market, extreme prices were predicted by the pessimists. There is much talk of dollar wheat in the Street. The feeling is that the short interest is becoming tremendous. But just the same the traders see no good reason for buying wheat.

Cudahy Denies Rumors.

E. A. Cudahy, Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing Company, issued the following statement today: "In view of the many extravagant statements being made in regard to the Cudahy Packing Company earnings for 1928, I wish to state that while we anticipate somewhat larger earnings than last year, there is nothing in the present outlook to warrant any increase in the dividend, an extra dividend, or any stock dividend."

Small Decrease in Carloadings.

Loading of revenue freight for week ended August 11 totaled 1,044,442 cars, according to American Railway Association. This was a decrease of 4,180 cars from the preceding week, of 5,197 cars from the corresponding week of 1927 and of 58,218 cars from the 1926 week. Gains in loadings over the preceding week were registered in: Coal 6,764 cars; grain and grain products, 2,213 cars; livestock, 761 cars; and coke, 238 cars; while there were decreases compared with the preceding week in the loading of: Miscellaneous freight, 12,095 cars; merchandise l. c. l., 761 cars; forest products, 98 cars, and ore, 1,748 cars. All districts reported decreases in the total loading of all commodities compared with the same week last year except the Allegheny, Central Western and Southwestern which showed increases, while all reported decreases compared with the same period two years ago.

Acceptance Volume Lower.

For the first time since last November the dollar acceptance business of American banks and bankers fell below $1,000,000,000 in July, Robert H. Bean, executive secretary of the American Acceptance Council announced. On July 31 the council's survey showed a total of $977,863,926 in outstanding dollar acceptances, a reduction of $48,301,369 since June 30, which was the heaviest loss for any month in the current year. Mr. Bean attributed the decline to the high credit rates that have prevailed in the American market for several weeks.

McKeesport Tin Plate.

Belief prevails in certain quarters that the heavy consumption of tin plate by the can making companies is beneficial to the position of McKeesport Tin Plate, one of the independent producers of tin plate. American Telephone.

American Telephone and Telegraph backed off a little today following yesterday's impressive advance. It was natural that the stock should respond to the magnificent showing made by the company in disposing of the $185,000,000 new issue with practically every share disposed of. The efforts made by the company in running down small stockholders and shareholders out of town to make sure they either subscribed or disposed of their rights have borne fruit and deserve the results achieved. Never before in corporate history has a company made such strenuous efforts to make its stockholders see daylight in the matter of the value of rights. Comparing the 1928 issue with that of the 1926 issue the following statistics are enlightening: Total par value of 1928 offering, $185,863,000 compared with $154,217,500; par value subscribed under single payment plan, $155,000,000 against $127,873,200; market value of a share on the closing date of subscriptions, 176 against 143¼; number of stockholders on the record date, 432,004 against 371,347; total subscriptions, 265,000 against 226,000.

Cautious Traders Take Profits.

The market started upward with a flourish again today but conservative traders regarded the situation as somewhat dangerous owing to the enthusiasm shown by some of the interests playing the up side. Selling began to make its appearance around the noon hour and many of the earlier advances were forfeited. Aside from the fact that the rise had been too abrupt yesterday, there was considerable nervousness in regard to the money situation. Call loans were at 7 per cent on the opening and there were reports of funds being withdrawn and the possibility of higher rates making their appearance later. Yesterday's rise was carried right up to the close of the market despite the fact that call money was advanced from 7 to 7½ per cent. While the profit-taking today was in fairly large volume around mid-day it did not appear that the list was in a position to be forced down drastically as the larger declines were in the stock having comparatively thin market and the speculative favorites in which the heaviest trading has been centered the past few days dropped back slowly and seemed to be meeting fair support on the recessions.

Fight Radio "Quote" Plan.

The Federal Radio Commission at Washington yesterday heard testimony from representatives of the International Quotations Company, Inc., of New York, on its application for a short wave band to transmit market reports to Europe and opposition to granting the license from the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Reuter's, Havas and Wolff News Agencies of Europe. The company, formerly known as the S. P. Radio Company, recently was denied a license for this use, the commission holding that public interest did not warrant the grant. Ormsby MacHarg, attorney for the company, asserted today that existing facilities are not adequate for carrying price quotations to interested brokers and customers abroad. That view was disputed by H. M. Heffner, general superintendent of the Western Union in charge of commercial news. Affidavits from representatives of the Chicago Board of Trade and various cotton exchanges in the South were presented on behalf of the applicant to sustain its contention that radio transmission of quotations would tend to stimulate business by stabilizing prices. Douglas Williams, American manager of Reuters, Ltd., of London, representing also the Havas Agency of France and the Wolff Agency, Germany, recommended an emphatic protest against the news service. "There is no need for such a service," he declared, "because the present requirements are fully supplied by Reuter's market service. The operation of such a service under government license would constitute unfair competition to existing services who do not enjoy that privilege." A license of this sort, he said, might lead to a situation where Europe would be flooded with mis-information to the obvious dislocation of business and to the disadvantage of American exchanges and prices. For this reason, he believed, the transmission should be by an impartial communication company, having no financial interest in the figures.

NARROW PRICE CHANGES NOTED IN GENERAL LIST

Volume of trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today showed a moderate increase over the two previous sessions of the week, but there were no important price changes in the usually active stocks.

Lone Star was in better demand but failed to break out of its current trading range around $52 a share. Turnover in Lone Star, however, was above the average of the past several days. Arkansas continued dull with quotations unchanged from yesterday. The Street is expecting a move in Lone Star before long, basing its opinion on the manner in which the stock has held between 51 and 52 for the past several weeks. This, the traders interpret as accumulation in anticipation of another advance such as has marked the progress of the stock over the past two years.

Among the miscellaneous specialties the tone was firm, but prices were only fractionally changed. Joseph Horne preferred was up a fraction on an odd-lot sale, while Suburban Electric Development was ¼ higher. McKinney Manufacturing was unchanged at 13, and Armstrong Cork was off a small fraction on early sales at 54⅝.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt regained yesterday's loss and sold at 52 for a small lot, compared with the close last night at 50. Joseph Horne common sagged off a small fraction, but only a small amount of the stock was available.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 18 to 24 points. Active months sold 25 to 32 points net higher during the first few minutes on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement, prompted by relatively firm cables and a feeling that the weekly report of the Weather Bureau might confirm recent private reports of deteriorating crop prospects.

Continued covering by near month shorts sent the price of October up to 19.20, while March advanced to 19.05. At these figures considerable realizing developed, however, and there were reactions of 10 or 12 points by the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said there had been continental buying and trade calling in the market there and prices advanced quite sharply just before the local opening.

Reactions from the opening advance were followed by rallies upon publication of the weekly report of the weather bureau. Buying sent active months 31 to 36 points net higher with December selling up to 19.10c, or into new high ground for the day. The demand soon tapered off, however, with some traders expressing the opinion that unfavorable features in the weekly report had been discounted by daily advices reaching here recently, and prices sagged off again, reacting to about yesterday's closing quotations. At midday trading was comparatively quiet with the active months showing net advances of 5 to 8 points.

POOL TRADERS PUT STOCKS HIGHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP.)—Stock prices made further recovery today under the stimulus of pool operations in a wide variety of motor, food, drug, copper, merchandising and public utility shares. Railroad shares, which had participated in the advance earlier in the week, turned dull on profit-taking. Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, the 2,000,000-share mark being crossed before the end of the third hour.

Money rates continued relatively firm, but apparently were disregarded as market factors. Call money renewed unchanged at 7 per cent and held steady at that figure throughout the early trading, despite the calling of about $15,000,000 in bank loans. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Leadership of the market was divided among Radio, General Motors and U. S. Steel, all of which changed hands in large volume. Radio ran up 6¾ points to 190¾, General Motors climbed more than 3 points to 189, and U. S. Steel common advanced to 152¾, or within 1¼ points of the year's high.

Weekly steel trade reviews again were optimistic in character, stressing the stiffening of pig iron prices. Several more favorable earnings reports by small industrial companies were published during the day.

Express shares showed extreme buoyancy, American soaring 11 points, Adams 10 and American Railways 5. Timken, Otis Elevator, Woolworth, Sears-Roebuck and Eisenlohr Tobacco sold 4 to 5 points higher. Heavy accumulation of National Cash Register, based on rapidly expanding sales of new business machines, carried that stock up to a new high at 75. Other issues to break into new high ground included American Smelting, Granby, Brockaway Motor, Mohawk Carpet, S. S. Kresge, Corn Products, United Drug and Loft.

A wave of selling during the morning carried Cudahy Packing, Commercial Solvents, St. Louis Southwestern and Montgomery Ward down 2 to 4 points and several others a point or more, but buying support was quickly supplied and they rallied with the rest of the list in the early afternoon.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Business conditions at the local wholesale produce district were rather slow today.

Demands for fruit and vegetable were dull and the quotations were about unchanged.

The butter market continued firm. Eggs and cheese were steady. No change was made in the quotations.

Poultry supplies were liberal, with the market about steady, demand fair and quotations unchanged.

Car lot supplies were moderate, a total of 451 cars being on track. Arrivals included 1 car of apples, 6 cantaloupes, 1 celery, 2 grapes, 2 lemons, 3 lettuce, 6 onions, 1 oranges, 14 peaches, 6 pears, 1 peas, 7 potatoes, 2 sweet potatoes, 2 tomatoes, 21 watermelons, 2 cucumbers, 1 blackberries and 1 cabbage.

FEDERAL AGENTS RAID CLUB AT WILMERDING

Eighteen cases of home brew and a large quantity of gin and whisky were seized by prohibition agents in a raid on a club in Middle street, Wilmerding, late yesterday. Tony Winkler, 26, from whom the agents averred they had purchased whisky previous to the raid, was arrested. Three persons, including a woman, were arrested and moonshine and home brew seized when the raiders visited a rooming house at 412 Third avenue, they said.

Town Hall Site

Civic Loyalty, Not Selfish Considerations, Should Guide Recommendations.

The County Commissioners are holding something in the nature of a town meeting this afternoon to receive suggestions from citizens who have ideas as to where the Town Hall should be located. The Commissioners are to be commended for taking this course, for it is important that the best possible advice be obtained before a site is chosen, and there is no better way of getting it than by granting a public hearing to all who have studied the subject.

The people have voted $6,000,000 of bonds to build the Town Hall. It is to be an auditorium adequate for the accommodation of the largest conventions, and suitable also for fairs, expositions and pageants. Pittsburgh has suffered sadly for want of such a hall, and the new building is going to be a potent factor in the advancement of the community's welfare.

Every loyal Pittsburgher wants the Town Hall to be as useful as it is possible to make it. At the same time there is a natural inclination to hope that one's own section of the city will get it. It is to be hoped that all selfish considerations will be put aside in recommending sites, and that only the best interests of the community as a whole will be permitted to influence suggestions.

Whatever is best for all the people of Pittsburgh is best for the people of any section of Pittsburgh. No part of the city can truly benefit if it is at the expense of another part. The motto of the Three Musketeers, "One for all, and all for one," should guide those who present their views to the Commissioners.

Admirable co-operation and civic loyalty have been shown in the selection of the air port. The same spirit should mark the choosing of the Town Hall location. Sectional rivalries and jealousies are out of place in this important business that is going to mean so much for Pittsburgh.

Community Mourns With Family of Slain Doctor

The cold-blooded murder of a young Carrick physician, Harry R. Dapper, by a stranger who lured the doctor to the lonely Lebanon church road, and then fatally shot him, creates more than the usual sympathy.

Here was an agent of mercy who, banishing what misgivings came over him when a stranger asked him to go into lonely and unfamiliar territory in the dead of night to aid a sick person, left his own home of health to meet a brutal doom. But for the pluck and courage of the doctor's father, a double murder would have been committed.

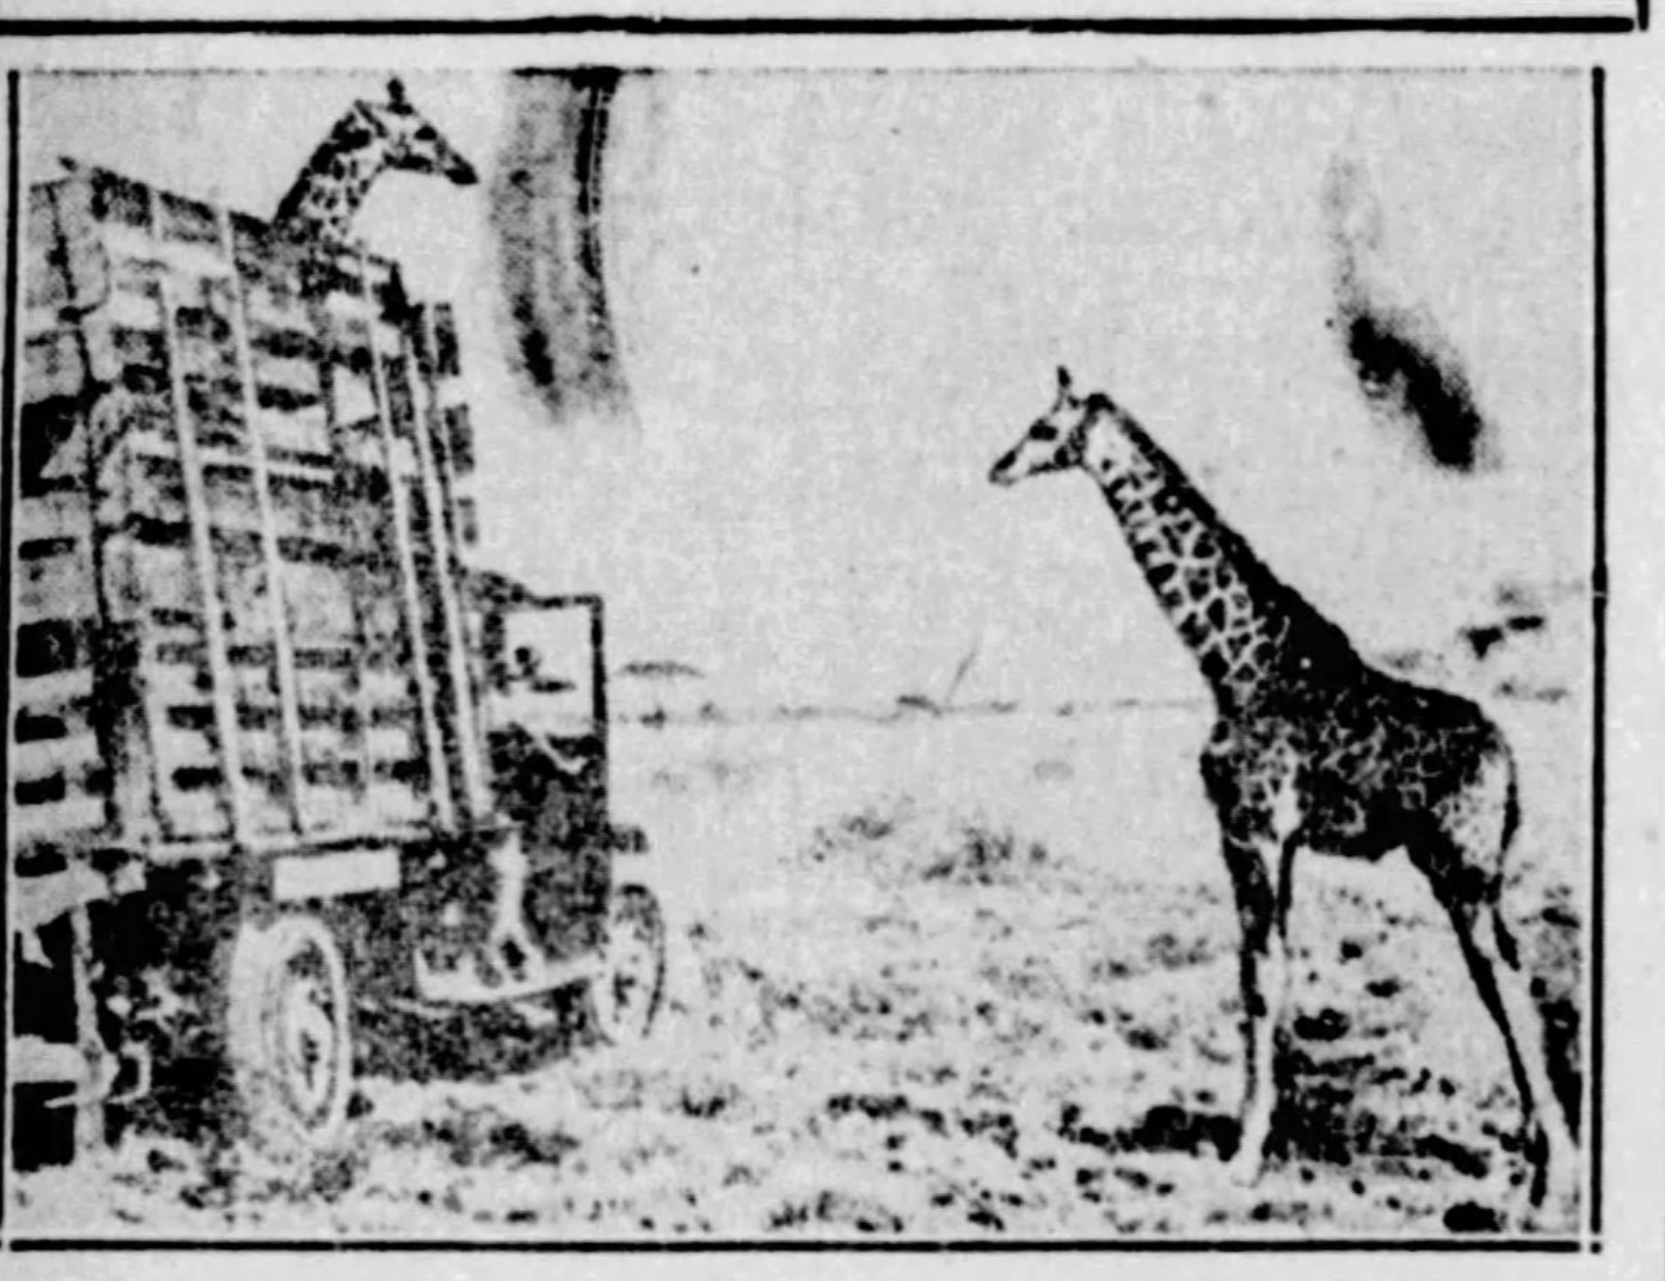
The public will ask that the police use every resource to bring this apparent madman to book, not only to repay society for a wanton waste of valuable life but to make the community feel that the cruel desperado can work no further mischief.

And while the sadness over the death of the young doctor extends far beyond the circle of relatives and friends let us contemplate a certain sublimity in a death occasioned by the humane urge to administer to the sick.

Dr. Dapper died a martyr to his profession, a hero to us all.

Poor Male Giraffe

Almost as Foolish as His Two-Legged Captors.



LURED TO HIS DOOM BY A FEMALE.

The British giraffe hunters have found a simple way of catching the male giraffe. This picture illustrates it.

A captive female is put in a big box mounted on a truck and carted out to the desert where the giraffes live.

The giraffe hunters hide and wait. Pretty soon along comes a male giraffe, galloping in his awkward way as fast as he can go, eager for fuller information about the lady giraffe in the box.

He gets the fuller information when the hunters throw a rope around his neck, lasso him and take him prisoner. Unfortunately his neck being long and he not intelligent, his neck is often broken in the struggle.

Here you see the picture, and the story is told.

Musing, as Byron did at the spot where the mountains look on Marathon and Marathon looks on the sea, you will look on these two giraffes and muse and say to yourself, "A male giraffe is about as silly as a male human being, but not quite."

They take the lady giraffe "bait" right out to where Mr. Giraffe lives, so he can't help seeing her. As he never saw a big box or an automobile before, he doesn't think much about either.

He is not as foolish as men that deliberately GO OUT OF THEIR WAY to get caught by the female of the species. They don't usually get lassoed or get their necks broken, but they often "go broke" in another way.

If male giraffes can be caught in this way, why not male coyotes, wolves and other pests? And why wouldn't chemists that manufacture synthetic perfumes manufacture artificially the exact odor of the female coyote or other animal, and soon wipe out the whole breed?

The government would have something to say about that, of course, for if you killed ALL the coyotes you might have a plague of field mice—on which coyotes largely live—and that destroy millions of acres.

Don't lose sight of the main point which is that men should never allow themselves to be as foolish as this giraffe. The advice is good, even though it won't be taken.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Telescope Problem

A CORRESPONDENT at Grand Rapids, Mich., asks for information about the limitation of the size of great telescopes that results from unsteadiness of the atmosphere. Owing to this handicap, he wonders whether there can be any other inducement to the making of giant telescopes than that afforded by their ability to bring into view very faint distant stars which ordinary telescopes cannot show at all.

Surely that alone would justify any expense in making them. There are two principal causes which limit the seeing power of a telescope. The first is the wave nature of light, which causes the image of a luminous point formed at the focus of an object-glass to be expanded into a "diffraction disk," whose diameter varies inversely as the diameter of the lens or mirror. This produces a diffuseness of the image that interferes with sharp definition when the image is overmagnified by the eyepiece.

The angular diameter of the "spurious disk" just described is determined in practice by multiplying the reciprocal of the aperture, i. e., diameter of the object-glass, measured in inches, by the arbitrary quantity of 4.5 seconds of arc, which represents an angular separation of two points. Thus, suppose the aperture of the telescope to be five inches; then to determine the diameter of the spurious disk of a star formed at the focus of that telescope, multiply 1-5 by 4-5, which gives 0.4, i. e., 9-10 of a second of arc as the diameter of the spurious disk. But if the aperture is fifteen inches the application of the same rule will give only 0.3 of a second for the diameter of the spurious disk. The diffuseness of the image of a celestial body in a telescope is greater when the diffraction disk is large than when it is small; while practical experience has shown that, whatever the size of the telescope, a magnifying power of more than 50 or 60 to the inch of aperture seldom gives good definition, i. e., sharpness and clearness of view. As far, however, as the result is affected only by the nature of light the large telescope presents sharper images and finer details than the small one, besides gathering a far greater quantity of light, which admits of the use of more magnification without darkening the image.

But there is a second cause limiting the effective size of telescopes, viz., disturbances in the atmosphere which produce continual and capricious alterations of its refractive power. These disturbances are the cause of the twinkling of the stars as seen with the naked eye. When these twinklings are magnified by the telescope they produce "bad seeing," which often causes the images of stars to dance and flicker and "explode" in bursts of light, so that clear vision becomes impossible.

The only practical method of avoiding this atmospheric difficulty is by placing telescopes on high mountains, in favorable climates, or on lofty plateaus where the air is clear and untroubled with storms and clouds. Now, a large telescope with a wide aperture, grasps a broad column of air in its field of view and the amount of disturbance concentrated at the point where the image is formed is proportionally increased. The greater the telescope, therefore, the more pressing the need of placing it where the atmospheric disturbance is least.

Reflecting telescopes which have mirrors instead of lenses to gather and focus the light are subject to the same limitations from atmospheric disturbance and from the wave nature of light, except that they have one great advantage in that their images are not blurred by the separation and confusion of colors that occur at the focus of a lens. The reflector is used mostly for astronomical photography; but the other type, the refractor, is generally better for mere seeing.

Asia to the Fore

SUMMER institute programs, like news headlines, change with the currents of curiosity.

A few years ago they were filled with discussions of the plight of Europe and of our duty to save it.

This season Europe is down and the Orient, especially China, is very much up.

There is no telling to what part of the globe the spotlight of interest will shift next. But we are never likely to have too much understanding of our problems in the Pacific.

Make Giving a Pleasure

YOU may have an aged one in your home whom you are caring for.

It may be your mother or your wife's mother or father, or an aunt.

It may seem to you that you are carrying a burden that is not yours.

If you have such an idea, very likely it is known to the person who is dependent in your family.

It is unfortunate that you have shown such a selfish face.

You certainly owe your parents the care they need.

It is a duty, but should be looked upon as a privilege.

You should be happy in the thought that you are able to give the needed assistance.

To be a dependent in old age is cross enough to bear without having it borne in upon you by ungrateful persons in the home where you stay.

How would you like to feel that help given was begrudged by the donor?

How long will it be before you may be in the same situation, and none to lift a hand to help you?

If you have not been kind to elderly people you need not expect kindness in your own time of need, for that time comes to all.

It is one of the things in life which cannot be avoided.

Rainbow Gold

A CHILD, he sought the pot of rainbow-gold,
That fabled fortune which old tales have told
Lies waiting there
Where bright hues flare,
With vivid banners up the sky unrolled.
The rain-bow gold, through all his childhood days,
Kept luring him, kept beckoning always;
But now at last,
With childhood past,
He gleans true riches from the rainbow's rays.
He knows all gold the rainbow has for man
Is in the beauty of that airy span,
Its promise bright,
Its lifting light,
The whisper of its hope since time began.

Isn't It So?

The people who really have money to burn are not the ones who burn it.

Great Passages from the Bible

The First Murder

(Genesis 4; 1-16)

AND Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the Lord.

And she again bare his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord.

And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering:

But unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen?

If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him.

And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper?

And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground.

And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand;

When thou tillest the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength; a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth.

And Cain said unto the Lord, My punishment is greater than I can bear.

Behold, thou hast driven me out this day from the face of the earth; and from thy face shall I be hid; and I shall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth; and it shall come to pass, that every one that findeth me shall slay me.

And the Lord said unto him, Therefore whosoever slayeth Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold. And the Lord set a mark upon Cain, lest any finding him should kill him.

And Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

MOST everybody is going to Europe or coming back now. Some of the ones that go for the first time have a hard time finding their way around the boat. There was a lady on one of the big ships that went to a steward and says, "Say, I don't know where my room is, and I left my key in my room."

"Do you know what deck you're on, lady?"

"No, I don't remember that either. I went to sleep last night, and then forgot about it. But say, I remember now. My window was right opposite a big stone lighthouse. You ought to know where that room is, steward."

All He Wanted

IT was with high hopes that a commercial traveler called on a certain tradesman. They had never done business together before, but a friend had given him an introduction.

"May I show you my samples?" he asked.

"Certainly," said the merchant. And from an insignificant bag the traveler produced a surprisingly large selection of articles. He pointed out their merits, and then waited.

"Well, there's only one thing I want," said the dealer, and the traveler beamed at the thought of opening a new account. He whipped out his notebook and waited expectantly.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Well," was the reply, "I want to see how you're going to get all those samples back again into that little bag."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—No city receives more encouragement for thrift than New York, and perhaps no city receives it with such a decided ho! hum! Its reckless spending is ever a source of wonder to the foreigner—especially the French, trained to watch sous as Menjou watches his mustache.

There are innumerable electric signs stressing the value of thrift and every bank window is adorned with compelling signs showing how even slight savings may be pyramided into old age independence. Many organizations have weekly lectures to expound the prudence of the idea.

There is a chain of banks that has a small electric sign, "Night Depository," in each of its fronts. The depository is a receiving cylinder into which may be pushed bags of money accompanied by the pass book of the depositor. Each depositor has a master key.

Big department stores have their private savings institutions where a percentage of employes' wages may be deposited regularly and receive a fair interest. It is almost inevitable that when a man or woman on small salary saves the first thousand dollars, thrift becomes a habit.

But New Yorkers are reluctant to make that first step. At a conference of young high salaried men recently to pool their capital and take over an almost certain successful venture it was discovered eight out of 11 did not have $500 in cash.

The percentage of salaried people taking advantage of loan schemes—some good but mostly bad—is astounding. An authority has stated 90 per cent are harrassed by debt. William Johnston, a capable writing man, once wrote an article called, "The Folly of Thrift."

It was convincing and bristling with indisputable facts. Yet magazines hesitated to publish it. The writer proved most thrifty people become inevitable suckers. That is, they save methodically, invest carefully, but eventually fall for a get-rich-quick idea and lose all.

Shoplifting in Manhattan drops off 75 per cent in summer. Winter is the season, due to the fact experts can wear heavy coats under which they may conceal their loot. The most successful shoplifters have been women. Men seldom make a success of it.

Those who have been tossed out on the Sixth avenue car tracks like a bundle of wet wash by Jack's famous "flying wedge" of waiters will be mildly interested in the fact "bouncing" has gone out. Speakeasies and night club—there's tautology for you—no longer employ bouncers. When a patron goes to sleep at a table now he is permitted to sleep it off. After years of scientific investigation and research the proprietors made the astounding discovery that a sleeper bothers no one. If a collegiate grows too noisy, he is reminded of his alma mater and generally begins to cry. Others who wax too boisterous are either laughed or shamed out of their hilarity. Women are more successful handling drunks than men—that makes the night club hostess a big asset. About all the bouncer did was to precipitate a fight that would otherwise not have taken place.

He is one of those lantern-jawed types who portray haw-haw Englishmen on the stage—you know, "You are quite right, Lady Audrey." He handles a monocle with a flourish, has the correct flair to his evening clothes and an astounding Picadilly accent. Yet until 10 years ago when he ran away with a river showboat he had never been outside of a backwoods county in Kentucky in his life.

Being Great vs. Being Able

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

When Sir James Barry opens his mouth to speak he usually says something worth hearing.

The other day at the annual Rhodes dinner at Oxford he told the graduating scholars not to be great, but rather to aim to be able.

By greatness Mr. Barry meant, of course, being famous; a man who is really great is not always famous.

"The one place," he said, "where the immortals are never seen is at the top table."

That is, conspicuity or high position or great wealth is not always synonymous with real greatness. Fortune and circumstance have often tossed a dunce into prominence and given to the muttonhead a great place. To be very able is safer. About all you get from that greatness which is prominence is that your name will be carefully sliced off and sold at Christie's. He whimsically called the graduate Brown, William K. Brown, and adds, "On my soul, Brown, I believe you would be wiser, to stop short of greatness.

"The beginning of all you are to be already lies inside you—a little speck that is to grow while you are asleep and while you are awake and that in the fullness of time is to be the making of you or destroy you. One hopes that you are leaving Oxford feeling, as the old saying has it, that red blood boils in your veins, that you hear a thousand nightingales, could eat all the elephants in Hindustan and pick your teeth with the spire of Strassbourg Cathedral. That's the spirit."

Every young person that is worth his salt aims to do great things in the world. The point is that he should aim toward the right kind of greatness. He should aim at the inner greatness, which is worth and ability, and not the outer, which is fame and great position.

Dr. Flexner spoke to the same end on the same occasion. He said:

"When in every civilized land we develop ministers, poets, scholars, musicians and artists numerous and powerful enough to outweigh the doings, sometimes good, sometimes bad, of certain diplomats, certain business men and certain journalists; when we create fellowship at a level above that at which men struggle for their own puny ends, then at last the world may with some show of justification begin to speak of itself as civilized." The scholar knows no competition. He is aiming for truth and accomplishment. The world needs not so much soldiers willing to perish in war as scholars and administrators who will renew mankind through devotion to ideals.

Notoriety is a dangerous intoxicant. One who hopes to make the best of his life should taste of it sparingly.

Right Angles

That Old Serpent

SOMEBODY sometime called the devil the old serpent and thus libeled all snakes for all time.

Moreover that reptile in Eden has put all snakes without the pale of respectability.

Hence, Your Honor and Jury, the snakes have retained me as their counsel and advocate and I wish to plead for the lives of these humble ones among the creatures of God.

And may I risk the maledictions of my honorable opponents by venturing the assertion that antipathy is born of prejudice and prejudice of ignorance?

Therefore allow me to present a few serpentine facts which are vouched for by one of America's best ophiologists. Yes, that heavy word means snake-ologist.

United States has 125 species of snakes of which the only dangerous ones are the Rattlesnake, Copperhead, Water Moccasin and the Coral Snake.

All non-venomous snakes are perfectly harmless. Even the bite of a big blacksnake is less harmful than a mosquito bite.

No snake has a stinger either in its mouth or its tail. The rattler sends poison through two fangs or long slender teeth which are hollow and operate like hypodermic needles.

Snakes do not charm their prey or swallow their own young for protection. The milk snake does not milk cows, neither does the garter snake entwine itself around milady's stocking.

Our snakes do not chase people and they never spit or throw poison at folks. They are not slimy but are cleaner than humans.

Many of our snakes are of great economic value in the destruction of rats and mice. Their exquisite beauty rivals the plumage of the birds.

Surely my scientist friend puts all snake killers on the defensive, and that includes some 200 per cent of the population.

Therefore, since snakes are harmless, beautiful, clever and useful, I plead for their lives before the bar of public opinion.

But, of course, I will furnish the shillalah if you wish to exterminate the poison brutes or those which disport themselves in the delirium tremens.
